NATIONAL CHAMPIONS 1983 - 1987 - 1989 - 1991 - 2001

HURRICANESPORTS.COM

■ THE HURRICANES HAVE WON FIVE NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIPS IN THE LAST 22 SEASONS, MORE THAN ANY OTHER COLLEGE IN THE COUNTRY

■ SINCE LARRY COKER BECAME HEAD COACH IN 2001, HE HAS THE SECOND-BEST RECORD OF ANY COACH IN COLLEGE FOOTBALL

■ MIAMI WAS THE FIRST TEAM TO PLAY IN ALL FOUR BCS BOWL GAMES, DOING SO AFTER THE 2000 TO 2003 SEASONS

■ THE HURRICANES HAVE BEEN LISTED ON THE ASSOCIATED PRESS POLL FOR 104 CONSECUTIVE WEEKS, LONGER THAN ANY OTHER COLLEGE IN THE COUNTRY

■ THE HURRICANES HAVE HAD AT LEAST ONE PLAYER SELECTED IN THE FIRST ROUND IN 12 CONSECUTIVE NFL DRAFTS, A RECORD

■ MIAMI GRADUATED ALL 21 SENIORS ON THE 2005 FOOTBALL TEAM, AND 19 OF THEM HAD GRADUATED BY THE END OF LAST SEASON, WHICH WAS THE HIGHEST TOTAL IN COLLEGE FOOTBALL

The University of Miami is one of the nation's premier private universities

UNIVERSITY OF MIAMI

The University of Miami is one of the largest, most comprehensive private research universities in the southeastern United States, with a well-earned reputation for academic excellence. More than 15,000 undergraduate and graduate students from every state and 105 nations around the world call UM home during the academic semesters. The University has grown from its main location in the city of Coral Gables to the Leonard M. Miller School of Medicine campus located in Downtown Miami, the Rosenstiel School of Marine and Atmospheric Science on Virginia Key, the John J. Koubek Center in Little Havana, the James L. Knight Center in downtown Miami, and the South and Richmond campuses in southwest Miami-Dade County. With more than 9,800 full- and part-time faculty and staff, UM is one of the largest private employers in Miami-Dade County.

Enrollment: Total enrollment for the 2005-2006 academic year was 15,674 students. Of that number, 10,132 were undergraduate students, 3,219 were graduate students, and 1,918 were professional students. During the 2004-2005 academic year, the University awarded 2,392 bachelors, 1,014 master's, 401 J.D.'s, 128 M.D.'s, 108 Ph.D.'s, and 48 other doctorates.

New Freshman Standings: Two in five new freshmen graduated in the top 5 percent of their high school class. Almost two-thirds graduated in the top 10 percent of their high school class.

International Students: The University continues to attract able students from South Florida, as well as from other parts of the nation and around the world. It was one of the country's first universities to have an organized international recruitment program. The University of Miami sends representatives worldwide to seek qualified students. Students come from 105 foreign countries, the 50 states, three territories, and the District of Columbia.

Honors Program/Honor Societies: Approximately 1,035 students participate in the Honors Program. UM has 51 academic honor societies, including Phi Beta Kappa.

Research: Research and sponsored program expenditures totaled $269.9 million (FY 05). According to the National Science Foundation, UM ranked 57th of all universities in expenditures of federal funds for research and development (FY 03).

Budget: The budget for 2005-06 was $1.5 billion, with $859 million projected for the medical campus. At the end of FY 05, the endowment for the University was $526 million.

Development: In FY 06, contributions reached $161.6 million in private cash, gifts, and grants, a 19 percent increase from last year. In January 2006, Momentum: The Campaign for the University of Miami surpassed its $1 billion goal 18 months ahead of schedule, and the institution set its sights on a new challenge: raising an additional $250 million by the end of 2007. As of June 2006, the Momentum campaign had raised $1,151,010,470 for scholarships, chairs, interdisciplinary centers, and research initiatives.

A World-Class Student Body

Enrollment at the University of Miami continues to experience tremendous growth. Applications for the freshman class during 2006-2007 reached 19,115.

The student body also has become more diverse. For fall 2005, Hispanics accounted for 26 percent and African-Americans for 9 percent, while Asian students accounted for 8 percent.

For fall 2005, women accounted for approximately 52 percent of the new freshman class, 57 percent of all undergraduates, and 49 percent of the graduate and professional students.

Education outside the traditional classroom is an important part of student life at the University of Miami. The University has 70 programs offered in 30 countries on a full academic year, semester, or summer basis as well as UM faculty-led programs during intersession, spring break, and summer.

Campuses and Schools

Coral Gables Campus: The Coral Gables campus, with its two colleges and eight schools, is located on a 230-acre tract in suburban Coral Gables.

Medical Campus: The University of Miami Leonard M. Miller School of Medicine campus consists of 45 acres within the 100-acre University of Miami/Jackson Memorial Medical Center complex. Other facilities at the medical center, in addition to Jackson Memorial Hospital, include the Miami Veterans Affairs Medical Center and two University-owned hospitals — the University of Miami Hospital and Clinics and Anne Bates Leach Eye Hospital, along with the Sylvester Comprehensive Cancer Center and Bascom Palmer Eye Institute. Bascom Palmer was ranked the number one eye hospital in the country in the 16th annual survey of "America's Best Hospitals" published in U.S. News & World Report; seven additional programs at UM/Jackson also received high rankings. Dedication of the Lois Pope LIFE Center in fall 2000 and the Batchelor Children's Research Institute in spring 2001 in the Schoninger Research Quadrangle marked major contributions to the research facilities at the medical campus. Miller School of Medicine faculty conduct more than 1,300 research projects aimed at advances in basic science and clinical care in facilities totaling more than two million square feet of owned and leased space, which is currently expanding.

Rosenstiel Campus: The Rosenstiel School of Marine and Atmospheric Science is located on an 18-acre waterfront campus on Virginia Key in Biscayne Bay.

South Campus: The south campus, located 10 miles southwest of Coral Gables, is on a 136-acre site used for conducting research and development projects.

Richmond Campus: The Richmond campus, established in 2001, is a 76-acre site near south campus. Research facilities for the Rosenstiel School's Center for Southeastern Tropical Advanced Remote Sensing (CSTARS) and Richmond Satellite Operations Center (RSOC) are located on a portion of the new campus.

Accreditation: Southern Association of Colleges and Schools; 21 professional accrediting agencies.

University Administration

Officers: Donna E. Shalala, president; Dean Colson, Esq., chairman, Board of Trustees; Thomas J. LeBlanc, executive vice president and provost.

The Colleges and Schools

The School of Architecture, founded in 1983, offers a wide range of professionally accredited undergraduate and graduate degrees with specialization in suburb and town design and computing in design. The school's faculty and students, headed by Dean Elizabeth Plater-Zyberk, have earned numerous honors and accolades for excellence in design. The school's new home, the 8,600-square-foot Jorge M. Perez Architecture Center, features a state-of-the-art lecture hall that seats 145, an exhibition gallery, and a multimedia classroom. Fall 2005 enrollment: 385.

The College of Arts and Sciences, founded in 1926, encompasses most of the disciplines within the realm of the liberal arts. The college comprises 20 academic departments, with approximately 40 distinct majors available to undergraduates. The college employs approximately 400 full-time faculty. Fall 2005 enrollment: 4,837.

The School of Business Administration, founded in 1929, is accredited by the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business. The nine departments of the school offer 26 undergraduate and graduate-level degree programs. It also is one of the first schools in the nation to offer a graduate-level management program in the Spanish language for Latin American business executives. Fall 2005 enrollment: 2,827.

The School of Communication, founded in 1985, is one of the University's nationally and internationally acclaimed schools. Major programs of study include advertising, broadcasting, communication studies, journalism, motion pictures, public relations, and visual communication. Its 80,000-square-foot facility houses a broad range of student facilities and activities, including computer labs, a studio, and a cable television station and a nationally recognized debate team. Students also work on the student-run campus newspaper and yearbook. Undergraduate and graduate enrollment for fall 2005: 1,330.

The School of Education, founded in 1929, houses the Departments of Teaching and Learning, Educational and Psychological Studies, and Exercise and Sport Sciences. Undergraduate majors and minors are available in elementary, secondary, special, and music education. There also are disciplines such as exercise physiology and Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages (TESOL). All teacher education courses are approved by the State of Florida and are accredited by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education. Fall 2005 enrollment: 803.

The College of Engineering, founded in 1947, is one of the largest schools of its kind in a private institution of higher learning. The college's most distinctive features are the interdisciplinary courses of study, the result of associations with several areas of the University; these include biomedical engineering, which involves a partnership with the Miller School of Medicine, and ocean engineering, which has a partnership with the Rosenstiel School. Fall 2005 enrollment: 1,012.

The Graduate School, founded in 1959, offers graduate degrees in all major areas, with 60 doctoral, 125 master's, and eight specialist programs. The list of accomplishments in post-baccalaureate education is extensive. The Rosenstiel School is considered among the world's top institutes for marine and atmospheric research and graduate training.

The School of Law, founded in 1928, offers graduate programs in comparative law, inter-American law, international law, ocean and coastal law, taxation, estate planning, and real estate property development. The law library is considered a leading legal research library with state-of-the-art research tools and journals. Fall 2005 enrollment: 1,283.

The Leonard M. Miller School of Medicine, founded in 1952, already has established a research enterprise that the National Institutes of Health ranks in the top 30 percent of the nation's 125 medical schools with regard to research funding awarded. The medical school's 1,000-plus full-time faculty members and an additional 500 research personnel conduct clinical and basic science research crossing all disciplines, from epidemiology and pediatrics to AIDS, psychiatry, and the neurosciences. Together with its partner, Jackson Memorial Hospital, the school comprises the second-busiest medical center in the nation. The school's 15-story, 336,000-square-foot Clinical Research Institute, designed to help translate and speed research from the laboratory to the bedside, recently opened. Fall 2005 enrollment: 994.

Phillip and Patricia Frost School of Music, founded in 1926, is one of the largest schools of its kind in a private institution and one of the most comprehensive in all of higher learning. The school offers many bachelor's and master's degree programs. The school's facilities include the Maurice Gusman Concert Hall and the L. Austin Weeks Center for Recording and Performance, which contains the Victor E. Clarke Recital Hall and the new Marta and Austin Weeks Music Library and Technology Center, among others. Fall 2005 enrollment: 795.

The School of Nursing and Health Studies, founded in 1968, houses one of the first collegiate nursing programs in South Florida. The school has an emphasis on transcultural nursing, which recognizes an individual's unique health benefits and practices. The school is a leader in the development of innovative primary care nursing practice models, which have earned national and international recognition and research. The school's new four-story, 53,000-square-foot home, the M. Christine Schwartz Center for Nursing and Health Studies, features classrooms wired for Web-based and distance learning, clinical practice labs equipped with the latest technology for patient simulations, seminar and conference rooms, and a computer laboratory. Fall 2005 enrollment: 633.

The Rosenstiel School of Marine and Atmospheric Science, founded in 1969, has grown from humble beginnings into one of the nation's leading institutions for oceanographic research and education today. The school offers curricula in applied marine physics, marine affairs, marine and atmospheric chemistry, marine biology and fisheries, marine geology and geophysics, and meteorology and physical oceanography. Fall 2005 enrollment: 211.

PRESIDENT DONNA E. SHALALA

Donna E. Shalala became the fifth President of the University of Miami on June 1, 2001. President Shalala is an accomplished scholar, teacher, and administrator whose career has been marked by a variety of leadership positions reflecting her interest in young people. She also is a big sports fan!

While attending college, she played tennis and still plays a competitive game of doubles. She also enjoys golf, skiing, and other outdoor activities.

At a typical Hurricanes football game, Shalala spends the first quarter in the stands talking with students, and then she sits in her outdoor seats for a quarter. The rest of the time is spent in the boxes on what she calls business. "I'm talking to donors, I'm trying to raise money," she said. "I look forward to the day where I can sit down and watch an entire game from beginning to end. I can usually do that only at a bowl game."

In 1987 President Shalala, a distinguished political scientist, became the first woman chancellor of a Big Ten university, the University of Wisconsin-Madison. She led what was then the nation's largest public research university. In 1992

Career Highlights

2001-2006 President, Professor of Political Science, University of Miami
 1993-2000 Secretary, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services
 1987-1993 Chancellor, Professor of Political Science, University of Wisconsin-Madison
 1980-1987 President, Hunter College of the City University of New York
 1977-1980 Assistant Secretary for Policy Development and Research, U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development
 1975-1977 Director and Treasurer of the Municipal Assistance Corporation for the City of New York
 1972-1979 Professor and Chair, Program in Politics and Education, Teachers College, Columbia University
 1970 Ph.D., Syracuse University
 1962-1964 U.S. Peace Corps Volunteer, Iran
 1962 A.B. Western College for Women

"Our challenge is to maintain the level of excellence in athletics. The road to getting there is one thing. The real test is whether you can stay up there. The genius of the Miami football program is that we've stayed up there. Lots of teams can win the national championship, but they can't maintain it. That's what we have to watch for."

— President Donna E. Shalala

Business Week magazine named her one of the top five managers in higher education, and in 2005 was named one of "America's Best Leaders" by U.S. News & World Report and the Center for Public Leadership at Harvard University's Kennedy School of Government.

President Shalala's success at Wisconsin was reflected in athletics as well. She hired a new football coach, recruiting Barry Alvarez from Notre Dame. Four years later, Wisconsin won the Big Ten football championship and represented its conference in the Rose Bowl for the first time in 30 years. President Shalala served on the first Knight Commission, a committee to review college athletics, and has served on the board of the National Collegiate Athletic Association Foundation.

In 1993, Shalala was named U.S. Secretary for Health and Human Services (HHS) and served for eight years, becoming the nation's longest-serving HHS Secretary.

In 2000 she led the official U.S. delegation to the Olympics in Sydney, Australia. At the end of her tenure as HHS Secretary, The Washington Post described her as "one of the most successful government managers of modern times."

As president of the University of Miami, President Shalala presides over one of the most successful college athletic programs in the country. The Hurricanes football program consistently ranks in the top of the polls. In 2001 the baseball team won its fourth College World Series and the football team won its fifth national championship. In 2003 the men and women's basketball team began play in a new, on-campus facility, the BankUnited Center. Other Hurricanes sports, from golf to tennis to track, have also earned national recognition.

As to the future of UM athletics, Shalala said, "We have to make sure that we have first-class facilities and coaches. We need substantial fan support for all of our sports to be able to maintain them at the highest competitive levels. All of our sports deserve strong support. We have to make sure we have enough opportunities for young women and men. Compliance will always demand our attention. We have people of great integrity. I believe our biggest challenge is not getting complacent about our programs, and investing in women's sports at the same level as men's sports."

For a sports fan like President Shalala, there is no better place to call home than the University of Miami.

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS PAUL DEE

Paul Dee has served as Director of Athletics since 1993 and has been in his position longer than any UM Athletic Director since Jack Harding, who was the first to hold that position. Prior to his appointment, Dee had served the University as its Vice President and General Counsel beginning in 1981.

During his tenure as Director of Athletics, Dee has focused the efforts of the Athletic Department on four major points of emphasis: 1) the success of its programs; 2) the development of its student-athletes, both athletically and academically; 3) the quality of its staff; and 4) the improvement of facilities. The department has achieved success in each of these areas.

Program Success

During Dee's tenure as Director of Athletics, the University of Miami has won three team national championships (baseball in 1999 and 2001, football in 2001).

In the first two years in the Atlantic Coast Conference, UM teams won four conference championships in women's indoor and outdoor track, and the women's tennis team finished No. 2 in the country in 2006. The football team has finished 9-3 both seasons, and the men's basketball program has played in the postseason both years.

"Our goal is to be successful athletically and academically. We want to compete at the highest levels and we want to see our student-athletes succeed academically. To do so, we need the continued support of our fans and friends. Please be part of our mission."

— Athletic Director Paul Dee

Prior to joining the Atlantic Coast Conference on July 1, 2004, Miami was a dominant program in the Big East Conference, winning 34 league titles between 1993 and 2004. Included in those league championships were eight football titles, eight women's tennis titles, seven men's tennis titles, six Big East women's outdoor track and field championships, two women's indoor track, and one title in men's basketball, women's basketball and men's swimming and diving.

Under Dee's supervision, the University of Miami athletic department has added full scholarship programs in women's soccer, women's volleyball and women's rowing.

Student-Athlete Success

University of Miami student-athletes have continued to achieve academically. UM student-athletes have shown consistent improvement in grade-point average and graduation rates over the last decade.

Perhaps the most successful scholar-athlete of the last decade at UM was football offensive tackle Joaquin Gonzalez, who earned the 2001 HealthSouth Draddy Award (the "Academic Heisman"), in addition to earning first-team All-America honors on the field in 2000 and 2001.

Quality of Staff

Miami coaches have been widely recognized by their peers as some of the nation's best. The current UM coaching staff has earned a combined 18 National Coach of the Year honors, including nine by diving coach Randy Ableman, four by baseball coach Jim Morris, three by football coach Larry Coker, and two by women's golf coach Lela Cannon.

Improvement and Expansion of Facilities

Since 1993, the University of Miami athletic program has seen an almost complete makeover of its athletic facilities. During that period, Dee has overseen the following facility projects:

- Construction of a new football field at Greentree Fields
- Construction of Cobb Stadium (track and soccer)
- Renovation of football locker and equipment rooms
- Renovation of the athletic training room
- Renovation of the athletic department offices
- Construction of the academic study hall facility
- Construction of the weight training facility
- Construction of the football meeting rooms
- Construction of locker rooms for track, soccer and volleyball
- Construction of the BankUnited Center for basketball
- The two-year renovation of Mark Light Field for baseball

A Commitment To A Well-Rounded Program

Dee believes intensified fundraising efforts and developing stronger interest in women's sports are vital to ensuring the future success of the Hurricanes' program.

National Influence

During his 13 years as Director of Athletics, Dee has been active in professional activities. Dee has served on several NCAA committees, including the Committee on Certification and the Management Council. He is currently a member of the Committee on Infractions.

Before Miami

Before joining the University of Miami, Dee was with the Miami law firm of Mershon, Sawyer, Johnston, Dunwoody & Cole and was a law clerk for Chief U.S. District Judge Charles Fulton in Miami. He received his bachelor of arts degree from the University of Florida in 1970 and his master's of education and juris doctor degrees with honors from the University of Miami in 1973 and 1977, respectively. Dee has a son, Terrance, who practices law in Miami.

COMPLIANCE

Dear Prospective Student-Athlete:

As a prospective student-athlete, you may have the athletic potential to play college football at the Division I-A level. If so, you probably will be exposed to an enormous amount of recruitment activities from universities across the country.

Throughout the recruitment process, coaches will reference various NCAA rules and regulations. The rules are designed for various reasons. The most important of which are to ease the pressures on prospective student-athletes and to level the playing field so that all universities operate within the same guidelines.

During the recruiting process you may have the following questions:

- When and how often can I visit an institutions campus?
- When, where and how often can a coach telephone me?
- How many times can a coach observe me in practice and/or competition?
- What academic criteria must I meet to be eligible to play Division I-A college football?

The answers to these questions and more can be obtained from the University of Miami Compliance Office or the NCAA by requesting the NCAA Guide for the College-Bound Student-Athlete. The guide may be provided to a prospective student-athlete at any time. The guide addresses issues related to Divisions I, II and III academic eligibility, financial aid, recruitment and more.

To receive a copy of the guide call the NCAA Hotline at 1-800-638-3731 or request it from the University of Miami coach who is recruiting you.

Please remember that since violations of NCAA rules during your recruitment could jeopardize your athletic eligibility, it is important for you and your parents to be informed and to ask questions throughout the recruiting process.

Best of luck and GO HURRICANES!

Sincerely,

Tony Hernandez
Associate Athletic Director for Compliance

A Division I institution may provide a recruit with the following printed materials:

- General correspondence, including letters, U.S. Postal Service postcards and institutional note cards;
- Game programs, which may not include posters, and one Student-Athlete Handbook;
- NCAA educational information;
- Pre-enrollment information subsequent to signing a National Letter of Intent with the university;
- One athletic publication (e.g., media guide or recruiting brochure);
- Official academic, admissions and student services publications published or videos produced by the institution and available to all students;
- Schedule and business cards;
- Questionnaires which may be provided prior to your junior year; and
- Camp brochures which may be provided prior to your junior year.

Office of Athletic Compliance

Tony Hernandez, Andrea Nordmann and Debbie Foley form one of the nation's most comprehensive compliance departments. They work closely with the Hurricanes athletic department to ensure full compliance with institutional, Atlantic Coast Conference and NCAA rules and regulations.

TONY HERNANDEZ, ASSOCIATE ATHLETIC DIRECTOR FOR COMPLIANCE

Tony is responsible for overseeing the day-to-day operations, along with rules interpretations and education of all coaches, administration, student-athletes, parents, etc. Tony is a University of Miami graduate and also obtained his law degree from UM. Tony can answer any questions about eligibility, amateurism, agents, disability insurance, transfer eligibility, etc.

ANDREA NORDMANN, ASSISTANT DIRECTOR OF COMPLIANCE FOR FINANCIAL AID

Andrea coordinates all aspects of compliance dealing with financial aid, awards and benefits. She is also responsible for all correspondence with sports agents and local clubs and camps/clinics programs. Andrea obtained her Master's Degree in Business Administration from Bowling Green University and is in her starting her sixth fourth year at the University of Miami. Andrea can answer questions about housing, athletics aid, outside aid awards, employment, the Special Assistance Fund, Pell Grants, etc.

DEBBIE FOLEY, COMPLIANCE ASSISTANT

Debbie assists the Associate Athletic Director for Internal Services and the Assistant Associate Athletic Director for Compliance with all administration tasks and duties as well as assisting the Athletic Academic Services Staff. Debbie is a student at the University of Miami. She is married and the mother of three children.

COMPLIANCE

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Who is a Prospective Student-Athlete (Prospect)?

You are a prospect if you have started classes for the ninth grade. Before the ninth grade, you may become a prospect if a university provides you (or your family or friends) any financial aid or other benefit that is not usually provided to prospective student-athletes.

How do I know if I'm being recruited?

A coach is recruiting you if they try to convince you directly, or through your family, to attend their school and participate in intercollegiate athletics. There are several ways to be recruited: (1) a coach may provide you with an official paid visit to view the campus, (2) a coach may arrange an in-person, off-campus meeting with you (or your family), or (3) a coach or staff member may call you (or your family) on more than one occasion for the purpose of recruitment.

Coaches and authorized institutional staff members are the only individuals who may recruit you. Representatives of athletic interests (boosters) may not call, write or make in-person contact with you anywhere for the purpose of recruiting you to a university and participating in athletics.

When can a coach contact me?

Off Campus Contact

In the sport of basketball, a coach can arrange a face-to-face meeting, off the University's campus, with you beginning the first day of classes of your senior year. In the sport of football, a coach can arrange a face-to-face meeting, off the University's campus, with you beginning July 1 after your junior year. In all other sports, a coach can arrange one face-to-face meeting, off the University's campus, with you on your high school campus during the month of April of your junior year. Then beginning July 1 after your junior year.

Telephone Calls

- In all sports other than football and basketball, a coach may call a prospect once during the month of March of the prospect's junior year in high school and then on or one time per week after July 1 following the completion of the prospect's junior year in high school. Only one phone call may be made per week to a prospect or the prospect's family.
- In the sport of football, a coach may initiate one telephone call to a prospect during the month of May of the prospect's junior year. Additional telephone calls to a prospect may not be made before September 1 of the beginning of the prospect's senior year in high school, limited to one call per week.
- In the sport of men's basketball, coaches may make one telephone call per month after June 15 of the prospect's sophomore year through July 31 of the junior year. Beginning August 1 of the senior year a coach may make two telephone calls per week. Only one call per week to a two-year or four-year college prospects.
- In the sport of women's basketball, one telephone call during the months of April and May of the prospect's junior year in high school, one telephone call between June 1 and June 20 and then one telephone call may be made to a prospect on or after June 21 of the prospect's junior year in high school. In addition, only three telephone calls to a prospect may be made during the month of July, with no more than one call per week.
- In the following circumstances unlimited calls to a prospect are permitted: (1) during the five days immediately preceding an official visit to the University of Miami, (2) on the initial date for signing the National Letter of Intent and the two days following the signing date, and (3) on the day of a coach's off-campus contact with a prospect.
- For all sports, coaches may receive telephone calls placed by a prospect at the prospect's expense at anytime, including before July 1 following the prospect's junior year in high school.

Letters

Letters and recruiting information may be sent to you starting September 1 at the beginning of your junior year in high school.

What is a Contact?

A contact is any face-to-face encounter between a prospect or the prospect's parent(s) or legal guardian and an institutional staff member or athletic representative during which any dialogue occurs in excess of an exchange of a greeting. NOTE: At the Division I level, athletic representatives (boosters) may not contact you for the purpose of recruiting.

What can a school offer me to attend their University?

You (or your family) may not receive any benefit, inducement or arrangements such as cash, clothing, cars, gifts or loans to encourage you to sign a National Letter of Intent or to attend a NCAA school.

A University may offer you a one-year scholarship that covers room and board, tuition and fees, and required course-related books, or any part of these. The institution can recommend that this aid is renewed each year, as is the general practice at the University of Miami but this renewal is not guaranteed. In addition, they can offer you quality academic and medical support, as well as the opportunity to compete for one of the nation's top programs.

What can I do during this process?

Enjoy your high school years and work hard both in the classroom and in your sport. At the beginning of your junior year you should sign up for the NCAA Clearinghouse. Your high school guidance office can provide you with the information to register.

TRADITIONS

The Hurricanes

It began in controversy. Some reports say the players on the 1927 football team held a team meeting to select Hurricanes, hoping they would sweep away opponents just as the devastating storm did on September 16, 1926. Another version holds that Miami News columnist Jack Bell asked end Porter Norris of the 1926 team what the team should be called. Told that the local dignitaries and University officials wanted to name the team for a local flora or fauna, Norris said the players wouldn't stand for it and suggested "Hurricanes" since the opening game had been postponed by such a storm. From time to time, opposition has arisen to the name that would "reinforce Miami's negative reputation as a weather-beaten community living constantly under the threat of destruction." But as one UM official rationalized in the 1960s, "Does anyone think Chicago is overrun by bears just because the town has a football team by that name?"

Orange, Green and White

UM's school colors were selected in 1926. The colors of the Florida orange tree represent UM. Orange symbolizes the fruit of the tree, green represents the leaves and white, the blossoms.

The U

In 1973, UM's Athletic Federation, the fund-raising arm of the athletic department at the time, commissioned a local public relations expert to develop a distinctive logo. The University had gone several years with a variety of helmet and uniform changes and the Federation noted that a number of major colleges have the initials UM. Miami designer Bill Bodenhamer suggested the "U" idea, which lent itself to distinctive logos for each sport as well as slogans like "U gotta believe" and "U is great."

Sebastian the Ibis

Folklore maintains that the Ibis, a symbol of knowledge found in the Everglades and Egypt, is the last sign of wildlife to take shelter before a hurricane and the first to reappear after the storm. The local marsh bird was considered UM's first unofficial mascot when the school yearbook adopted the name "Ibis" in 1926. Its popularity grew among the students during the 1950s. In 1957, San Sebastian Hall, a residence hall on campus, sponsored an Ibis entry in the homecoming celebration. The next year, student John Stormont performed at games in an Ibis costume that was glued, sewn and pinned together and was the forerunner of today's bird. Through the years, the Ibis has become one of the most recognizable college mascots in the United States.

The "Smoke"

The traditional Hurricane "smoke" entrance in the Orange Bowl began in the 1950s. In an attempt to increase fan interest, UM transportation director Bob Nalette came up with the idea of using fire extinguishers to produce the now-famous smoke that the Hurricanes run through as they enter the field. In his spare time almost 50 years ago, Nalette welded the pipe together that even today billows smoke from the top of the Hurricanes' entrance tunnel. The original setup included flashing lights, two large hurricane flags and a tape of a hurricane being blasted over the loud speaker. The flags and lights are now gone but the smoke and sound track still remain.

Cheerleaders

The University of Miami cheerleaders are the catalyst for school spirit. Along with cheering at both home and away athletic contests, the squads are a strong public relations arm for the University. Active in community service and charitable projects, the cheerleaders are a great source of pride for the University and the City of Miami. The University of Miami has two squads the Co-Ed and All Girl Squads. The Co-Ed squad is under the direction of coaches Danny Reynolds and Nichole Stimson, and the co-ed cheerleaders are consistently rated among the nation's top squads. The All-Girl Squad is under the direction of Beverly Perez. This squad regularly competes at the National Universal Cheerleaders Association college competition. The Co-Ed team is captained by Lauren (Tampa), Valerie (Miami) and Will (Nashville).

Sunsations

Now in their 20th year of entertaining fans, the University of Miami Sunsations dance team is a squad of enthusiastic and talented performers. Their reputation for excellence has grown both locally and nationally. The Sunsations, coached by former member Kristine Stephenson, perform at many charitable and community service events in addition to Hurricane football and basketball games.

Marching Band

The University of Miami "Band of the Hour", named in 1948 after a Henry Fillmore march, Man of the Hour, has existed in one form or another since 1928 (79 years!). Along with its commitment to musical and artistic excellence, the "Band of the Hour" has maintained a long tradition of service to the University. The University of Miami "Band of the Hour" is the largest and most spirited student organization on the UM campus and draws its membership from the entire student body, representing every state and most majors.

Along with the activities related to Hurricane football, including pep rallies, parades, home games in the historic Orange Bowl, and regular television appearances, the "Band of the Hour" has performed in numerous national conventions, national television variety shows, three major motion pictures, promotional recordings of new band music and a national television commercial. The "Band of the Hour" presently has its newest CD, "The Eye of the Storm", available in national distribution. In addition, the Band has served three times as host band for the American Bandmasters Association, a distinction held by no other college band.

The "Band of the Hour" has performed at the 1987, 1994 and 2003 Fiesta Bowls; the 1989, 1992, 1995 and 2004 Orange Bowls; the 1990, 1993 and 2001 Sugar Bowls; the 1991 Cotton Bowl; the 2002 Rose Bowl; the 2004, and 2005 Peach Bowl. After its founding by Walter Schaffer, the band has had six directors in its storied history: Fred McCall, William Russell, Michael Mann, Michael Dressman, C. David Ragsdale (Interim Director), and Phillip Clements.

The 2006-2007 "Band of the Hour" is under the direction of Professor Phillip Clements, and is led onto the field by band captain Emily Widrick. In its 79th year of existence, the "Band of the Hour" strives to renew tradition through unity, with enthusiasm, pride and determination for visual and musical excellence. The "Band of the Hour" is a family united under one common goal: The Eye of Hurricane Spirit! For more information about the "Band of the Hour" or to purchase recordings of the band, please visit our website www.music.miami.edu/band.

Four Fingers

At the beginning of the fourth quarter at every home football game, Miami players and fans can be seen holding up four fingers. The sign indicates their belief that a game is won in that crucial final period. True Hurricane fans and players use the sign as a symbol they own that last quarter.

Lil' Joe and Touchdown Tommy

"Lil' Joe" was a forerunner to the present "Touchdown Tommy" cannon fired by the Sigma Chi fraternity after each UM score.

War Canoe Trophy

An authentic Seminole war canoe, hand carved and painted by Seminole Indians from a 200-year-old Everglades cypress tree felled by lightning, was donated on behalf of the city of Hollywood in 1955 as a trophy for the annual football game between Miami and Florida. The canoe symbolized the magnificent spirit and fighting determination traditional of the independent Florida Seminole tribe that was displayed annually between the Hurricanes and Gators. Today the canoe is on display in UM's Sports Hall of Fame on campus.

HEAD COACH

In the 25 years that the University of Miami has been a dominant force in college football, no Hurricanes head coach has won more games in his first five seasons than Larry Coker. Presiding over one of the most successful five-year stretches in Miami football history, Coker quickly earned a reputation as one of college football's top coaches. He is now in his sixth season as head football coach at the University of Miami.

Coker has led the Hurricanes to one national championship, two Bowl Championship Series title game appearances, three BCS bowl game appearances, five bowl games, three consecutive Big East Conference championships, and a remarkable 53-9 record in five seasons as the Hurricanes head coach. Simply put, Coker has met the challenge of exceedingly high expectations.

The Hurricanes have built a 53-9 record in five seasons with Coker at the helm, one of the most successful starts of any coach in the history of college football. Along the way, Miami notched its fifth football national title in 2001 and made it back to the championship game in 2002, in addition to making its fourth consecutive BCS bowl appearance in 2003. In the school's first two years in the Atlantic Coast Conference, the Hurricanes have gone 9-3 both seasons. That's good, but not good enough for Coker and the University of Miami.

So when things weren't going in the direction he wanted, Coker was not afraid to make changes. This season he has six new coaches on his staff -- three of them are former college head coaches, one of them was an assistant head coach at a major university, and another is a former NFL offensive coordinator. Coker feels his new coaching staff will bring the Hurricanes back to preeminence in college football.

Coker has distinguished himself by bringing his own brand of class, dignity and integrity to the Miami football program. All the while, his Hurricanes have continued to win at the highest level, while displaying a grace and composure that any college program would be proud of.

In 2001, Coker not only took the Hurricanes all the way to an undefeated season and a national championship, he led the team to the most dominant season in Miami's rich football history. His 2002 team went unbeaten until a controversial and dramatic loss in the Fiesta Bowl. Coker's 2003 Hurricanes racked up a fourth straight Big East Conference crown and became college football's first team to make appearances in all four BCS bowl games in successive years.

More than his on-field success, it's the way Coker's teams have handled the trials and tribulations of college football that made obvious what he and his players always knew: Coker not only was the right man for the job, he was the only man for the job. Popular with his players, with fans and with the media, Coker also has the toughness to lead the Miami football program. And this year he has an edge, and his players see it and feel it.

Miami's success over the last five years not only earned the school's players and coaches numerous honors and awards, it earned Coker The 2001 Paul "Bear" Bryant National Coach of the Year Award, the 2001 AFCA Coach of the Year Award (shared with Maryland's Ralph Friedgen), the 2002 National Coach of the Year honor by American Football Monthly and numerous other honors. In 2005, he was voted by his peers as Region 1 Coach of the Year by the American Football Coaches Association (which includes the ACC, Big East and several other Eastern schools).

Coker's proudest memory of his tenure to this point may have come at the end of the 2002 Rose Bowl, when a game official told him: "It was so enjoyable to work with your players. They're a class act. They're really national champions."

"That carries over to a lot more in life than just winning a championship," Coker said later. Coker's brand of leadership speaks to the kind of man he is: calm, easy going and secure in who he is and what he is doing. True to his beliefs. Consistent. Perhaps that approach was best summed

"National championships come from hard work in the spring and summer. To get back to where we want to be, at the national championship level, we needed to have a great offseason program and a great summer, and we had that. We're not far away. We're very close. We made some changes this year. The focus and the effort is there, and we're back on track. The swagger is back, and we need that to be successful."

— Head coach Larry Coker

up by Coker himself to a reporter just a few days before Miami's 2002 Rose Bowl victory over Nebraska. When asked what his pregame pep talk would consist of, he answered: "Just let's be who we are. Don't try and play outside the lines. Let's be as good as we can be. But don't try to be more than we are."

No longer college football's "nouveau riche", the University of Miami football program is now an established power whose players and coaches expect excellence and find little need to boast about it. Coker has been the right man at the right time for Miami.

Coker is proud of his team's successes on the field, but he is equally proud of how well his players have fared academically. The 2005 team graduated all 21 players, a total higher than any other college in the country. The Hurricanes' 2004 graduation rate was 84 percent, far higher than the national average of 58 percent. In addition, Miami has received recognition by the American Football Coaches Association (AFCA) as one of an elite group of schools to exceed a 70 percent graduation rate among its football student-athletes in nine of the past 14 years.

Miami's quest for supremacy in college football was put in the able hands of one of the nation's most accomplished assistant coaches when Coker was named the school's 19th head football coach on February 3, 2001. Coker's hiring marked the first time in 25 years that the University of Miami looked to one of its own when finding a football coach.

Coker's hiring also signaled how far the Miami program had come. The values of the program reflect Coker's values. Integrity. Consistency. Hard work. Poise. Class. Dignity. Those are values instilled in Coker at a young age. They're values he still lives by. And they're values he instills in his players and expects his coaches and staff to live by.

Coker and the Hurricanes want to set a new standard of football excellence for a program that has produced a phenomenal level of success over the past 20-plus years. After a debut season in which he led the Hurricanes to the top of the college football world, Coker was not satisfied to rest on those accomplishments. His second edition of Hurricanes achieved another perfect regular season before falling just short of a second straight national title.

Coker's easy-going personality belies a strong competitive drive. He instills that drive in his team. For Coker, it's about the journey, not just the destination. It's not just winning, but winning the right way. Coker wants his Hurricanes to be remembered by their accomplishments as well as by their classy demeanor.

Coker understands the meaning of being true to yourself. That's why, along the dizzying journey to a national title, he didn't try to change who he was. He didn't put on a new persona when he was named head coach. And he didn't try out a new presence once he had led Miami to another national championship.

His ascension to the head coaching job at Miami has been described as "an overnight success story 30 years in the making." Because of that, Coker truly knows the value of the journey, as well as how to appreciate reaching the destination.

"We're excited and motivated about continuing to build on the tradition we represent and always striving to reach new heights," Coker said. "We always preach that the journey is the thing -- not just the destination. We want our student-athletes to appreciate the process, not just the reward. It's easy to say that when you've just won a national championship, but it's true.

"When we look back on our accomplishments many years from now, it's not just the moment of victory that we remember, but the struggles and triumphs along the way that will stay with us. The relationships, the camaraderie formed along the way -- that's what makes football great, and that's what is exciting about coming back to try to win again."

Coker's highly successful stint at UM is his most recent stop in a 37-year coaching career, including 22 seasons as an assistant at the collegiate level. He's found success at every stop along the way.

Prior to becoming Miami's head football coach, Coker served under Butch Davis as the Hurricanes' offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach since Davis' first season at UM in 1995. While the offensive coordinator from 1995-2000, UM went 51-20 overall and 33-9 in conference play. With Coker as the offensive coordinator, UM was 27-9 at the historic Orange Bowl and 19-11 on the road. Additionally, the Hurricanes won all four bowl games during that six-season span.

Prior to his arrival at the University of Miami in 1995, Coker spent two seasons at Ohio State (1993-94) coaching the defensive backfield. The Buckeyes participated in two bowl games during his tenure and were Big Ten co-champions in 1993. From 1990-92, Coker was the offensive coordinator at Oklahoma, assisting the Sooners to two bowl victories. Before heading to Norman, Coker spent seven seasons as the offensive coordinator at Oklahoma State. In his seven seasons with the Cowboys, he coached 1988 Heisman Trophy winner Barry Sanders and the team went on to win four bowl games. Coker first made the jump to Division I with Tulsa from 1979-82 as the offensive backfield coach. Tulsa won three Missouri Valley Conference championships during his four seasons.

Wherever Coker has gone in his coaching career, success followed. The Okemah, Okla., native has been on college teams that have made 17 bowl appearances, and Coker's teams have been victorious in 13 of those 17 games, including a 4-0 mark as an assistant at Miami and a 3-2 record as a head coach.

Coker and his wife, Dianna, live in Coral Gables. They are the parents of a daughter, Lara, and the grandparents of twin boys Daniel and Dillon Goldmann (5).

RICH OLSON

OFFENSIVE COORDINATOR

Rich Olson, one of the most respected offensive coaches in football, was named offensive coordinator at the University of Miami on February 17, 2006. Olson was a part of the UM coaching staff for three years with great success in the early 1990s. He will also work with the team's running backs.

A 29-year veteran coach in college football and the NFL, Olson has coached some of the top names in college and pro football. He was UM's wide receivers coach in 1992 and was an integral part of Gino Torretta's success when the quarterback won the Heisman Trophy that year. In addition, Olson has coached quarterbacks such as Daunte Culpepper, Jake Plummer and Warren Moon in the NFL, in addition to star players like Trent Dilfer, Eric Dickerson and Craig James in college football.

In hiring Olson, UM head coach Larry Coker cited his football knowledge and ability to unite the offensive coaching staff and get the team back to its high-scoring days of the early part of this decade.

Former Miami head coach Dennis Erickson said Olson "is one of the great minds, offensively, in football -- college and professional." And Torretta said he expected Miami's offense under Olson to "have a more aggressive aerial attack than before."

Before his return to Miami, Olson spent 10 seasons in the NFL. He followed Erickson from UM to the Seattle Seahawks in 1994, and he has also coached with the Washington Redskins, Arizona Cardinals, San Francisco 49ers and Minnesota Vikings.

In his 18 years in college football, Olson has worked for top coaches such as Erickson, Lou Holtz and John Robinson. At UM, he was the wide receivers coach in 1992, the quarterbacks coach in 1993, and then the offensive coordinator/quarterbacks coach in 1994.

Prior to that he spent eight years under Jim Sweeney at Fresno State, where he tutored first-round draft choice Trent Dilfer, as well as Kevin Sweeney, who broke Doug Flutie's NCAA record for passing yardage. Olson coached on Holtz's staff at Arkansas for three years, at Southern Methodist under Ron Meyer, and at Southern California under Robinson. He began his coaching career at Gahr High School in Cerritos, Calif. in 1971.

A native of Montebello, Calif., Olson was a quarterback at Washington State. He graduated in 1971 with a degree in physical education. He and his wife, Cindy, have a daughter, Kasey.

RANDY SHANNON

DEFENSIVE COORDINATOR

Randy Shannon is widely considered one of the top defensive coordinators in college football. The longest-tenured member of the Hurricanes coaching staff, Shannon is now in his sixth season as defensive coordinator, and his tenure at UM dates back to 1985.

Shannon restored the University of Miami's legendary defensive reputation as one of the nation's fiercest. A former Hurricanes linebacker who returned to UM from the Miami Dolphins coaching staff in 2001, Shannon has produced defenses that rank among the best in the history of the program.

Shannon's aggressive 4-3 scheme annually produces one of the nation's most opportunistic defenses. In 2005, Shannon's defense led the nation most of the season in nearly every category and finished No. 1 in pass defense (152.17 ypg) and pass efficiency (89.48 rating), fourth in total defense (270.08 ypg) and scoring defense (14.25 points), and 23rd in run defense (117.92). He was named Defensive Coordinator of the Year by Rivals.com. The UM defenses in 2002 and 2003 led the nation in passing yards allowed, and the 2003 unit was fourth nationally in pass efficiency defense (96.16 rating), while finishing second in the nation in total defense (257.5 ypg). The 2003 Hurricanes also ranked among the national leaders in scoring defense (fourth, 15.1 ppg). In 2004, Shannon's defense ranked ninth in the country in pass defense despite having three new starters in the secondary. That unit was led by consensus All-America cornerback Antrel Rolle, marking the fourth consecutive season that Shannon has coached an All-America defender.

His 2002 unit led the nation in passing yards allowed (119.7 ypg) and in pass efficiency defense (83.91 rating), while finishing seventh in that nation in total defense (285.0 ypg), all of which was accomplished with an entirely new starting unit in the defensive secondary. Six Hurricanes were named All-Big East by the league's head coaches in 2002.

In 2001, Miami led the nation in turnover margin by forcing a school-record 27 interceptions and 45 turnovers. Miami defenders allowed a national-best 9.4 points per game, led the nation in pass efficiency defense (75.60 rating), ranked second in pass defense (138.2 ypg) and was sixth in total defense (270.9 ypg). The 2001 Hurricanes allowed just 12 touchdowns (seven rushing, five passing) and scored seven touchdowns of their own. Two UM defenders received All-America acclaim in 2001 – safety Edward Reed and cornerback Phillip Buchanon – and four Hurricanes were voted to the Big East All-Conference team by the league's head coaches.

His work with the 2001 defense earned Shannon the praise of his coaching brethren, as he became the first UM coach to be named the winner of the Frank Broyles Award, presented annually to the nation's top assistant coach. Shannon earned the honor from a field of 112 nominees from across the nation, with the winner chosen by an elite panel of seven college football coaching greats: Vince Dooley, Don James, Dick MacPherson, Tom Osborne, Darrell Royal, Bo Schembechler and Grant Teaff.

A native of Miami, Shannon became defensive coordinator at UM after a successful stint as an assistant for the NFL's Miami Dolphins. He was a defensive assistant in 1998 and 1999 before assuming the role of linebackers coach in 2000. Shannon developed the Dolphins' linebacker corps on one of the NFL's top defenses in 2000 for head coach Dave Wannstedt, another former UM assistant, and he worked with All-Pro linebacker Zach Thomas.

Prior to his time with the Dolphins, Shannon spent seven seasons with the Hurricanes as an assistant in various capacities. He began his coaching career at Miami in 1991 as a graduate assistant and was promoted to full-time defensive assistant (defensive line) in 1992 before becoming linebackers coach in 1993. During his first stint as a UM assistant, Shannon tutored linebackers such as Darrin Smith, Ray Lewis, Jessie Armstead, and Micheal Barrow. Shannon has coached in 10 bowl games with the Hurricanes.

One of three former Hurricanes players on the Miami staff, Shannon was a four-year letterman at linebacker, a member of Miami's 1987 national championship team, and was the winner of the Christopher Plumer Award for most inspirational player in his senior season of 1988. Shannon started at strongside linebacker his final two seasons at UM and was an 11th-round draft choice of the Dallas Cowboys in 1989. That year, he was the first rookie to start at outside linebacker for Dallas since 1963.

TODD BERRY

QUARTERBACKS COACH

Todd Berry was named to the University of Miami football coaching staff on January 13, 2006. Berry, 45, coaches the UM quarterbacks, including Kyle Wright, who led the ACC in touchdown passes in 2005, his first year as a starter.

Berry came to UM from Louisiana-Monroe, where he was the offensive coordinator/quarterbacks coach for the last two years. He has also been the head coach at Illinois State and Army.

Berry was a quarterback at Tulsa in 1979-80 when Larry Coker was the offensive coordinator. In hiring his protege, Coker cited Berry's teaching skills and belief in an attacking, explosive style of offense.

At Louisiana-Monroe in 2005, Berry coached an offense that was third in total offense and first in passing in the Sun Belt Conference. The Indians won the conference title, and he tutored QB Steven Jyles, the Sun Belt Player of the Year who re-wrote the school and conference football records book in the passing and total offense categories. The Indians threw 405 passes in 2005 and were sacked just nine times (once by Georgia and two times by Arkansas).

Berry was the head coach at Army from 2000 to midway through the 2003 season, including the fateful day of September 11, 2001. His teams set 25 Academy records at Army. Berry was a member of the Board of Trustees of the American Football Coaches Association from 2001-03.

He was the head coach at Illinois State from 1996-99, presiding over one of the most remarkable turnarounds in Division I-AA history. The team had not won a conference title since 1950, but under Berry the Redbirds advanced to the NCAA Division I-AA playoffs in his third season and finished in the I-AA top 20. The following year, ISU was undefeated in the conference and advanced to the I-AA semi-finals. Berry was a semifinalist for the Eddie Robinson Coach of the Year Award in both 1998 and 1999. His teams set more than 100 records during his four seasons as head coach, and he compiled a record of 19-7 his last two seasons.

Berry was offensive coordinator at East Carolina from 1992-95, and the Pirates went to the Liberty Bowl his last two seasons. He was the offensive coordinator at Southeast Missouri State in 1991, receivers coach at Mississippi State in 1989 and 1990, and offensive coordinator at Tennessee-Martin from 1986-88. UT-M finished in the top five in passing offense, total offense and scoring offense. Berry was a graduate assistant at Tennessee (1983) and Oklahoma State (1985), as well as the receivers coach at Tulsa (1984). Berry worked for some well-known head coaches during his ascent, holding down assistant positions on the staffs of Steve Logan at East Carolina, John Cooper at Tulsa and Johnny Majors at Tennessee.

He is a native of Miami, Okla., where he was an all-state selection in football at Miami High School. Berry played quarterback at the University of Tulsa from 1979 to 1980 before a knee injury ended his playing career. He graduated in 1983 with a degree in business marketing. He and his wife, Lisa, have two daughters, Jordan and Ryleigh.

MARIO CRISTOBAL

OFFENSIVE LINE COACH

Mario Cristobal returned to his roots this year when he was promoted to offensive line coach. A Miami native and former UM standout offensive lineman, he coached the Miami tight ends in 2004-05. Cristobal, 35, already is recognized as one of the top recruiters in college football.

In taking over Miami's offensive line, Cristobal will have four new starters this season, with the only holdover being center Anthony Wollschlager, so he will have his work cut out for him in his first season as the offensive line coach.

Cristobal coached the offensive line at Rutgers from 2001-2003 under former UM assistant Greg Schiano. He returned to UM in 2004. An energetic coach, Cristobal brings a wealth of successful coaching and playing experience to the position.

In his first season as tight ends coach in 2004, Cristobal tutored Kevin Everett, who was selected in the fourth round of the NFL draft by the Buffalo Bills. Last season he mentored tight end Greg Olsen, who is now being mentioned as an All-American candidate for 2006.

At Rutgers, Cristobal worked with the offensive tackles and tight ends for two seasons before shifting his focus solely to the offensive line in 2003. Cristobal was a crucial factor in Rutgers' resurgence to respectability. During his tenure at Rutgers, the Scarlet Knights improved from records of 2-9 and 1-11 to a 5-7 mark in 2003, the school's best record since 1998.

Prior to his arrival at Rutgers, Cristobal spent three seasons on the UM coaching staff, where he worked with the Hurricanes' offensive linemen as a graduate assistant.

A 1993 graduate of Miami, he was a four-year letterman and member of the Hurricanes' football team from 1988-92. As a senior, Cristobal earned All-Big East honors as an offensive tackle in 1992. He went on to a professional career before joining the coaching ranks. Cristobal signed with Denver Broncos as an undrafted rookie in 1994 and played for the NFL Europe's Amsterdam Admirals in 1995 and 1996 before beginning his coaching career.

He joined the Miami Hurricanes staff in 1998 as a graduate assistant, working with the Hurricanes for three seasons (1998-2000) as the Miami program posted a 29-8 record, winning three bowl games and a pair of Big East Conference championships. He and his wife, Jessica, were married in June.

CLINT HURTT

ASSISTANT DEFENSIVE LINE COACH

Clint Hurtt returned to the University of Miami on February 6, 2006 when he was named the Hurricanes' assistant defensive line coach. He assists John Palermo in coaching the team's defensive linemen, with Hurtt working mostly with the defensive tackles.

One of three former Hurricanes players on the current UM coaching staff, Hurtt served as the defensive line coach at Florida International University in 2005 but is no stranger to Hurricanes fans. He was a three-year letterman for the Hurricanes as a defensive lineman. He signed with UM in 1997 and played extensively as a freshman before redshirting in 1998 while recovering from an injury. Hurtt returned to the lineup and saw extensive action in 1999 and 2000 before an injury prior to the 2001 season ended his playing career. After the injury, Hurtt joined the Hurricanes staff as a volunteer assistant in the strength and conditioning staff. In 2003, he was named a graduate assistant and worked with the defensive line in that capacity for two seasons.

FIU athletic director Rick Mello said of Hurtt, "I have had the good fortune of working with some outstanding football coaches during my career -- Pete Carroll (USC head coach), Steve Mariucci (veteran NFL head coach), Donnie Henderson (Detroit Lions defensive coordinator) and Rod Marinelli (Detroit Lions Head Coach) -- and Clint Hurtt is in their category at this point in his career. He was at our institution a short while but his impact will be felt for a long time."

In his only season at FIU, Hurtt was responsible for moving 2005 Lombardi Award Watch List candidate Antwan Barnes from linebacker to defensive end, where he ended up being named a first-team All-Sun Belt Conference defender, averaging one sack per game.

A native of Rochester, N.Y., Hurtt had an outstanding prep career at Milford (Conn.) Academy. He graduated from the University of Miami in 2001 with degree in criminology and liberal arts. His father, Clinton, played for the New York Jets and Baltimore Colts. Hurtt is single.

MARQUES MOSELY

WIDE RECEIVERS COACH

Marquis Mosely was named the wide receivers coach at the University of Miami on February 28, 2006. He replaced Curtis Johnson, who is now the wide receivers coach of the New Orleans Saints.

Mosely is a dynamic up-and-coming assistant coach who will work with Ryan Moore, Lance Leggett, Darnell Jenkins and the Miami receivers to bring out all of their abilities in 2006. Mosley has been cited for his work in developing the blocking techniques of his wide receivers, as well as their pass-catching skills.

Mosely, 31, was the wide receivers coach at Northern Illinois for the last two seasons. In 2005, he was the position coach for Sam Hurd, who caught 65 passes for 1,074 yards and 13 touchdowns. Last season, Northern Illinois led the nation with a 67.95 pass completion percentage, meaning his receivers caught the balls thrown their way. In 2004, Mosely coached Dan Sheldon, who led the major-college ranks in yards-per-reception average (23.4).

Previously, Mosely worked for new UM quarterbacks coach Todd Berry at Army in 2002 and 2003 as the wide receivers coach and head junior-varsity coach. At West Point, Mosely worked with Aris Comeaux, who was a finalist for the Mosi Tatupu Special Teams Player of the Year Award, and William White, who finished No. 17 in NCAA Division 1-A all-purpose yardage (149.6 ypg. average) in 2002. During the summer of 2003, Mosely participated in the NFL Minority Fellowship Program with the Tennessee Titans.

A native of Bloomington, Ill., Mosely lettered for three seasons at the University of Illinois under Lou Tepper (1993, 1994 and 1996). In 1996, he was an 11-game starter. In 1997, Mosely transferred to Illinois State and played for Berry. Mosely was a first-team All-Gateway Conference selection as a senior, when he caught 61 passes for 875 yards and four touchdowns. He set three school records (single-game receptions with 12 vs. Northern Iowa, single-game all-purpose yardage with 316 vs. Northern Iowa, and longest kickoff return with a 100-yarder against the University at Buffalo).

Mosely graduated with a degree in speech communications from Illinois in 1998. He entered the hotel and aviation industries and served as a commercial pilot for two years before joining Berry's staff at Army. A three-sport star from Bloomington (Ill.) High School, Mosely was all-conference, all-area, consensus all-state and a Parade magazine All-America receiver as a prep senior in 1993. As an upper-classman (1992-93), Mosely caught 95 passes for 2,043 yards (21.5-yards per catch) and 27 touchdowns. During his final campaign, he made 56 receptions for 1,271 yards and 15 touchdowns. As a junior, his team finished 13-2 and reached the Class 5A state playoff semifinals. In track, Mosely was a member on the mile relay unit that placed fifth (1991) and sixth (1992) at the state meet. He is engaged to Stacy Allie.

JOHN PALERMO

DEFENSIVE LINE COACH

John Palermo was hired as the University of Miami's defensive line coach on February 6, 2006. He will work with assistant Clint Hurt in bringing out the best from the Hurricanes' defensive linemen.

One of the most respected defensive line coaches in all of college football, Palermo has been a coach for 27 years at the collegiate level, mostly at Wisconsin and Notre Dame, and he was also head coach at Austin Peay.

For the 15 years before joining the Miami staff, Palermo was the assistant head coach at the University of Wisconsin. He was the school's defensive line coach from 1996-2005 and served as the outside linebackers coach from 1991 to 1995.

While at Wisconsin, Palermo produced four first-team All-Americans, and his players were named first-team All-Big Ten a total of nine times. His players were selected Big Ten Defensive Lineman of the Year four times and two were named Big Ten Defensive Player of the Year. Eight of Palermo's defensive linemen have been chosen in the first six rounds of the NFL draft, including two, Wendell Bryant in 2002 and Erasmus James in 2005, who were taken in the first round. James was a consensus All-American and the Big Ten Defensive Player of the Year. Palermo's entire 2004 defensive line was selected in the 2005 NFL draft.

Palermo was the head coach at Austin Peay State in 1990. Prior to that, he was the defensive line coach at Notre Dame in 1988 and 1989. The Fighting Irish won the 1988 national championship, and his star lineman, Chris Zorich was a consensus All-American and Lombardi Award winner in 1990. Prior to that, he had stints at Minnesota (1984-87), Appalachian State (1983), Memphis State (1980-82), Austin Peay (1979) and North Carolina State (1977-78).

In 27 years at the collegiate level, Palermo has coached on 17 bowl teams, including Notre Dame's 1988 national championship squad and three Wisconsin teams that won the Big Ten and the Rose Bowl (1993, 1998 and 1999).

A native of Newburgh, N.Y., Palermo lettered at Florida State in 1972 and 1973 and earned a degree in education from FSU in 1974. He and his wife, Donna, have a son (Jason) and a daughter (Jessica). Jason was a starter on the offensive line for Wisconsin in 2005.

JOE PANNUNZIO

TIGHT ENDS/SPECIAL TEAMS COORDINATOR

Joe Pannunzio was named the tight ends/special teams coordinator at the University of Miami on February 22, 2006. Pannunzio was the head coach at Murray State from 2000 to 2005 and was one of the most highly regarded tight ends/special teams coaches in the country during stints at Texas Christian, Minnesota, Mississippi and Auburn.

With the Hurricanes, he will coach the team's tight ends, including All-America candidate Greg Olsen and prized recruits Richard Gordon and DajLeon Farr, as well as what has been one of the nation's best special teams units over the past two decades.

Pannunzio, 46, has coached for the last 25 years coaching in college football, steadily rising the ranks from a star player at Southern Colorado to head coach. He spent the last six years as the head coach at Murray State, where his teams finished 30-37. His teams won one Ohio Valley Conference title and advanced to the playoffs one time.

Prior to becoming a head coach, Pannunzio spent five years working for Tommy Tuberville at Mississippi and Auburn. Before that, he spent four years under Jim Wacker at Texas Christian and Minnesota. He also coached for seven years at Mesa (Colo.) College, where the teams appeared in the NAIA national championship game twice and led the nation in total offense and scoring once. His two stints at Mesa wrapped around two seasons at Kansas, where he worked under Mike Gottfried.

A native of Pueblo, Colo., Pannunzio was a standout quarterback at Southern Colorado, where he graduated with a degree in physical education in 1982. He was named honorable mention All-Conference and in 1980 led his team to a No. 9 ranking in NAIA Division I. He and his wife, Rita, have two daughters, Angela and Nico, and a son, Mario.

TIM WALTON

DEFENSIVE BACKS COACH

In two seasons on the Miami Hurricanes' coaching staff, Tim Walton has quickly proven to be one of the best defensive backs coaches in the country.

In 2004, the Miami pass defense was ninth in the country, and in 2005 the Hurricanes ranked No. 1 in both pass defense and pass efficiency. In those two seasons, Walton has coached three All-Americans and two Freshman All-Americans.

Walton came to Miami in 2004 after a successful stint as defensive backs coach at Louisiana State, where he helped lead the Tigers to the 2003 BCS national championship and a Southeastern Conference title.

In 2005, Walton's pass defense led the nation, allowing only 152.17 yards per game. He tutored two All-Americans: safety Brandon Meriweather (Football Writers of America) and cornerback Kelly Jennings (Sports Illustrated) and developed Kenny Phillips into a Freshman All-American. Jennings was selected by the Seattle Seahawks in the first round of this year's draft, and the other starter in the 2005 secondary, cornerback Marcus Maxey, was drafted in the fifth round by Kansas City. In addition, Devin Hester, who started some and played nickel back the last two seasons, went to Chicago in the second round.

In 2004, Walton coached a secondary unit that ranked ninth in the country. He tutored Antrel Rolle, who was named consensus All-American and was selected in the first round of the NFL draft by the Arizona Cardinals. Other members of the secondary included safety Greg Threat, who became the first defensive back in UM history to lead the team in tackles for a season, and Devin Hester, who converted to cornerback and led the team in interceptions.

Walton's 2003 Louisiana State defensive backs were a key factor in a defense that ranked among the nation's top three in four of five major defensive statistical categories: total defense (first, 252.0 yards per game), scoring defense (first, 11.0 ppg), pass efficiency defense (second, 89.8 rating) and rushing defense (third, 67.0 yards per game). Additionally, LSU ranked 18th nationally in passing yardage defense (185.0 ypg). The 2003 LSU defense led the SEC in four of the five defensive categories and was second in the conference in pass defense.

Prior to joining the LSU staff, Walton was at Syracuse in 2002, coaching the defensive backs. He coached the secondary at Memphis in 2000 and 2001. In his first year with Memphis, the Tigers ranked fifth in the nation in total defense, allowing only 275 yards per game (and first in run defense). He also coached two first-team All-Conference USA selections in Idrees Bashir and Michael Stone at Memphis. Bashir was selected as the 37th overall pick of the 2001 NFL draft by the Indianapolis Colts, while Stone was taken later in the second round (54th overall pick) by the Arizona Cardinals.

Walton started his coaching career as a defensive graduate assistant at Bowling Green in 1995. He was promoted to running backs coach in 1996 and then moved to coach the defensive backs in 1999.

In addition to his collegiate coaching experience, Walton has had two summer internships with NFL teams. He spent the summer of 1998 serving as a defensive intern with the Chicago Bears and the summer of 2001 as a defensive intern for the Green Bay Packers.

As a player, Walton was a two-year starter and four-year letterman at Ohio State, serving as co-captain for the Big Ten co-champions in 1993 while playing under current Miami head coach Larry Coker, who was OSU's secondary coach at the time.

A native of Grenada, Miss., and a 1994 graduate of Ohio State, Walton and his wife Tracy have three children, Trei, Timia and Tyler.

GRADUATE ASSISTANTS

MIKE CASSANO

Mike Cassano is in his second season as a graduate assistant coach at the University of Miami. In 2004, Cassano served as a volunteer coach on the UM staff, working primarily with the offense under head coach Larry Coker. This season, he will work again with the offense, this time with the running backs.

Cassano was the running backs coach at the University of Massachusetts from 1998 to 2004. The Minutemen won the Division I-AA national championship in 1998, advanced to the playoffs in 1999 and 2003, and were Atlantic 10 champions in 1999 and 2003. Cassano coached Marcel Shipp, who was a three-time finalist for the Walter Payton Award and three-time Division I-AA All-American. Shipp, who now plays for the Arizona Cardinals, was sixth all-time leading rusher in Division I-AA history.

In 1997, Cassano was the running backs coach at Brown University. He began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at Lehigh University in 1994, and he was a graduate assistant at Eastern Michigan University in 1995 and 1996.

A native of Andover, Mass., Cassano was a two-year letterman at Colgate University and a two-year letterman at the University of New Hampshire. He received a B.S. in physical education at the University of New Hampshire in 1994 and attended graduate school at Lehigh and Eastern Michigan. He is single.

JEFF POPOVICH

Jeff Popovich, a four-year letterman for the Hurricanes from 1996 to 1999, is in his second season as a graduate assistant coach. Popovich assists the Hurricanes defensive coaches, primarily the defensive backs.

A native of Tucson, Ariz., Popovich was a walk-on who turned into a key member of the UM football team for four seasons. He played defensive back and was an integral member of the nickel defense for two years, as well as a star on special teams cover units and as the holder for placekicks. He started his career as a wide receiver. Popovich saw action in all 46 games, starting five times. For his career, he made 154 tackles, one interception, one forced fumble and three fumble recoveries. He was a three-time Big East All-Academic team member and a candidate for national Academic All-America honors.

After leaving UM, Popovich played for the Tampa Bay Buccaneers during the 2000 preseason and the Atlanta Falcons in 2001. In spring 2001, he was a member of the Barcelona Dragons team in the NFL Europe League that played in the World Bowl.

He spent three years working in computer consulting for Scientific Technologies Corp.

Prior to playing collegiately at UM, Popovich was a star quarterback and defensive back at Sabino High School in Tucson, Ariz. An all-around athlete, he set school records on the track team in the pole vault and as a member of the 4x100-meter relay team.

Popovich earned a degree in biomedical engineering from Miami in 2000. He is married to the former Lara Hargreaves.

ANDREU SWASEY

HEAD STRENGTH AND CONDITIONING COACH

Now in his sixth season as the Miami Hurricanes' head strength and conditioning coach, Andreu Swasey has quickly earned the admiration and respect of UM's players and coaches and has developed a reputation as one of the finest in his field. One of college football's brightest young coaches, Swasey has an extensive background in speed and agility training.

Swasey is in charge of the daily conditioning regimen of the more than 100 student-athletes in the Hurricanes football program, and he also directs Miami's entire strength and conditioning staff of five strength coaches who supervise all the conditioning needs of UM's 17 scholarship sports.

Swasey has a unique perspective for a strength and conditioning coach, as he has previous experience as a defensive backs coach and a player. That experience makes Swasey the perfect person to address the specific needs of football student-athletes.

A defensive back at Baylor University, Swasey's current stint at UM is his second with the Hurricanes. He returned to UM in 2000 from the University of Houston. He spent the 2000 season as UM's co-head strength and conditioning coach in charge of speed and agility and was promoted to head of the department in the 2001 by head coach Larry Coker.

Swasey was with the Hurricanes in 1997 and 1998 as an assistant strength and conditioning coach before moving on to coach defensive backs at Houston in 1999. Swasey began his coaching career at Copperas Cove (Texas) High School, where he coached defensive backs from 1995 to 1997.

Swasey has coached in seven bowl games with the Hurricanes. As a football player at Baylor University, he started at cornerback and was a two-year letterman. He was the starting strong safety for the Bears as a senior in 1993 after playing extensively as a reserve in 1992 on a team that defeated Arizona in the Sun Bowl.

Prior to his playing days at Baylor, Swasey was a standout at Fort Scott (Kansas) Junior College, where he earned second-team Junior College All-America honors in 1991 and was an all-conference honoree.

A native of Miami, Swasey is a graduate of Carol City High School. He received a Bachelor of Arts degree in sociology from Baylor in 1995. He and his wife, Monica, have four children: son Andrews and Jovon and daughters Ashlinn and Jaela.

JEFF MERK

DIRECTOR OF FOOTBALL OPERATIONS/ACADEMICS ADVISOR

Jeff Merk is in his sixth season on the University of Miami football staff as the Hurricanes' Director of Football Operations/Academic Advisor, a role in which he is the primary liaison for head coach Larry Coker.

Merk's position encompasses the daily administrative duties for the football program, with an emphasis on serving as a primary academic liaison to the coaching staff. He also has extensive responsibilities involving directing the UM Football Camp, coordinating the football coaches clinics, budgeting, team travel and academic coordination of Miami's highly successful recruiting efforts.

Merk joined the Hurricanes staff in 2000 as the Director of Facilities and was promoted to Director of Football Operations a year later. This is Merk's second tenure with the Miami football staff.

After graduating from the University of South Dakota in 1993 with a bachelor's degree in business administration, he joined the UM staff as a football administrative assistant, working for four seasons under head coaches Dennis Erickson (1993-94) and Butch Davis (1995-96).

Merk served four years in that position before he joined the Orange Bowl Committee as operations manager in 1997. There he was promoted to director of events after only two years, a post he held until returning to UM in 2000.

Merk and his wife, Wendy, have two children, Madison (9) and Amber (5).

EQUIPMENT ROOM

BOBBY REVILLA

Football Equipment Manager

Bobby Revilla's association with Miami football dates back more than two decades, making him one of the mainstays of the Hurricanes football program. Revilla has been with the Hurricanes' equipment staff for 21 years as a full-time employee, but he has worked with Miami football on a continuous basis since 1982, when he joined the staff as a student manager while attending the university.

Revilla's role is a behind-the-scenes job, but he mans one of the most vital posts in UM's football operation. He oversees all of the equipment needs and maintenance for Miami's athletic department, while supervising a staff of two full-time assistants, plus several student assistants.

Revilla has been a full-time staffer at UM since 1986, when he was named an assistant equipment manager under then-head coach Jimmy Johnson. Former UM head coach Butch Davis named Revilla the head football equipment manager for the Hurricanes prior to the 1998 season, and the 2006 season will be his ninth in that position at Miami.

During his career at Miami, Revilla has been a part of all five of Miami's football national championships, as he started as a student assistant under then-head coach Howard Schnellenberger and has worked continuously through the regimes of Jimmy Johnson, Dennis Erickson, Butch Davis and current UM head coach Larry Coker. Revilla has made 21 bowl trips with the Hurricanes over his 25 years in the program.

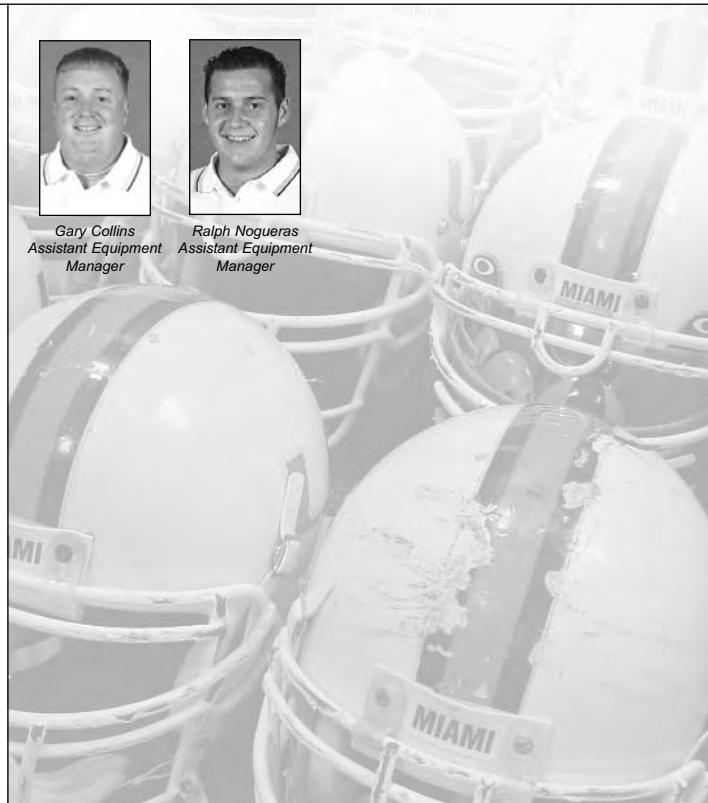

Revilla and his wife, Janet, have two children: sons Steven (9) and Zachary (7).

FOOTBALL VIDEO LAB

STEWART CRAMER

Coordinator of Video & Computers

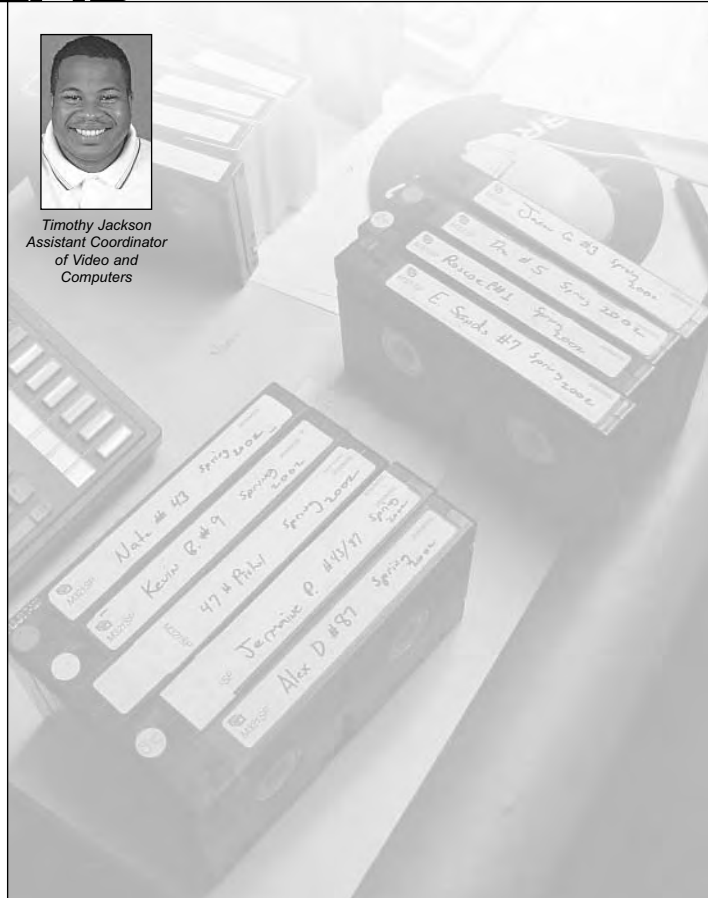

The 2006 football season marks Stewart Cramer's 11th year as coordinator of video and computers at the University of Miami. While Cramer's role centers on the video and computer needs of the Hurricanes football program, his responsibilities also include serving the entire Miami athletic department.

Cramer, a native of South Lyon, Mich., has distinguished himself as one of the nation's foremost video coordinators. In 2001 and 2002, he was named the Big East Conference Video Coordinator of the Year in a vote taken by the membership of the Collegiate Sports Video Association. Cramer's peers within the conference selected him for the honor.

The 32-year-old Cramer began his career at Miami in 1996 upon graduation from Central Michigan University with a bachelor of applied arts degree in broadcasting and cinematic arts. His first experience with servicing a football program's audio-visual needs came at Central Michigan, when he took on the role of video coordinator. With no manuals or instruction, Cramer taught himself the finer points of editing game video and developed his skills to the point where today he is widely recognized as one of the best in the field. He is single.

ATHLETIC MEDICAL STAFF

SCOTT MCGONAGLE

Head Athletic Trainer

Scott McGonagle is in his 12th season as Miami's head athletic trainer. McGonagle and his staff are responsible for the year-round health care of every UM student-athlete. In his 29th year as an athletic trainer, McGonagle oversees the sports medicine program for Miami's 17 intercollegiate varsity sports.

A native of Syracuse, Kan., McGonagle became a part of the Miami Hurricanes staff in 1995 as head athletic trainer. He oversees a staff of nine full-time assistant trainers and seven graduate assistant trainers, and he works in conjunction with one of the nation's most respected staffs of physicians to assure the finest medical care for UM student-athletes.

McGonagle's extensive experience includes 13 seasons as head athletic trainer at the University of Tulsa (1982-1995) and two years as the head athletic trainer at Crowley (Texas) High School (1981-82).

McGonagle began his collegiate athletics career as a student trainer at the University of Kansas from 1977 to 1980. During that time, McGonagle worked as a student athletic trainer for the Kansas City Chiefs in the 1978, 1979 and 1981 seasons.

He attended the University of Kansas and received his bachelor of science in physical education in 1980. He later graduated from the University of Arizona in 1981 with his master's of science in athletic training. McGonagle and his wife, Lynette, have a son, Matthew (26) and his wife Kelli, and a daughter, Megan (22).

DR. JOHN URIBE, M.D.

Team Physician and Orthopedic Surgeon

Renowned as one of the finest sports medicine specialists in the nation, Dr. John Uribe, M.D., is in his 20th season of service to the University of Miami as the Team Physician and Orthopedic Surgeon. Uribe is the primary physician who deals with Hurricanes football athletes when injuries occur. He is usually the attending physician when Miami student-athletes undergo surgery and has been serving the Hurricanes since 1987. He also has served as Associate Professor and Head of the Sports Medicine Division of the Department of Orthopedic Surgery at the University of Miami.

Uribe came to Coral Gables after three years as Orthopedic Surgeon Chief at Tripler Army Medical Center in Honolulu, Hawaii. In his 20 years at Miami, Uribe's high standard of care has enabled him to develop a client list that includes many of the nation's most prominent athletes, many of whom developed close relationships with him during their times as University of Miami student-athletes. He also has performed surgeries on numerous professional athletes who have learned of his expertise and come to Coral Gables for treatment.

Uribe received his M.D. from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill in 1976. He is married to Nancy Reiersen, M.D., and the couple have three children: Alex, Michael and Julia.

BRIAN MONROE

Punter

6-1, 210, Senior-3L

Palm Beach Gardens, Florida

Palm Beach Gardens HS

CAREER: Senior punter who has improved his statistics every season...One of the most underrated punters in college football...Doesn't boom his kicks for a big average, but has excellent hangtime, which keeps opposing returners from gaining much yardage...In three seasons, has only 12 touchbacks...Tremendously talented athlete with great potential who could compete for the Ray Guy Award as college football's best punter...Excellent all-around athlete who also played wide receiver in spring practice and could see action catching passes in the fall...In three seasons, has punted 177 times for a 39.2-yard average, with 57 kicks inside the 20, just 12 touchbacks and a net average of 36.2 yards...Handles the team's kickoff responsibilities and has a strong leg, with 34 percent of his kickoffs going for touchbacks in 2005...Also held for placekicks last year...As a true freshman in 2003, weathered an up-and-down first season as the Hurricanes' punter, then showed consistency in 2004, with a turn-around that surprised observers...Liberal arts major.

2005 (JUNIOR): Handled the team's punting duties for the third straight year...Averaged 39.8 yards on 64 punts, with a career-high 36.9-yard net average...Had just two touchbacks (none in the last 10 games), a personal low and the fewest for a UM punter since that statistic has been kept starting in 1998...Also had a career-high 26 punts inside the 20...His season long was 57 yards...Opponents returned 29 punts for 150 yards, an average of 5.1 yards per return...Also was the holder for Jon Peattie's placekicks all season and handled the team's kickoffs all year, making 22 touchbacks on 65 kickoffs...UM opponents averaged only 17.9 yards on his kickoffs...Ranked ninth in the ACC in punting...His only two touchbacks were in the first two games (Florida State and Clemson)...Had one-third of his punt return yardage in the opener (49 by Florida State)...Had a season-high five touchbacks on kickoffs vs. Duke...Had no punts returned in back-to-back games (Temple and North Carolina)...Kicked his season long, a 57-yarder at Wake Forest...Kicked off eight times at Wake Forest, with four touchbacks...Punted a season-high 10 times vs. Georgia Tech, tying his career high, with a season-best four kicks inside the 20 and no touchbacks (had five punts returned for minus-23 yards)...In the Peach Bowl vs. Louisiana State, punted eight times for a 43.0 average, a season-high four fair catches and a 55 long. Had four kicks returned for 46 yards, almost one-third of his season total.

2004 (SOPHOMORE): Played in all 12 games as the team's punter and also handled kickoffs most of the season...Punted 64 times for a 41.2-yard average and 36.8 net average...Had 20 kicks inside the 20 (nearly doubling his 2003 total, and 11 of them inside the 10-yard line), with only seven touchbacks...Had 26 kicks returned for only 140 yards, an average of just 5.4 yards per return...Averaged 40.0 yards per punt or more in six of 12 games...Ranked sixth in the ACC in punting...Started the season with a 42.6-yard average vs. Florida State, with three inside the 20 and a long of 60 yards...Registered four kicks inside the 20 at Houston...Allowed 63 yards in returns vs. Clemson, which was more than half of his entire 2004 total of 123 yards returned...Had a career-best 67-yard punt vs. Wake Forest...Also handled kickoff duties for much of the season.

2003 (FRESHMAN): Played in all 13 games...Averaged 35.7 yards on 49 punts, with 11 kicks inside the 20-yard line...Opponents returned punts for just 107 yards...Averaged 52.0 yards against Temple, including a then-career-best 56-yard punt...Had two punts of 50 or more yards against Syracuse...Connected on a then-career-high seven punts for 244 yards against Rutgers...Averaged 40 or more yards in games against Louisiana Tech (46.0), West Virginia (42.4), Florida State (40.2), Temple (52.0) and Syracuse (42.0)...Also handled kick-off duties for much of the season.

HIGH SCHOOL: Palm Beach Gardens...Excellent combination punter/kicker...Two-time winner of the high school version of the Lou Groza Award, awarded annually to the outstanding kicker/punter in high school football by the Palm Beach County Sports Association...As a senior in 2002, averaged 44.2 yards per punt...Also made five of seven field goal attempts in 2002, with a long of 40 yards...As a junior in 2001, averaged 45.6 yards per punt and made two of five field goal attempts, including a 47-yarder...One of the Palm Beach area's top recruits by the Palm Beach Post...Chose Miami over Florida State, Ohio State and Boston College...Coached by Tim Tharp.

TYRONE MOSS

Running Back

5-9, 232, Senior-3L

Pompano Beach

Ely HS

CAREER: Powerful running back who broke onto the national scene with a strong 2005 season before being injured in the eighth game...Will be ready for the start of the 2006 season, and could be the next 1,000-yard rusher in UM history...Has scored 23 touchdowns in 31 games played, a total that leads the ACC's returning players...Led the ACC in touchdowns in 2005 despite missing the final four games (and most of the fifth)...Was on pace to rush for 1,157 yards and score 21 touchdowns before his injury...Has career totals of 346 rushes for 1,657 yards, which ranks 13th in UM history despite the fact he has started just eight games...Has six career 100-yard games...Developed into a key player over the final three games of the 2003 season, then served as team's No. 2 running back in 2004, backing up Frank Gore...Low-to-the-ground runner who is extremely powerful and is able to change direction without losing speed...Has exceptional peripheral vision and is particularly effective running between the tackles and near the goal line...Liberal arts major.

2005 (JUNIOR): Star tailback who turned into one of UM's most productive runners ever before suffering a season-ending knee injury in the eighth game at Virginia Tech...Named to the All-ACC first team along with conference MVP Chris Barclay...Led the team with 701 yards rushing on 137 carries, a 5.1-yard average and 12 touchdowns...Also caught one pass for 17 yards...Led the ACC in touchdowns and was seventh in rushing despite missing the final four games...His 12 rushing TDs was the most by a UM back since Willis McGahee in 2002...Made his first UM start in the season opener at Florida State and rushed 23 times for 102 yards. Surpassed the 1,000-yard mark for his career, becoming the 33rd UM back to do so...Scored three touchdowns in leading UM to a 36-30 win in three overtimes at Clemson. Rushed a career-high 31 times for 139 yards, averaging 4.5 yards per carry, with a long of 25. Scored on a one-yard run in the fourth quarter, then added TD runs of six yards and 25 yards in overtime, the latter score for the game-winner. Named the ACC Offensive Back of the Week for his performance...Rushed 14 times for 44 yards in the home opener vs. Colorado...Led the team with 89 yards on 22 carries vs. South Florida. Scored three touchdowns for the second time in three weeks. Had scoring runs of one, 19 and one yard. Had a 17-yard reception for only the second catch of his career and a personal long, and his 36-yard run in the third quarter was a career long...Rushed 12 times for 82 yards vs. Duke, scoring two touchdowns on runs of seven and one yard...Played only into the second quarter at Temple with UM leading 34-0. Still led the team with 29 yards rushing on six carries...Rushed for a career-high 195 yards on 24 carries (8.1-yard average) and scored a career-high four touchdowns vs. North Carolina. The yardage total is the seventh-highest in school history, and he became the fourth Hurricanes player to score four touchdowns in one game. Named the ACC Offensive Back of the Week for the second time this year. Marked his third 100-yard game of the season and sixth of his career. Set a personal best for rushing yards in a season (675), surpassing the 511 yards he had as a freshman in 2003. Moved up to 14th on UM's all-time rushing list and seventh on the career touchdowns list with 23, passing Clinton Portis (21)...Rushed six times for 26 yards at Virginia Tech, then suffered a torn ACL in his left knee in the second quarter and was lost for the season. Moved into 13th place on the school's all-time rushing list, passing Don Bosseler (1,642 yards)...Underwent surgery on November 10.

CAREER: The leading active scorer in college football heading into the 2006 season...UM's placekicker for the last three seasons has scored 272 career points...Is the fifth-leading scorer among placekickers in school history...Could threaten Carlos Huerta's all-time scoring record of 397 points in 2006...Candidate for the Lou Groza Award and All-America honors in 2006...Has scored in 37 consecutive games...Has the fourth-most field goals in UM history...Has been successful on 52 of 72 field goals (72.2 percent) in three seasons...On UM's career list for points scored, trails only Carlos Huerta (397), Todd Sievers (310), Greg Cox (302) and Andy Crosland (292) and is tied with Dane Prewitt (272)...Was successful on 10 consecutive field goal attempts as a rookie, the third-longest streak in UM history...Had converted 99 consecutive extra points before his first miss in 2005, which was the second-longest streak in school history...One of Miami's most significant contributors as a true freshman in 2003, when he was one of 12 semifinalists for the Lou Groza Award honoring college football's finest placekicker...That year he provided the winning points in three games and turning one of the team's most questionable areas into a team strength...Also named first-team All-Big East honoree by the coaches in 2003...Scored 103 points as a freshman, which ranks fifth on UM's single-season scoring list and fourth for kicking points in a season...Was hampered by a groin injury most of the 2004 season but still managed 90 points...Struggled somewhat in 2005 but still scored 79 points...Graduated in 2005 with a degree in business management and is pursuing a master's degree in international studies.

2005 (JUNIOR): Led the team in scoring with 79 points...Connected on 15 of 20 field goal attempts (75.0 percent) and 34 of 39 extra points...Missed the first extra points attempts of his UM career...Ranked seventh in the ACC in scoring...Hit his only attempt from inside the 20, went 5 of 5 from 20 to 29 yards, 6 of 8 from 30 to 39 yards, 3 of 6 from 40 to 49 yards, and did not attempt any kicks of 50-plus yards...Scored 10 or more points in three games...Started the season in seventh place in scoring among UM placekickers all time, and moved up to a tie for fifth place with 272 career points by the end of the regular season...In the season opener at Florida State, kicked one extra point and missed two field goals (47, 39 yards). Was not able to attempt a game-tying field goal on the final play because of a bad snap and hold...Scored 12 points at Clemson on three field goals and three extra points. Was 3 for 3 on field goals, hitting from 37, 37 and 19 yards, the last kick in the second overtime to tie the game again. Became ninth player in school history to score 200 points for his career...In the home opener vs. Colorado, scored in double digits for the second straight week, this time with 11 points. Kicked three field goals in five attempts, hitting from 34, 20 and 33 yards but missing from 37 and 43 yards. Also kicked two extra points. With 217 career points, moved into seventh place on school's all-time list, ahead of Edgerin James. Also moved into sixth place on UM's career field goal list with 42, passing Dane Prewitt...Scored nine points vs. South Florida, with two field goals (33 and 49 yards, which tied for the second-longest of his career) and three extra points. With 45 career field goals, moved into a tie for fourth place on the all-time field goal list with Todd Sievers...Scored 10 points in a 52-7 victory over Duke, tying his career high with seven extra points and hitting his only field goal, a 21-yarder. His 46th career field goal moved him past Sievers into fourth place on the school's career list...At Temple a week later, scored just four points (all extra points) and missed his first extra point attempt, snapping a streak of 99 straight extra points made. Also ended the team's NCAA-leading streak of 131 straight extra points. Missed a 43-yard field goal...Kicked four extra points vs. North Carolina but did not attempt any field goals. Also punted for his only time of the season out of field goal formation, for 23 yards (downed at the 10-yard line)...Scored nine points in the upset victory at Virginia Tech. Opened the game's scoring with a 27-yard field goal in the first quarter and later added a 24-yarder as well as three extra points. With two field goals, moved into third place on school's career list with 48, passing Greg Cox. Also, with nine points, moved into sixth place on UM's all-time scoring list, passing Danny Miller...Kicked five extra points, but missed two other PAT attempts at Wake Forest (did not attempt any field goals)...Scored four points vs. Georgia Tech, with a 43-yard field goal and one extra point...Scored seven points in the regular-season finale vs. Virginia. Connected on field goals of 40 and 30 yards. Missed his first two extra point attempts, then hit his third. Tied Todd Sievers for fourth place on the all-time list with 51 career field goals...In the Peach Bowl vs. Louisiana State, scored the team's only points of the game on a 21-yard field goal in the first quarter.

2004 (SOPHOMORE): Led the team in scoring with 90 points...Was successful on all 45 extra point attempts, but hit on only 15 of 24 field goal tries while playing through a groin pull much of the season...Handled the kickoff duties early in the season before giving way to Brian Monroe...Ranked fourth in the ACC in scoring...Successfully hit field goals in 11-of-12 games...Hit his only attempt from inside the 20, went 5-of-6 from 20 to 29 yards, 5-of-8 from 30 to 39 yards, 4-of-6 from 40 to 49 yards, and 0-of-3 from 50-plus yards...Scored four points in the season opener vs. FSU on 1-of-3 FGAs and one extra point...Scored 10 points in a 48-0 victory over Louisiana Tech, with two field goals and four extra points. Did not kick the team's final two conversion attempts...Tallied eight points in a 38-13 win at Houston, hitting one field goal and five conversions...Scored nine points at Georgia Tech on 2-of-4 field goals and three extra points. Hit a season-long 49-yard field goal...Scored a season-high 11 points vs. Louisville, with 2-for-2 field goals and five extra points...Scored nine points on 1-of-2 field goals and extra extra points at NC State...Kicked four extra points at North Carolina and missed his only FG attempt, a 51-yarder...Scored five points vs. Clemson, with two extra points and 1-of-2 field goals...Totaled seven points on four conversions and 1 of 2 FGAs at Virginia...Tallied 10 points on a 34-yard FG and a season-high seven extra points in a 52-7 win over Wake Forest...Finished the regular season against Virginia Tech with only four points, hitting a 23-yard field goal and one extra point. Also punted for 26 yards from field goal formation in the first quarter (kick was downed on the nine-yard line)...In the Peach Bowl vs. Florida, scored nine points on three extra points and two field goals (27 and 42 yards).

2003 (FRESHMAN): Led the Hurricanes in scoring with 103 points...Led all freshmen nationally in scoring...Made 22-of-28 field goal attempts, a 78.6 percentage which led the Big East Conference in accuracy...Also led the Big East in field goals made (22, a Miami single-season record)...Ranked fourth in the Big East in scoring...His 103 points ranks fifth on the UM single-season scoring list and is fourth for kicking points scored in a season...Was a perfect 37-for-37 in extra points attempts...Successfully hit field goals in 11-of-13 games...Earned first-team All-Big East Conference honors as voted by the league's coaches...Was a first-team Freshman All-American by Rivals.com and The Sporting News...Hit his only attempt from inside the 20, went 9-of-10 from 20 to 29 yards, 7-of-10 from 30 to 39 yards, 4-of-6 from 40 to 49 yards and 1 of 1 from 50-plus yards...Recorded a career-high and school record five field goals (22, 32, 43, 30 and 23 yards) against West Virginia, including a game-winning 23-yarder with 11 seconds remaining...After missing his first collegiate kick, a 42-yard attempt against Louisiana Tech, went on to hit his next 10 attempts through the next four games. The 10 consecutive made field goals is the third-best streak in Miami history...Nailed a then-career-long 44-yard attempt against Syracuse...Went 2-of-3 against Louisiana Tech, hitting from 23 and 32 yards...Was successful on each of his attempts against Florida (27), East Carolina (38), Boston College (32), Tennessee (31, 22) and Rutgers (25, 41)...Was 3-of-4 at Florida State, connecting on attempts from 27, 22 and 19 yards...Hit 1-of-2 against Temple, making a 21-yard attempt...Provided the difference in Miami's 16-14 win over Florida State in the Orange Bowl Classic. KYLE WRIGHT

Quarterback

6-4, 220, Junior-2L

Danville, California

Monte Vista HS

CAREER: One of the most talented quarterbacks in college football...Highly regarded athlete is poised to be the next great passer at Miami...The nation's most highly recruited quarterback coming out of high school in 2003 had a very good season in 2005, his first as a starter...Was the ACC's No. 2 quarterback for passing efficiency and led the conference in touchdown passes...Selected as the quarterback on the preseason All-ACC teams for 2006...Enrolled at UM in spring 2003 after graduating early from high school...Impressed the coaching staff with his play on the scout team in 2003 and competed for the starting job in spring 2004...Was the No. 3 quarterback in 2004, but missed much of the second half of the season with a sprained ankle...A pocket passer with a strong arm and a quick release...Physical player who is also deceptively effective as a scrambler...Displays strong leadership qualities...Sports administration major.

2005 (SOPHOMORE): Honorable mention All-ACC selection at quarterback...Started all 12 games...Completed 180 of 307 passes (58.6 percent) for 2,403 yards, with 18 touchdowns and only 10 interceptions...Led the ACC with 18 touchdowns passes, ranked fifth in passing yards per game, eighth in total offense and second in passing efficiency...Ranked 33rd in the NCAA in passing (137.22 efficiency)...Threw for 200 or more yards in six of 12 games...Also rushed for minus-101 yards on 64 attempts...One of six offensive players who started every game...Made his first collegiate start in the season opener at Florida State and completed 16 of 28 passes (57.1 percent) for 232 yards, one touchdown and two interceptions. Was sacked a school-record nine times and had rushing totals of 13 for minus-36 yards...Led the team to a 36-30 victory in three overtimes at Clemson. Completed 16 of 26 passes (61.5 percent) for 152 yards, one touchdown and no interceptions. Was sacked five times, with rushing totals of six for minus-33 yards. Threw an eight-yard TD pass to Quadtrine Hill in the third quarter. Led the team to scores in all three overtime periods, with two touchdowns and one field goal...Led the team to 23-3 victory over Colorado in the home opener. Completed 20 of 39 passes (51.2 percent) for 264 yards, one touchdown and no interceptions. Threw a 53-yard TD pass to Sinorice Moss. Rushed four times for six yards, including a two-yard touchdown run in the fourth quarter for his first collegiate score...Quarterbacked UM to a 27-7 win over South Florida, completing 13 of 26 passes for 173 yards and one interception. Marked his first game as a starter without a TD pass. Was sacked three times and ended up with rushing totals of eight attempts for minus-two yards...Led UM to a 52-7 victory over Duke, completing 18 of 31 passes (58.1 percent) for 255 yards, with three touchdowns (all in the first half) and no interceptions. Hooked up on TD passes of 29 yards to Lance Leggett, 18 yards to Greg Olsen and 26 yards to Sinorice Moss. Left the game in the third quarter. Rushed two times for six yards...Guided the team to a 34-3 win at Temple, leaving the game late in the second quarter with a 34-0 lead. Completed 9 of 10 passes for 196 yards, four touchdowns and no interceptions. Threw TD passes of 92 yards to Sinorice Moss, 21 and 8 yards to Greg Olsen, and 20 yards to Ryan Moore. The 92-yarder is the second-longest in school history (record: 99 yards from Gino Torretta to Horace Copeland in 1992). Had rushing totals of four attempts for minus-23 yards. Suffered an injury to his right thumb on the second of two sacks when the backup offensive line was in the game...Played into the fourth quarter of a 34-16 win over North Carolina, hitting on 11 of 16 passes (68.8 percent) for 111 yards, no touchdowns and three interceptions (all in the first half). Was sacked one time and finished with four rushes for 18 yards...Led Miami to a 27-7 upset victory over then-No. 3 ranked Virginia Tech on national TV. Completed 13 of 22 passes (59.1 percent) for 146 yards, one touchdown, one interception and one sack. Left the game in the second quarter after being hit late, but returned in the third quarter. Threw a nine-yard TD pass to Darnell Jenkins...Had a career game a week later at Wake Forest, throwing for 319 yards and five touchdown passes. Completed 17 of 27 passes (63.0 percent) and was not intercepted. His five TD passes tied the school record held by Bernie Kosar (1984), Steve Walsh (1988), Ken Dorsey (2000) and Brock Berlin (2004), and his 319 yards passing broke his personal best set vs. Colorado. Also rushed two times for minus-eight yards. Earned ACC Offensive Back of the Week honors...Completed 14 of 31 passes (45.2 percent) for 207 yards, one touchdown and one interception vs. Georgia Tech. Was sacked seven times and ended up with eight rushes for minus-35 yards. Connected with Sinorice Moss on a 19-yard touchdown pass in the second quarter to put UM up 10-7. Threw an interception at the three-yard line after driving the team 62 yards in the final two minutes of a comeback attempt...Hit on 23 of 30 passes for a season-best 76.7 completion percentage vs. Virginia. Threw for 248 yards and one touchdown, with no interceptions and was sacked just one time. Rushed five times for 31 yards, including a 31-yard scramble for his longest run of the year (he was tackled a foot short of the goal line)...In the Peach Bowl loss to Louisiana State, completed 10 of 21 passes for 100 yards. Was sacked four times and rushed seven times for minus-20 yards.

2004 (FRESHMAN): Team's No. 3 quarterback most of the season...Saw backup duty in two games, completing 5 of 9 passes for 30 yards...Saw his first action as a Hurricane in the second game vs. Louisiana Tech, playing in two series while alternating in the second half with Derrick Crudup. For the game, completed 1 of 3 passes for 6 yards. Was sacked two times and ran twice for eight yards...Played again two weeks later at Georgia Tech, seeing his most action of the season. Played two series in the first and second quarters vs. the Yellow Jackets' starters, and most of the fourth quarter. Completed 4 of 6 passes for 24 yards. Also rushed one time for no yards and was sacked four times...Suffered a sprained left ankle in practice on October 20 and missed the next five games, then suffered an allergic reaction to a bee sting in December and missed more practice time...Did not play the remainder of the season.

2003 (REDSHIRT): Sat out the season as a redshirt...Showed exceptional potential as the scout team quarterback...Was named the scout team's Most Valuable Player twice.

GAME 1 - (10) FLORIDA STATE 10, (9) MIAMI 7 MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 2005 DOAK CAMPBELL STADIUM

After six straight years of frustrating finishes, the Seminoles found some good fortune against their rivals when the Hurricanes botched a potential tying kick to give Florida State a 10-7 victory on Labor Day night. Jon Peattie lined up for the 28-yarder with about 2:30 left, but holder Brian Monroe dropped a low snap that bounced off his hands and rolled back into the pile, never giving Peattie a chance to try the kick.

With No. 9 Miami out of timeouts, No. 14 Florida State simply needed to run out the clock to secure its first victory over the Hurricanes since 1999 and maybe take some of the sting out of all those wide rights and lefts, some that might have cost Florida State national titles.

Florida State overcame its own inept offense (170 total yards) with a defense that registered nine sacks by seven players and some solid special teams plays. Both Florida State's Drew Weatherford and Miami's Kyle Wright were making their first collegiate starts at quarterback and, at times, neither looked ready to lead a team to victory in one of college football's fiercest rivalries.

Weatherford went 7-for-24 for 67 yards with an interception. He was pulled early in the fourth, but fellow redshirt freshman Xavier Lee had no luck moving the 'Noles, either. Wright completed six passes and converted three third downs to put the Hurricanes in position on Miami's final drive of the game to beat the Noles' for the seventh straight time.

Wright hooked up with tight end Greg Olsen four times in the 19-play drive that started on the Miami 3 and got the Hurricanes to the Florida State 3. But the Seminoles' ninth sack pushed Miami back and forced the Hurricanes to settle for the field goal attempt. Wright finished 16-for-28 for 232 yards and a touchdown pass. Olsen caught eight passes for 137 yards.

GAME 2 - (13) MIAMI 36, (20) CLEMSON 30 (3 OT) SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 2005 CLEMSON MEMORIAL STADIUM

Tyrone Moss' 25-yard touchdown run in the third overtime lifted No. 13 Miami to a 36-30 victory over No. 20 Clemson on September 17.

Moss bounced out to the right side for his scoring run and safety Kenny Phillips intercepted Charlie Whitehurst when the Tigers got their chance in the third extra period. Phillips' play ended the game and gave the Hurricanes a reason to forget their 10-7 loss at Florida State nearly two weeks ago.

Moss finished with 139 yards rushing and three touchdowns, two in overtime. His 1-yard touchdown in the fourth quarter put Miami up 20-10, while his 3-yard scoring run gave the Hurricanes a brief 27-20 lead in the first overtime.

Miami seemed like it would have its Death Valley revenge after Moss' first score with 14:20 left in the game. But the Tigers (2-1, 1-1), who have already rallied in the fourth quarter to beat Texas A&M and Maryland this season, did it again to force overtime. Whitehurst had a 1-yard quarterback sneak touchdown to cut the lead to three points with 2:58 to go. After forcing the Hurricanes to punt, Whitehurst led a 46-yard drive that ended with Jad Dean's tying field goal from 27-yards out.

Trailing 10-6 in the third quarter, Moss carried six times on a 47-yard drive that ended with Wright's 8-yard touchdown pass to Quadtrine Hill. On the next series, Kyle Wright let loose with his longest pass of the game, a 40-yard strike to Sinorice Moss that moved Miami to Clemson's 6. Two plays later, Tyrone Moss finished the drive with his 1-yard score to give Miami its 10-point, fourth-quarter lead.

GAME 3 - (12) MIAMI 23, COLORADO 3 SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 2005 ORANGE BOWL

Kyle Wright threw for 264 yards and a touchdown, plus ran for another, and No. 12 Miami's defense frustrated Colorado all afternoon in the Hurricanes' 23-3 win Saturday. Only Mason Crosby's 58-yard field goal with 11:57 left kept the Buffaloes (2-1) from being shut out for the first time in nearly two decades.

Sinorice Moss had 111 yards receiving, including a 53-yard touchdown catch, for the Hurricanes (2-1) who got three field goals from Jon Peattie, then a 2-yard scoring run by Wright with 8:44 left. Quadtrine Hill and Tyrone Moss combined for 99 yards rushing for Miami, which got 12 tackles and an interception from safety Brandon Meriweather, plus another interception from Marcus Maxey. The Hurricanes nearly added a defensive touchdown with 1:30 left when Kareem Brown recovered a fumble and lateraled to Leon Williams for a score - but the play was called back by a penalty.

Joel Klatt completed 25 of 42 passes for 228 yards for Colorado, which got 82 yards rushing from Hugh Charles. The Buffaloes were 5-for-18 on third-down chances, collected a good chunk of their 331 yards in the fourth quarter with many Miami starters resting, and were penalized 16 times for 104 yards.

Peattie opened the scoring with a 34-yard field goal midway through the first quarter, and Maxey's interception helped double the lead; it set up a 20-yard field goal by Peattie 11:12 before halftime. Colorado went three-and-out on its next possession, and Miami pounced shortly afterward when Wright hit Sinorice Moss with a long scoring strike down the right sideline.

Wright never was sacked, after 14 sacks in Miami's first two games. He completed 20 of 39 passes before being replaced late by Kirby Freeman.

GAME 4 - (9) MIAMI 27, SOUTH FLORIDA 7 SATURDAY, OCTOBER 1, 2005 ORANGE BOWL

Tyrone Moss matched a career-high with three touchdowns and No. 9 Miami ended South Florida's hopes of springing a second straight upset with a 27-7 win on Saturday. Moss ran for 89 yards and had scoring runs of 1 and 19 yards in the first quarter, when Miami (3-1) took advantage of three South Florida turnovers to build an early 17-0 lead.

Miami scored on four of its first five possessions, then didn't add to the total until Moss' 1-yard, fourth-down plunge with 8:25 left. South Florida avoided the shutout - which would have been the first in its 93-game history - with 5:56 left, when Johnny Peyton caught a 14-yard touchdown pass from Pat Julmiste.

The teams combined for nine turnovers, with South Florida having all five of its giveaways before halftime.

USF (3-2) finished with a season-low 174 total yards, more than half of them in the fourth quarter with the outcome long decided. Andre Hall, who came in averaging 117 yards per game managed 53 yards on 19 carries.

Kyle Wright completed 13 of 26 for 173 yards for the Hurricanes. Lovon Ponder had two of Miami's four interceptions, with Devin Hester and Brandon Meriweather each picking off a pass. Julmiste completed 8 of 25 passes for 47 yards and three interceptions for South Florida.

The entire first quarter - sans four Miami kickoffs and Ponder's first interception near the midfield stripe - was played in South Florida territory. The Bulls never penetrated their own 40, and fumbled the ball away on the one play that had taking them that far.

South Florida crossed midfield for the first time with 2:48 left in the half. By then, the margin was 20-0 - and could easily have been worse, if not for two Miami turnovers.

GAME 5 - (9) MIAMI 52, DUKE 7 SATURDAY, OCTOBER 8, 2005 ORANGE BOWL

Kyle Wright threw for three touchdowns in a 5-minute span of the second quarter, helping No. 9 Miami shake off a slow start and overwhelm Duke 52-7 on Saturday. Tyrone Moss ran for 82 yards and a pair of touchdowns - his third multi-score game in four weeks - for Miami, which established season-highs for points and yards. Ryan Moore made a career-high seven catches for 87 yards and a touchdown for Miami (4-1, 2-1 Atlantic Coast Conference), winners of four straight.

Wright completed 18 of 31 passes for 255 yards, with three touchdowns and two interceptions before being replaced midway through the third quarter by Kirby Freeman, who threw for 47 yards and the first two touchdowns of his career.

Ronnie Drummer had an 81-yard touchdown run early in the third quarter for Duke (1-5, 0-3), which was outgained 557-128. Freshman quarterback Zack Asack was 4-of-15 for eight yards passing, and he carried the ball 16 times for 6 yards. Chris Davis made two interceptions, one on a deep pass ending the first half, for Duke - which managed only five first downs, the fewest yielded by Miami since 1999.

The Hurricanes built a 31-0 halftime lead, their four touchdown drives totaling eight plays. Tyrone Moss' 7-yard run opened the scoring one play after Kelly Jennings caused a fumble deep in Duke territory. Lance Leggett's 29-yard touchdown catch was three plays after Willie Williams tackled Duke's Marcus Jones on a fake-punt try, and Devin Hester had two big punt returns to set up a pair of two-play touchdown drives - Greg Olsen and Sinorice Moss making those catches.

Leggett's touchdown catch came 6:37 before halftime; in the next 4:23, Olsen and Sinorice Moss also made touchdown catches, eliminating all doubt.

Hester returned four punts for 101 yards for Miami, but did not play in the second half due to cramps.

GAME 6 - (7) MIAMI 34, TEMPLE 3 SATURDAY, OCTOBER 15, 2005 LINCOLN FINANCIAL FIELD

Kyle Wright threw four touchdown passes in the first 19 minutes, leading No. 7 Miami to a 34-3 victory against Temple on Saturday. The Hurricanes (5-1) completely outclassed Temple (0-7), jumping out to a 27-0 lead in the first quarter.

Wright completed 9-of-10 passes for 196 yards, before giving way to Kirby Freeman late in the second quarter. Sinorice Moss had three catches for 122 yards, including a 92-yard TD pass on Miami's second offensive play. Devin Hester returned a punt 48 yards for a TD.

Since surviving a triple-overtime test at Clemson in the season's second week, the Hurricanes have won their last four games by a combined 136-20 margin.

The Hurricanes went ahead 7-0 after Moss caught a swing pass from Wright and sprinted down the left sideline for a 92-yard score, the second-longest touchdown pass in school history. Gino Torretta threw a 99-yard TD pass to Horace Copeland in a game against Arkansas in 1991.

After a 5-yard punt by Mike McLaughlin gave Miami the ball at Temple's 34, Wright connected with Greg Olsen on a 21-yard TD pass to make it 13-0. Jon Peattie missed the extra point, snapping a string of 131 successful conversions for Miami dating to 2002.

McLaughlin's next punt traveled 31 yards, but Hester took it 48 yards to the end zone for his fourth career punt return for a TD. Hester caught the ball and started to his right, stopped and went back to his left, eluded a tackler, turned around and sprinted down the right sideline. Wright threw an 8-yard TD pass to Olsen and a 20-yard scoring strike to Ryan Moore to put Miami ahead 34-0.

Ryan Lux missed a 53-yard field goal wide right for Temple, but connected on a 40-yarder minutes later for the Owls' only score with 1:01 left in the first half. The announced crowd of 23,129 for homecoming was Temple's largest of the season, though there were more orange shirts than cherry and white ones at Lincoln Financial Field - home of the Philadelphia Eagles.

GAME 7 - (6) MIAMI 34, NORTH CAROLINA 16 SATURDAY, OCTOBER 29, 2005 ORANGE BOWL

Tyrone Moss rushed for career highs of 195 yards and four touchdowns, three scores after halftime as No. 6 Miami pulled away to beat North Carolina 34-16 on Saturday.

The Hurricanes trailed 16-7 at intermission, then scored three touchdowns in an eight-minute span of the third quarter to take control, setting up a showdown with unbeaten Virginia Tech next Saturday for control of the Atlantic Coast Conference's Coastal Division.

Moss scored on a 1-yard run in the first quarter, then added second-half scoring runs of 1, 4 and 15 yards to ensure Miami (6-1, 3-1) wouldn't be upset by North Carolina for the second straight year. Quadtrine Hill recovered a punt he blocked in the end zone for the go-ahead score for Miami, which won its sixth straight. Miami's defense, which entered ranked No. 1 nationally but yielded 170 first-half yards, kept the Tar Heels to 18 total yards on 33 plays after halftime - 14 of those yards coming in the final minute.

Ronnie McGill rushed for 66 yards - he had 67 at halftime - and both touchdowns for North Carolina (3-4, 2-2). Trimane Goddard had two interceptions for North Carolina, which held Wright to 111 yards on 11-of-16 passing.

The Hurricanes wore circa-1967, Kelly green-and-gold throwback uniforms. In the first half, literally and figuratively, they looked nothing like their usual selves. North Carolina ran for 117 yards by halftime, with McGill opening the scoring on a 1-yard run. Moss' 1-yard run tied the score at 7, but Carolina reclaimed the lead on a bizarre play.

Facing a third-and-5 from the Miami 35, Hurricanes center Anthony Wollschlager snapped the ball over Wright's head. It squirmed back inside the 5 and was intentionally kicked out of the end zone by Miami left tackle Eric Winston - potentially saving a touchdown, but giving the Tar Heels a safety and a 9-7 lead. The Heels eventually got their touchdown anyhow. On the ensuing drive, McGill scored from 7 yards, ending an easy eight-play, 50-yard drive to give his team a 16-7 advantage.

But from there, it was all Miami, which played its first home game since Hurricane Wilma struck, and storm reminders were everywhere at the Orange Bowl. Miami's ring of honor, bolted to the steel-faced second deck on the north side, was loosened by wind and removed. Some light towers had bulbs blown away, a few sections were cordoned off because of damage, and the scoreboard screen showing the visitors' total was gone. Plus, the upper deck was emptied in the second quarter, with a few thousand fans moved to the lower bowl as a precaution because of gusty winds.

GAME 8 - (5) MIAMI 27, (3) VIRGINIA TECH 7 SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 2005 LANE STADIUM

Miami swaggered into Virginia Tech as underdogs and took a huge bite out of the Hokies' national title hopes. The fifth-ranked Hurricanes put the clamps on Marcus Vick, forcing him into six turnovers, and blew the Hokies right out of the national title picture with a stunning 27-7 victory on Saturday night.

Virginia Tech was in third place behind Southern California and Texas in the BCS standings, with designs on making a late-season run to the Rose Bowl. Instead, Miami (7-1, 4-1) helped clear the clutter at the top of the BCS and ensure that Virginia Tech won't be this season's Auburn - perfect but left out of the national title game.

"We played with a chip on our shoulder," said Miami quarterback Kyle Wright, who passed for 146 yards and a touchdown, despite being shaken up in the first half and missing most of the second quarter. "I've been saying it for the whole week down there, if we come out and play they way we should, I didn't think they could play with us."

Rocky McIntosh led the charge for Miami's defense with 10 tackles, two sacks and a fumble recovery. Pinned deep in their own territory late in the third quarter, the Hokies couldn't hold out the Miami rush and Vick was swarmed under by Javon Nanton and company. The ball squirted loose and Kareem Brown jumped on it in the end zone to give Miami a 27-0 lead.

Vick finished 8-for-22 for 90 yards against the top-ranked defense in the country. Vick ran for a 2-yard TD in the fourth quarter, to keep the Hokies from being shut out for the first time since 1995. Miami allowed 167 total yards, the fifth straight game the 'Canes have held an opponent under 200, and had four sacks.

Offensively, Wright and Miami were efficient and opportunistic. Wright was 13-for-22 with an interception and a 9-yard TD pass to Darnell Jenkins in the third quarter after the Hurricanes recovered a fumbled snap by Vick. Charlie Jones ran for 97 yards and a touchdown and the Hurricanes put up more points against the No. 1 scoring defense in the country than the last three ACC opponents combined.

The Hurricanes took the crowd out of it early Saturday night with the type of defensive plays Virginia Tech usually relies on to overwhelm opponents. The first strike came from Thomas Carroll, who came off the blind side to strip the ball from Vick in the first quarter and Miami recovered at the Virginia Tech 29. The Hokies limited the damage to a 27-yard field goal by Jon Peattie. Miami made it 10-0 in the second quarter, putting together a 17-play, 82-yard drive that was aided by a personal foul called on Hokies defensive end Darryl Tapp, and capped off when Jones blasted into the end zone on a fourth-and-goal from the 1.

The Hurricanes lost leading rusher Tyrone Moss for the game to a sprained knee on the drive and Wright was also knocked out of action on the helmet-to-helmet hit by Tapp. Wright played the entire second half and the first-year starter helped Miami snap Virginia Tech's 11-game ACC winning streak and 16-game streak in regular-season games.

GAME 9 - (3) MIAMI 47, WAKE FOREST 17 SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 2005 GROVES STADIUMS

Kyle Wright tied a school record with five touchdown passes, Charlie Jones ran for two more scores and No. 3 Miami stayed on track for a spot in the first Atlantic Coast Conference championship game by beating Wake Forest 47-17 Saturday.

A week after a victory at Virginia Tech, the Hurricanes (8-1, 5-1 ACC) used a quick-strike offense to avoid a letdown in their first visit to Groves Stadium since 1971. Miami piled up 515 yards of offense.

Wright finished 17-for-27 for 319 yards and Jones rushed for 90 more, but it was n't quite as easy as the final margin indicated. The Demon Deacons (4-7, 3-5) completed their third straight losing season with an inspired effort, taking a 17-14 lead late in the second quarter on a 7-yard run by Chris Barclay.

Wright responded on the third play of the ensuing possession with his first TD toss, waiting patiently in the pocket for Sinorice Moss to break open in the middle of Wake Forest's zone. The pass led Moss perfectly and he outran the secondary untouched for a 64-yard score to give the Hurricanes the lead for good, even though Jon Peattie's extra-point bounced off the left upright. An interception by Kelly Jennings - the first of six turnovers for the Deacons - set up Miami again, and Wright needed four plays to drive his team 28 yards. A wide receiver screen to Darnell Jenkins covered the final 11 and made it 27-17.

Barclay fumbled on the first play following the kickoff and Wright connected with Ryan Moore for a 15-yard touchdown to complete the scoring binge, giving the Hurricanes a 34-17 halftime lead. Each of those three scoring drives took less than 60 seconds.

The third quarter was more of the same. Wright completely fooled Wake Forest by faking a screen to Jenkins, and Lance Leggett got behind the defense to haul in another beautiful pass for a 76-yard score. Wright got his fifth TD pass with a 10-yarder to tight end Greg Olsen, tying the mark set by Ken Dorsey, Steve Walsh, Bernie Kosar and Brock Berlin.

GAME 10 - GEORGIA TECH 14, (3) MIAMI 10 SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 2005 ORANGE BOWL

Georgia Tech sacked Kyle Wright seven times, took advantage of key penalties on two touchdown drives and made a pair of late defensive stands to upset the third-ranked Miami Hurricanes 14-10 Saturday night.

The Yellow Jackets blitzed on virtually every play to stymie Wright. After throwing touchdown passes to five receivers a week ago against Wake Forest, he managed only one scoring pass and went 14-for-31 for 207 yards.

KaMichael Hall sacked Wright twice and made a fourth-down stop to end a Miami threat midway through the fourth quarter. Wright moved the Hurricanes 62 yards to the Georgia Tech 27 with 1:46 left before he was intercepted by Dennis Davis, and the Yellow Jackets ran out the clock.

The Hurricanes (8-2, 5-2 Atlantic Coast Conference) lost for the first time since their season opener at Florida State.

Georgia Tech mounted touchdown marches of 68 and 61 yards against the nation's No. 1-ranked defense, and Miami penalties contributed to both drives.

Interference on Marcus Maxey negated an interception in the end zone three plays before Tashard Choice scored the game's first points on a 2-yard touchdown run. A penalty for excessive celebration led to the Yellow Jackets' other score on a 16-yard keeper by Reggie Ball.

GAME 11 - (10) MIAMI 25, VIRGINIA 17 SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 2005 ORANGE BOWL

Kyle Wright threw for 248 yards and the go-ahead score, then scampered a career-long 31 yards to set up the final touchdown as No. 10 Miami beat Virginia 25-17 on Saturday.

Charlie Jones ran for 88 yards and two touchdowns for Miami and Wright completed 23 of 30 passes, including a 17-yard touchdown to Sinorice Moss that put the Hurricanes (9-2, 6-2) ahead for good. His long run on third-and-2 with 1:58 left set up Jones' 1-yard run that sealed Miami's fifth regular season with at least nine wins in the past six years.

Deyon Williams had a pair of touchdown catches for Virginia (6-5, 3-5), including a 6-yarder from Marques Hagans with 27 seconds remaining. Williams also caught a 90-yard scoring pass from wide receiver Emmanuel Byers in the first quarter - the longest pass allowed in Miami history.

Quadrine Hill caught a career-high seven passes for 43 yards for Miami.

Trailing by eight late in the fourth quarter, Virginia drove 59 yards with Hagans completing five of his first six passes. But facing a fourth-and-6 and with 4:04 left, Hagans' pass was too high for Williams - and Miami took over on downs. That set up Jones' second touchdown, and ensured that Miami's seniors would leave the Orange Bowl winners in their final home game.

Jon Peattie's 40-yard field goal opened the scoring midway through the first quarter, but Virginia's trickery silenced the half-full Orange Bowl. Byers took a handoff from Hagans, sprinted right - and threw to Williams, who outran Miami cornerback Marcus Maxey to the end zone. The Cavaliers forced a punt on Miami's next possession, then went up 10-3 with 13:26 left in the half on Connor Hughes' 24-yard field goal.

But the Hurricanes rallied and led 15-10 at halftime. Wright was 4-for-5 for 56 yards on a drive where Jones ran in from 4 yards out to get Miami within 10-9.

After Devin Hester's 23-yard punt return gave Miami the ball at Virginia's 37 with 1:52 left in the half, Moss - one of 18 Miami seniors playing their home finales - took a short pass from Wright, broke a tackle and went 17 yards for his team-leading sixth touchdown catch of the year and a 15-10 lead.

GAME 12 - (10) LOUISIANA STATE 40, (9) MIAMI 3 FRIDAY, DECEMBER 30, 2005 GEORGIA DOME - CHICK-FIL-A PEACH BOWL

Making his first career start, Matt Flynn threw for two touchdowns as No. 10 Louisiana State defeated No. 9 Miami, 40-3 in the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl.

Flynn spearheaded a 17-point outburst in the second quarter with touchdown passes of 51 yards to Craig Davis and four yards to running back Joseph Addai that gave the Tigers (11-2) an 20-3 advantage at the break. He completed 13-of-22 passes for 196 yards without a turnover. With Flynn directing the offense, LSU rolled up 301 yards in the first half.

The Hurricanes suffered their worst bowl loss in their illustrious history, surpassing a 29-0 defeat to Arizona in the Fiesta Bowl in 1994. They finished the 2005 season with a 9-3 record.

On Miami's first possession, Devon Hester lined up at tailback and receiver and also took a direct snap at quarterback. Hester had two catches for 40 yards and six carries for 24 yards. Hester had a 24-yard run on the possession to set up a field goal. But overall, the junior and the Hurricanes were contained.

Miami's Kyle Wright completed 10-of-21 passes for 100 yards.

Jon Peattie kicked a 21-yard field goal to open the scoring in the first quarter for Miami, which lost just its second bowl in its last nine contests.

George Mira. Jim Kelly. Bernie Kosar. Fran Curci. Vinny Testaverde. Steve Walsh. Craig Erickson. Gino Torretta. Ken Dorsey.

Those names need no further explanation: it's undeniable. Miami is the nation's most proven producer of top quarterbacks. It's been evident for decades.

Quarterbacks excel in Miami's balanced pro-style offense. And they not only produce because of the system, they enter the professional ranks more prepared because of it. From Curci to Dorsey, a span of almost 50 years, Miami has consistently produced quarterbacks who have moved on to the next level and succeeded.

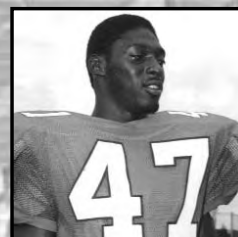

Jim Kelly's 2002 induction into the Pro Football Hall of Fame was the latest testament to the excellence of Miami's quarterbacks through the years.

Two Heisman Trophy winners. Three Maxwell Award winners. Two Davey O'Brien Award winners. Two Johnny Unitas Golden Arm Award winners. Five national championships. Those accomplishments only begin to tell the success stories quarterbacks have experienced at the University of Miami.

Running Backs

The great running backs want the ball when the game is on the line. At Miami, running backs get the chance to shine with the nation watching. Their exploits draw the attention of the college football world. Miami's balanced offensive philosophy places an emphasis on spreading the wealth. The running backs get their chance to make a difference.

While the Miami passing game has deservedly developed a national reputation over the last 25 years, it's the running game that has been the key when the Hurricanes have reached the pinnacle of the sport. Miami has produced 1,000-yard rushers six times in the last 11 seasons.

Running behind an offensive line that traditionally ranks among college football's best, Miami running backs have averaged almost 5.5 yards per carry over the span of the last 10 seasons.

The success of Miami's running backs hasn't been lost on NFL scouts as 37 Hurricanes backs have been drafted by professional teams, including 15 since 1984. Miami backs have been first-round selections in the NFL draft 10 times.

In 2002, Willis McGahee burst on the national scene by becoming only the fifth running back in college football history to rush for more than 1,500 yards and score more than 25 touchdowns in the same season on the way to consensus first-team All-America honors and a fourth-place finish in the voting for the Heisman Trophy.

Clinton Portis (second-round draft choice of Denver, 2002) went on to earn 2002 AFC Rookie of the Year honors by The Sporting News and Sports Illustrated and NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year by the Associated Press. Willis McGahee was a first-round draft choice of the Buffalo Bills in 2003. Both are now considered among the top runners in the NFL.

In 2006, four Hurricanes are expected to start at running back for their NFL teams: McGahee in Buffalo, Portis in Washington, Edgerrin James in Arizona and Frank Gore in San Francisco. No other college can match the running backs that Miami has sent on to the NFL in recent years.

Names that bring to mind big-play makers. Names that have enriched the history of Miami football.

Few schools can match Miami's rich heritage of outstanding receivers. As a tight end or split out wide, Miami receivers flourish in the Hurricanes' offense before taking their talents to the next level. Pro scouts know that Miami produces pass receivers of the highest order. The latest crop of talented receivers includes six first-round NFL draft choices at wide receiver or tight end over the last six years alone. And that's just a hint of the success Hurricanes pass catchers have achieved over the years.

Thirty-five Hurricanes wide receivers have been NFL draft picks, including seven first-round draft choices. Eleven Miami tight ends have been drafted by NFL teams, including three first-round selections since 2000. Three UM receivers have earned All-America honors. Three Hurricanes tight ends have been named All-America. Miami's balanced offense is built around spreading the wealth. Everyone gets their chance to shine. And every receiver is put in the position to make big plays in the big games.

Miami's most recent star receiver was split end Andre Johnson, a 2003 first-round draft pick who became only the second receiver in Miami history to garner more than 1,000 yards receiving in a single season. Johnson was named to the Pro Bowl in 2004 and 2005.

The current crop of Hurricanes features tight end Greg Olsen and wide receivers Ryan Moore and Lance Leggett. All are players to watch in 2006.

Offensive Line

The guys in the trenches make all the glitz and glamour of Miami's spectacular offensive success possible, and the Hurricanes consistently have one of college football's finest offensive lines. They make the Miami offensive machine go. The little school in Coral Gables has been an assembly line for offensive linemen for 60 years. But never has it been as productive as in recent seasons.

Miami's offensive lines in this decade rank among the best ever assembled. Over the span of the last six seasons, the offensive line made way for a 64-10 record while allowing a phenomenally low number of sacks. In fact, the starting unit allowed just eight sacks in 2002, three sacks in 2001 and only two during the 2000 season. Spearheading the unit was a pair of two-time All-America tackles in Bryant McKinnie and Joaquin Gonzalez and an All-America center in Brett Romberg. McKinnie became the first Miami player to win the coveted Outland Trophy in 2001. In 2002, Romberg won the Dave Rimington Award as college football's best center.

The latest All-American was Eric Winston in 2005. A tight end who was converted to offensive tackle. Winston came back from a serious knee injury to become one of college football's top linemen in 2005.

Miami's recent offensive lines have set a new standard of excellence for others to follow. But those Hurricanes were already following a rich tradition of Hurricanes linemen that dates back to the 1940s. More than 40 Hurricanes offensive linemen have been drafted, including four first-round selections. McKinney, Bibla and Gonzalez were chosen in the 2002 NFL draft; Vernon Carey was a first-round choice in 2004; Chris Myers was selected in 2005; and Eric Winston was drafted in 2006. Since 1983, 17 Hurricanes offensive linemen have been selected in the NFL draft.

For a long time now, "Quarterback U." has been making a name for itself on another front: The Defensive Front.

The list of Hurricanes defensive linemen to move on to the NFL grew in the spring of 2004 with the selection of Vince Wilfork in the first round.

Miami's defensive line has produced an Outland Trophy winner (Russell Maryland, 1990); a Lombardi Award winner (Warren Sapp, 1994); a Knute Rockne Award winner (Ted Hendricks, 1968); nine All-Americans since 1986 and 24 All-Americans overall. Miami has also produced three other Outland Trophy finalists, three other Lombardi Award finalists, one Hendricks Award finalist, and even a Heisman Trophy finalist (Sapp, who placed sixth in the voting in 1994).

NFL teams recognize the depth of the Hurricanes' defensive line talent, as 62 Miami defensive linemen have gone on to pro camps. Since 1986, Miami's defensive front has produced 11 first-round NFL draft picks, three second-round picks and four third-round picks. In fact, in the past 21 years (1986-2006) 35 Hurricane defensive linemen have either been drafted or signed to pro football contracts.

All-Time: 24 All-American selections (21 individuals)
58 NFL draft picks

Since 1986: 9 All-Americans. 1 Lombardi Award winner.
2 Lombardi Finalists. 1 Outland Trophy winner.
3 Outland Finalists. 10 first-round NFL draft choices.

If you're a big-time defensive lineman, Miami's your place.

Linebackers

Several schools tout themselves as "Linebacker U." While many schools can make a good argument, there's no disputing the record of success University of Miami linebackers have built.

Since 1982, 19 Miami linebackers have been NFL draft picks, including first-round choices Ray Lewis (1996), Dan Morgan (2001), Jonathan Vilma (2004) and D.J. Williams (2004). Four times Miami linebackers have been finalists for the prestigious Butkus Award, with Morgan winning the coveted trophy in 2000 as part of a season in which the star middle linebacker swept all three major defensive awards (Butkus, Bednarik and Nagurski awards).

Miami has long been known for its great quarterbacks, but the Hurricanes' sustained success over the years has had just as much to do with outstanding defensive play as with the excellence of its offense. The school known as "Quarterback U" in football circles actually has an even stronger tradition of producing top linebackers.

This has been particularly evident over the last 25 years, as eight first-team All-America linebackers have come from Miami and 19 Hurricanes linebackers have been taken in the NFL draft since 1982, including four first-round draftees. The latest top draft choice was Rocky McIntosh, who was selected by the Washington Redskins in the second round of the 2006 draft.

Miami linebackers have been at the forefront of the evolution of college defenses from large, pounding squads into disruptive units built around speed, pressure and opportunism.

Miami's defensive philosophy has been built around an attacking defense making game-changing plays, and a key to that approach has been recruiting the finest athletes to play in the secondary and turning them loose to make those big plays. The Hurricanes have been a consistent producer of big-time defensive backs, players who have thrived in Miami's aggressive 4-3 defense for decades. Twelve Hurricanes defensive backs have earned All-America status, but many others have compiled standout college performances that have led to productive NFL careers.

Tom Beier in 1966 was Miami's first defensive back All-American of the modern era, but Beier was just the start of a trend that continues to the present day. Such players as former NFL great Burgess Owens (1970-72), Fred Marion (1978-81), 1987 Thorpe Award winner Bennie Blades (1984-87) and Ryan McNeil (1989-92) also have flourished at UM. The 2001 secondary may rank among the finest in collegiate history, as all four starters – safeties Edward Reed and James Lewis and cornerbacks Mike Rumph and Phillip Buchanon – were selected in the 2002 NFL draft. Buchanon, Reed and Rumph were taken in the first round. To top it off, reserve cornerback Markese Fitzgerald was signed to a free agent contract by Tampa Bay, as an amazing five Hurricanes DBs from 2001 made NFL rosters. In 2004, UM sent touted free safety Sean Taylor to the Washington Redskins with the fifth pick of the draft, and last year saw Antrel Rolle get selected in the first round by the Arizona Cardinals. In 2006, three Miami cornerbacks were drafted: Kelly Jennings (first round, Seattle), Devin Hester (second round, Chicago), and Marcus Maxey (fifth round, Kansas City).

The Miami defensive scheme creates a harvest of opportunities for defensive backs with a ball-hawking mentality. The Hurricanes have a proven tradition of attracting the best and preparing them for collegiate championships and a chance in the NFL. The record speaks for itself. A whopping 39 professional draftees, including 23 since 1988 – more than one draft choice per year -- and 10 first-round NFL draft picks. At least two Miami defensive backs have been chosen in the same draft a total of eight times.

For defensive backs, Miami is the pathway to greatness. In 2006, Bennie Blades was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame. And current Hurricanes Brandon Meriweather and Kenny Phillips are on their way to joining UM's illustrious group.

Game-breaking punt returns. Game-changing blocked kicks. Big plays that turn games – and seasons – around. Outstanding special teams play has become as much of a tradition at the University of Miami as winning national championships.

Since 1995, the Hurricanes have blocked 48 kicks or punts. Over the last five seasons, Miami has returned punts for touchdowns a whopping 17 times!

Some of the greatest return men in college football history have plied their skills at Miami: Phillip Buchanon, Santana Moss, Daryl Jones, Kevin Williams, Wesley Carroll, Darryl Spencer, Tremain Mack, Roscoe Parrish, Randal Hill and Devin Hester. The Hurricanes annually rank among the nation's best in kickoff returns and punt returns.

Hester is the latest Miami kick returner to go to the NFL, and the second-round draft choice of the Chicago Bears is expected to make an immediate impact in the NFL after scoring six touchdowns on kick returns while at Miami.

Several names that rank among the finest placekickers in college history played for the Hurricanes: Carlos Huerta, Greg Cox, Danny Miller, Dane Prewitt, and 2001 All-American Todd Sievers.

No small factor in the success of the Hurricanes has been consistent excellence at punter. Players such as Rick Tuten, Jeff Feagles, Pat Barrett, Harry Ghaul and Freddie Capshaw have established a tradition of a punting game that can pin opponents deep and allows for the Hurricanes defense to set up scoring opportunities for the offense.

Simply put, the Miami Hurricanes place an emphasis on the kicking and return game, and the results bear that out.

Walk-On Wonders

1991 All-American placekicker
Carlos Huerta

1983 National Champion
Albert Bentley

The University of Miami is the ideal place for football players to walk on and become an integral part of a team. Many walk-ons go on to eventually earn athletic scholarships, but all have the opportunity to become a part of a football program rich in tradition while attending an educational institution with an outstanding reputation for higher learning. Beginning in the early 1980s, when the Hurricanes began their run of five national championships, and continuing under head coach Larry Coker, walk-ons have played a part in the program's success.

Carlos Huerta (1988-91) is just one of the numerous former UM walk-ons to garner honors at the college level and move on to pro football. Huerta, the starting placekicker on UM's 1991 national championship team, emerged as a walk-on to become a consensus All-American. Huerta, who later played with the San Diego Chargers and the Chicago Bears, established an NCAA record with 157 consecutive extra points during his four-year career. He ranks second on the NCAA's all-time scoring list with 397 career points, including 73 field goals.

In 1998, walk-on offensive lineman Joaquin Gonzalez was placed on scholarship. Gonzalez, who had an academic scholarship to attend UM, went on to become the first offensive lineman in Big East history to be named Rookie of the Year. Aside from earning Big East All-Academic honors four times in his career, Gonzalez was named a first-team All-America by the Football Writers Association in 2000 and 2001, and was the 2001 Draddy Award winner (the Academic Heisman) recognizing college football's top student-athlete.

A recent walk-on who earned a scholarship was defensive end Javon Nanton, who came to the University of Miami as a track athlete. His speed and quickness allowed him to develop into an outstanding pass rusher. Nanton recorded a team-high eight sacks as a sophomore in 2003, and he led the team in sacks again in 2005. Nanton is now with the Oakland Raiders.

"Walk-ons are an integral part of the Miami Hurricanes football program," commented head coach Larry Coker. "The University of Miami has always welcomed walk-ons and we will continue that tradition. Our commitment goes beyond simply welcoming them to the team. Whenever possible we will hold a scholarship and offer it to a walk-on who has contributed to the program, both on and off the field."

Transfer Success

Each year, the University of Miami football program looks to junior colleges across the country in search of veteran players ready to step into key roles with the Hurricanes. Nearly every season since 1980, a junior college graduate has lined up for the Hurricanes. Whether being recruited or walking on, a scholarship can be obtained for those junior college players displaying the necessary skills to play at the University of Miami.

"Miami has a rich tradition of finding junior college players who have helped win championships," says head coach Larry Coker. "We will continue to find quality players at the junior college level across America."

From the days in the early 1980s, when the Hurricanes claimed their first of five national championships, junior college players have been important members of UM teams.

The Larry Coker era continues the tradition of JUCO success at Miami. Defensive end Jerome McDougle earned first-team All-America honors in 2002 and was a finalist for the Ted Hendricks Defensive End Award after coming to Miami from Hinds (Miss.) Junior College. Tight end Jeremy Shockey, who earned All-America honors in 2001, was the 14th overall pick in the 2002 NFL draft. Offensive tackle Bryant McKinnie signed with UM in 1999 and earned the 2001 Outland Trophy before being the seventh player taken in the 2002 NFL draft.

The last few years have seen two top tight ends transfer to Miami. Kevin Everett was a third-round draft choice of the Buffalo Bills in the 2005 NFL draft. And this year's starting tight end, Greg Olsen, transferred from Notre Dame.

A list of the greatest football players in Miami history closely resembles a listing of UM track and field greats. That's not just a coincidence. At Miami, the dual-sport athlete is appreciated and coveted.

Miami football players have proven themselves as forces to be reckoned with in track and field. In 13 seasons of Big East competition, UM grid-ders won 31 conference titles, including 12 indoor titles and 19 outdoor titles while setting four conference records. Miami football players still hold seven UM indoor records and eight UM outdoor marks in the Big East. Now in the Atlantic Coast Conference, UM football players, led by wide receiver Lance Leggett, have proved strong contenders in both the ACC indoor and outdoor championships.

Hurricanes football players have asserted dominance in track since Bennie Blades set the UM indoor record in the 300 meters in 1985. UM's first football/track superstar was All-American receiver Horace Copeland, the 1992 Big East Most Outstanding Performer after winning the long jump, 100-meters, and 4x100-meter relay at the conference meet. He went on to become the first UM track athlete to earn All-America honors.

All-American wide receiver Santana Moss became the second Hurricane to be named Big East Most Outstanding Field Performer after winning both the long jump and the triple jump at the 2000 outdoor meet. Also in 2000, Aaron Moser won his third consecutive decathlon title and went on to become the second Miami football player to earn All-America honors in track and field.

In recent years, All-America safety Ed Reed won the 1999 Big East title in the javelin, receiver Andre Johnson won 2002 titles in the indoor 60 meters and the outdoor 100-meter dash, and current wide receiver Terrell Walden won the 2003 Big East indoor 60-meter dash title and the outdoor 100 crown. At the 2004 indoor championships, wide receiver Devin Hester won the long jump and defensive back Tanard Davis captured the 60-meter title.

In 2006, wide receiver Lance Leggett was the ACC 400-meter outdoor hurdles champion, and he placed second in the 110-meter hurdles. In the ACC Indoor Championships, Leggett was also second in the ACC indoor 60-meter hurdles.

At the University of Miami, our student-athletes, coaches and staff take great pride in giving back to the community. The Hurricanes are dedicated to the improvement of our community with a special focus on the children of South Florida. Through volunteerism, student-athletes have the opportunity to serve the community and be positive role models to youth.

As an educational institution, we want to instill the importance of education and hard work into our youth through examples of leadership and dedication to our community and its members.

Through community service projects, student-athlete and staff appearances, contributions and fundraising events, it is our goal to build a partnership with our community that will assist us in our goal of enhancing the quality of life for South Florida's youth.

The University of Miami has a number of different programs for student-athletes to become involved. The following is a list of community programs and events that the Hurricanes have contributed their time and service to:

Hurricanes Speakers Bureau: Student-athletes, coaches and staff take time to speak to groups about developing a positive, winning lifestyle.

5000 Role Models: The project's goal is to have student-athletes and athletic department staff members intervene in the lives of at-risk boys to provide them with alternatives that will lead them away from crime and violence.

Join-a-Team, Not-a-Gang: Its purpose is to encourage area youth to seek positive alternatives to gangs.

Red Ribbon Week: An annual week-long event where student-athletes make appearances at local schools and organizations to educate children on the importance of staying drug free.

Hurricane Helmet Helpers: Area youngsters are given the opportunity to greet Hurricanes players and serve as a personal attendant.

Thanksgiving Dinner Delivery: Student-athletes deliver Thanksgiving dinners, donated by Sysco Food Services, to needy organizations.

Future Canes Program: Exposes at-risk youth, disabled persons and disadvantaged children to a university atmosphere and Hurricane athletic events.

Canes on Patrol: Student-athletes are given an inside look at police work riding with Broward County Sheriffs and assisting in their patrols.

The University of Miami is committed to a program that provides educational experience and services in order to develop well-balanced lifestyles for student-athletes; encourage growth in decision making, planning and fulfillment of career and life goals; and to enhance the quality of the student-athlete experience. In the process of achieving this mission, the Life Skills Program will:

- Support the efforts of every student-athlete toward graduation
- Use athletics as a preparation for success in life
- Meet the changing needs of student-athletes
- Enhance interpersonal relationships in the lives of student athletes
- Assist student-athletes to build self esteem
- Enable student-athletes to make meaningful contributions to their communities

Athletic Department staff work closely with the University's Counseling Center, Health Center, Wellness Center, Dean of Students and Volunteer Services to provide services for our student-athletes. We also use numerous resources from the South Florida Community for our programming. The Personal Development Component of our Life Skills Program provides student-athletes opportunities to focus on personal growth and developing healthy lifestyles.

"The Office of Athletic Academic Services is committed to preparing our Hurricanes for life after athletics. Our comprehensive program enriches the educational experience of all student-athletes so they are able to perform at their highest level. We mentor aspiring individuals who are ready to compete outside of athletics after graduation."

— David Wyman (M.S.), Director of Academic Services

"My four years at UM have been great. Though I have received numerous athletic accolades, nothing compares to the achievement of graduating as a double major in a finance and management. I am proud to say that the UM Athletic Academic Services office helped me to develop and mature as a student and a person. I am now ready to take advantage of all my professional opportunities."

87% Academic Success

The University of Miami is committed to producing the complete student-athlete. It is a commitment with a tradition that predates even the Hurricanes' first football National Championship in 1983. It's a commitment that is nationally recognized by Miami's peers in the world of college athletics.

- In 2005, recorded an 87 percent NCAA Football Graduation Rate.

Recognition by the American Football Coaches Association for exceeding a 70 percent graduation rate among its football student-athletes in nine out of 15 years. The Hurricanes have exceeded the national graduation rate for AFCA member schools 13 out of 15 years.

- From 1992 to 1997, UM was one of only eight schools to graduate at least 70 percent of its football student-athletes.
- The 2004 AFCA graduation rate is 84.2 percent; the national average was 58 percent.
- Since the AFCA began, Miami has graduated 70.52 percent of its football student-athletes.

THE 2006 FOOTBALL SENIORS

The 2006 football team will include 13 student-athletes in their senior seasons of eligibility. Seven have earned their degrees and three will graduate in December 2006. The remaining three will complete their requirements in Spring 2007.

THE 2005 FOOTBALL SENIORS

The 2005 football team included 16 student-athletes in their final season of eligibility. Ten players had already graduated, five others graduated at the end of the 2005 season, and one graduated in Spring 2006.

THE 2004 FOOTBALL SENIORS

The 2004 football team included 17 student-athletes in their senior seasons of eligibility. Of the total, six graduated before the season and 11 earned their bachelor's degrees by the time the 2004 season concluded. The other seven were on track to graduate in May 2005.

THE 2003 FOOTBALL SENIORS

The 2003 football team included eight graduates that played in the Orange Bowl Classic, and five more graduated in spring and summer of 2004. Two seniors, Jim Sikora and Jon Vilma were named to the Big East All-Academic Team for their fourth and third consecutive times, respectively. Three graduates, Vilma, D. J. Williams and Vernon Carey were selected in the first round of the NFL draft.

NOTABLE ACHIEVEMENTS:

- 2005 NCAA Graduation Rate: 87 percent
- 2004 American Football Coaches Association Graduation Rate: 84.2 percent
- Since 1991, our average AFCA rate is 71.52 percent; the national average is 58 percent. UM has exceeded this average 13 years.
- Since 2001, UM has graduated more NFL first-round picks than any other institution

ATHLETIC ACADEMIC SERVICES

The Athletic Academic Services Staff of the University of Miami Athletic Department is committed to providing the academic support services necessary to facilitate the graduation of student athletes and the nurturing of skills to promote the development of responsible, well-rounded individuals. This mission is fulfilled through our commitment to promote athletics, academics, personal development and career development.

ROGER BELL (M.S.), ASSOCIATE ATHLETIC DIRECTOR FOR ACADEMIC SERVICES

A 14-year veteran at UM, Roger is in his second year as the Associate Athletic Director for Academic Services. He oversees the Academic Services and also serves as the academic advisor for women's swimming/diving and men's diving, and Life Skills Programs. Bell graduated from Morehouse College in 1972 with a Bachelor of Arts degree in Education and completed a masters of Science degree in Educational Leadership at the University of Miami. Bell and his wife, Denise, have two children, Raja and Tombi.

DAVID WYMAN (M.S.), DIRECTOR OF ACADEMIC SERVICES

A 12-year veteran of the office of Athletic Academic Services, David is in his second year as the Director of Academic Services. As the director, he provides oversight of Athletic Academic Services and is the academic liaison to campus. He specifically advises senior football and women's track and field/cross country student-athletes as well as coordinates continuing eligibility for all student-athletes. David earned his baccalaureate (B.S.) degree in Accounting from Florida A&M University and his graduate degree (M.S.) from St. Thomas University in Sports Administration.

CAROLE WALKER (M.ED.), COORDINATOR OF ACADEMIC ADVISING

Carole is responsible for providing academic advising for freshmen and sophomore football, women's basketball and women's volleyball student-athletes. Now in her seventh year at the University of Miami, she is also responsible for assisting the Director of Football Operations with organizing Freshmen Football Orientation. Carole earned her undergraduate degree (BS) in Business Administration from Shaw University in Raleigh, N.C. and as a 1996 recipient of the NCAA Ethnic Minority Postgraduate Scholarship, obtained her Master's Degree in Education from Auburn University.

LEIGH HUSBAND (M.S.), COORDINATOR OF ACADEMIC ADVISING

Leigh is the advisor to men's basketball, men's and women's tennis and women's soccer along with serving as the Initial Eligibility and Admissions Coordinator. She is also responsible for the Academic Coach and the New Student Athlete Orientation programs. Entering her ninth year at the University of Miami, Leigh has 16 years experience in Athletic Academic Advising. Leigh's undergraduate degree is from the University of Vermont (BS) and her Master's is from Indiana University (MS). Leigh is married to Jamie Husband and is the mother of six-year-old Ross.

CHRISTINE SCHEETS (B.A.), LEARNING SPECIALIST/ACADEMIC ADVISOR

Christine is responsible for providing academic skills development and advising for student-athletes with disabilities and low study skills. She also spearheaded the F.A.S.T. Program, which targets incoming "at-risk" student-athletes. Prior to coming to the University of Miami, Christine taught in the New Jersey Schools System as an English teacher. She received a Bachelor of Arts degree in English Education and is currently pursuing a Master's degree at UM. Christine is also the mother of 14-year-old Lainey and 12-year-old Hunter.

CHRISTOPHER DOELL (M.S.ED.), ACADEMIC ADVISOR/TUTOR COORDINATOR

Chris serves as advisor to Men's track and field/cross country and women's rowing, in addition to coordinating the tutorial program for more than 350 student-athletes. Chris began as an intern in Athletic Academic Services at the University of Miami and is now entering his second year as a full-time advisor. Chris earned his B.A. in Philosophy from Florida International University and his Master of Science in Education, with a concentration in Sports Administration, from the University of Miami. Chris' wife, Nicole, is a registered nurse at the University of Miami.

THE RETENTION PROGRAMS

The University of Miami offers unique programs designed to assist student-athletes in their pursuit of a college education. These are a few of the programs offered to assist student-athletes:

1. UMX Freshman Experience Course - A unique class designed to assist freshman student-athletes with the transition from high school to college.

2. Proactive Mentorship Program - This program is designed to assist student-athletes with the transition skills necessary to be successful college students. All freshmen are required to participate and meet once a week with a mentor covering issues such as time management, goal-setting, class preparation, test preparation, etc.

3. Study Table Program - Provides valuable locations and time to accomplish academic goals. Structured times, group and individual tutorials, computer labs, and quiet areas are designated for this program.

4. F.A.S.T. Program (Freshman Academic Success Training) - The main purpose of this program is to ensure a smooth and successful transition from high school to college through academic success training. This will be accomplished through closely monitoring incoming at-risk student-athletes so as to ensure the use of efficient time management and study skills. Assumptions are made that all of our student-athletes come to us with good study habits, academic knowledge, and social judgment. This program will address all these areas and be reinforced throughout the semester.

5. Computer Lab - Located within the Hecht Athletic Center, student-athletes have access to 30 personal computers with Internet access and conduct research. The lab also has 20 laptop computers that student-athletes can check out and take with them on team trips, or when they want to work on their own.

6. Tutors - Level 1 certified tutors by the College Reading and Learning Association provide individual and group assistance upon request. The tutor program at the University of Miami is one of a small number of athletic programs in the country to be awarded CRLA certification.

7. Learning Resource Room - Student-athletes with disabilities have access to computer programs that aid in their educational skill development.

2005 ACC ALL-ACADEMIC FOOTBALL TEAM

The Orange Bowl

Miami's historic Orange Bowl stadium has seen more football history than any stadium in America. Numerous great teams, coaches and players have experienced their greatest accomplishments - and biggest heartbreaks - within the confines of one of America's college football cathedrals. Five Super Bowls have been played here. Fourteen college football national champions have been crowned here. Since its opening in 1937, virtually every great name in the game has played or coached on the hallowed ground of the Orange Bowl.

JANUARY 1, 1946

Hurricane Al Hudson intercepts a Holy Cross pass at the 11-yard line and gallops 89 yards for the game-winning touchdown as time expires to give Miami a 13-6 Orange Bowl Classic victory. It's regarded as the most sensational ending in the Orange Bowl's history.

JANUARY 1, 1975

Notre Dame cornerback Reggie Barnett intercepts a Richard Todd pass with 1:08 remaining to give the Irish a 13-11 win over Alabama. In head coach Ara Parseghian's final game, Notre Dame denies the Crimson Tide the national title for the second straight year.

JANUARY 12, 1969

New York Jets quarterback Joe Namath celebrates as he exits the field following a 16-7 upset of the Baltimore Colts in Super Bowl III. It remains the most famous upset in Super Bowl history - and Namath guaranteed it.

JANUARY 14, 1968

Cornerback Herb Adderley intercepts an Oakland Raiders pass and returns it for a 60-yard touchdown to seal the Green Bay Packers victory in Super Bowl II in Vince Lombardi's final game as head coach.

SEPTEMBER 27, 1986

In the second quarter of a 28-16 win over No.1 Oklahoma, Miami quarterback Vinny Testaverde scrambles from sideline to sideline for a 10-yard gain to keep a TD drive alive. Called "The Run", it is the signature play of Testaverde's Heisman Trophy-winning season.

SEPTEMBER 10, 2005

Frank Gore runs 18 yards on Miami's second play of overtime to defeat Florida State 16-10 in a national televised game. The contest was delayed four days because of Hurricane Frances and pushed back from Labor Day night to a Friday night.

OCTOBER 7, 2000

UM's sophomore quarterback Ken Dorsey throws a 13-yard touchdown pass to tight end Jeremy Shockey with 46 seconds remaining to give No.7 Miami a 27-24 upset of No.1 Florida State. It marked the ninth time the Hurricanes have defeated the AP's No.1-ranked team.

JANUARY 1, 1951

Clemson's Sterling Smith tackles Miami's Frank Smith for a safety in the closing minutes of the Orange Bowl Classic - the deciding points in a 15-14 Tiger win over the Hurricanes. UM exacted revenge a year later with a 14-0 blanking of Clemson in the 1952 Gator Bowl.

JANUARY 21, 1979

Dallas Cowboys tight end Jackie Smith drops a sure touchdown pass from quarterback Roger Staubach in the fourth quarter of Super Bowl XIII, preserving a 35-31 win for Pittsburgh. The Steelers become the first team in NFL history to win three Super Bowls.

JANUARY 1, 1976

Oklahoma quarterback Steve Davis powers nine yards for a touchdown in a 14-6 victory over the Michigan Wolverines in the 1976 Orange Bowl Classic. The Sooners claim their second consecutive national title - the school's fifth overall -- and the second for Barry Switzer.

JANUARY 1, 1973

In his college finale, Nebraska's Johnny Rodgers - playing wingback for the first time - scores his fifth touchdown of the night on a 50-yard pass from David Humm. The Cornhuskers thrash Notre Dame, 40-6, in the final game of head coach Bob Devaney's career.

DECEMBER 5, 1998

Leading, 45-42, UCLA's drive for a clinching TD is halted by UM safety Edward Reed who forces and recovers the fumble. Miami scores the game-winning touchdown in the ensuing possession and denies No.3 UCLA a shot at the national title with the 49-45 upset.

JANUARY 17, 1971

Baltimore kicker Jim O'Brien boots a 32-yard field goal as time expires to give the Colts a dramatic 16-13 victory over the Dallas Cowboys in Super Bowl V.

JANUARY 1, 1965

With Texas leading, 21-17, late in the fourth quarter of the Orange Bowl Classic, Alabama quarterback Joe Namath is stopped short of the goal line on a fourth down play by UT linebacker Tommy Nobis. The Longhorns hold on for the win and deny Bear Bryant the national title.

OCTOBER 3, 1992

No.2 Miami leads No.3 Florida State, 19-16, with eight seconds remaining in the game. With the Hurricane crowd in a frenzy, Seminole kicker Dan Mowrey attempts a 39-yard field goal that sails wide right. The game is remembered as "Wide Right II".

JANUARY 1, 1984

No. 1 Nebraska scores to pull within 31-30 of No.5 Miami with less than a minute to play. Going for two and the win, Husker QB Turner Gill rolls to his right and throws a pass intended for Jeff Smith. UM's DB Ken Calhoun deflects the pass and preserves Miami's first national championship.

JANUARY 18, 1976

In Super Bowl X, Pittsburgh receiver Lynn Swann makes his second circus catch of the day on a Terry Bradshaw pass to set up a field goal in the Steelers' 21-17 win over the Dallas Cowboys. Swann would catch four passes for 161 yards in the game -- then a Super Bowl record.

NOVEMBER 23, 1984

Boston College QB Doug Flutie scrambles back to his own 46-yard line and launches a TD pass to Gerard Phelan as time expires for a 47-45 BC win over the Hurricanes. Arguably the most memorable ending in college football history, the play is remembered as "Hail Flutie".

JANUARY 18, 1976

Pittsburgh receiver Lynn Swann makes an acrobatic catch of a Terry Bradshaw pass in the second quarter of Super Bowl X -- a catch many believe to be the greatest in Super Bowl history. The Steelers deal Dallas a 21-17 defeat.

JANUARY 1, 1972

Nebraska's Johnny Rodgers fields an Alabama punt at the Cornhuskers 23, spins away from two tacklers and sprints down the sideline for a 77-yard touchdown to break open a 38-6 win over the Crimson Tide and seal Nebraska's second consecutive national championship.

JANUARY 1, 1956

With Oklahoma leading 14-6, Sooner Carl Dodd intercepts a Maryland pass at the 18-yard line and run 82 yards for a TD to clinch a 20-6 victory for OU. The Sooners win their second national championship under legendary head coach Bud Wilkinson.

Football Facilities

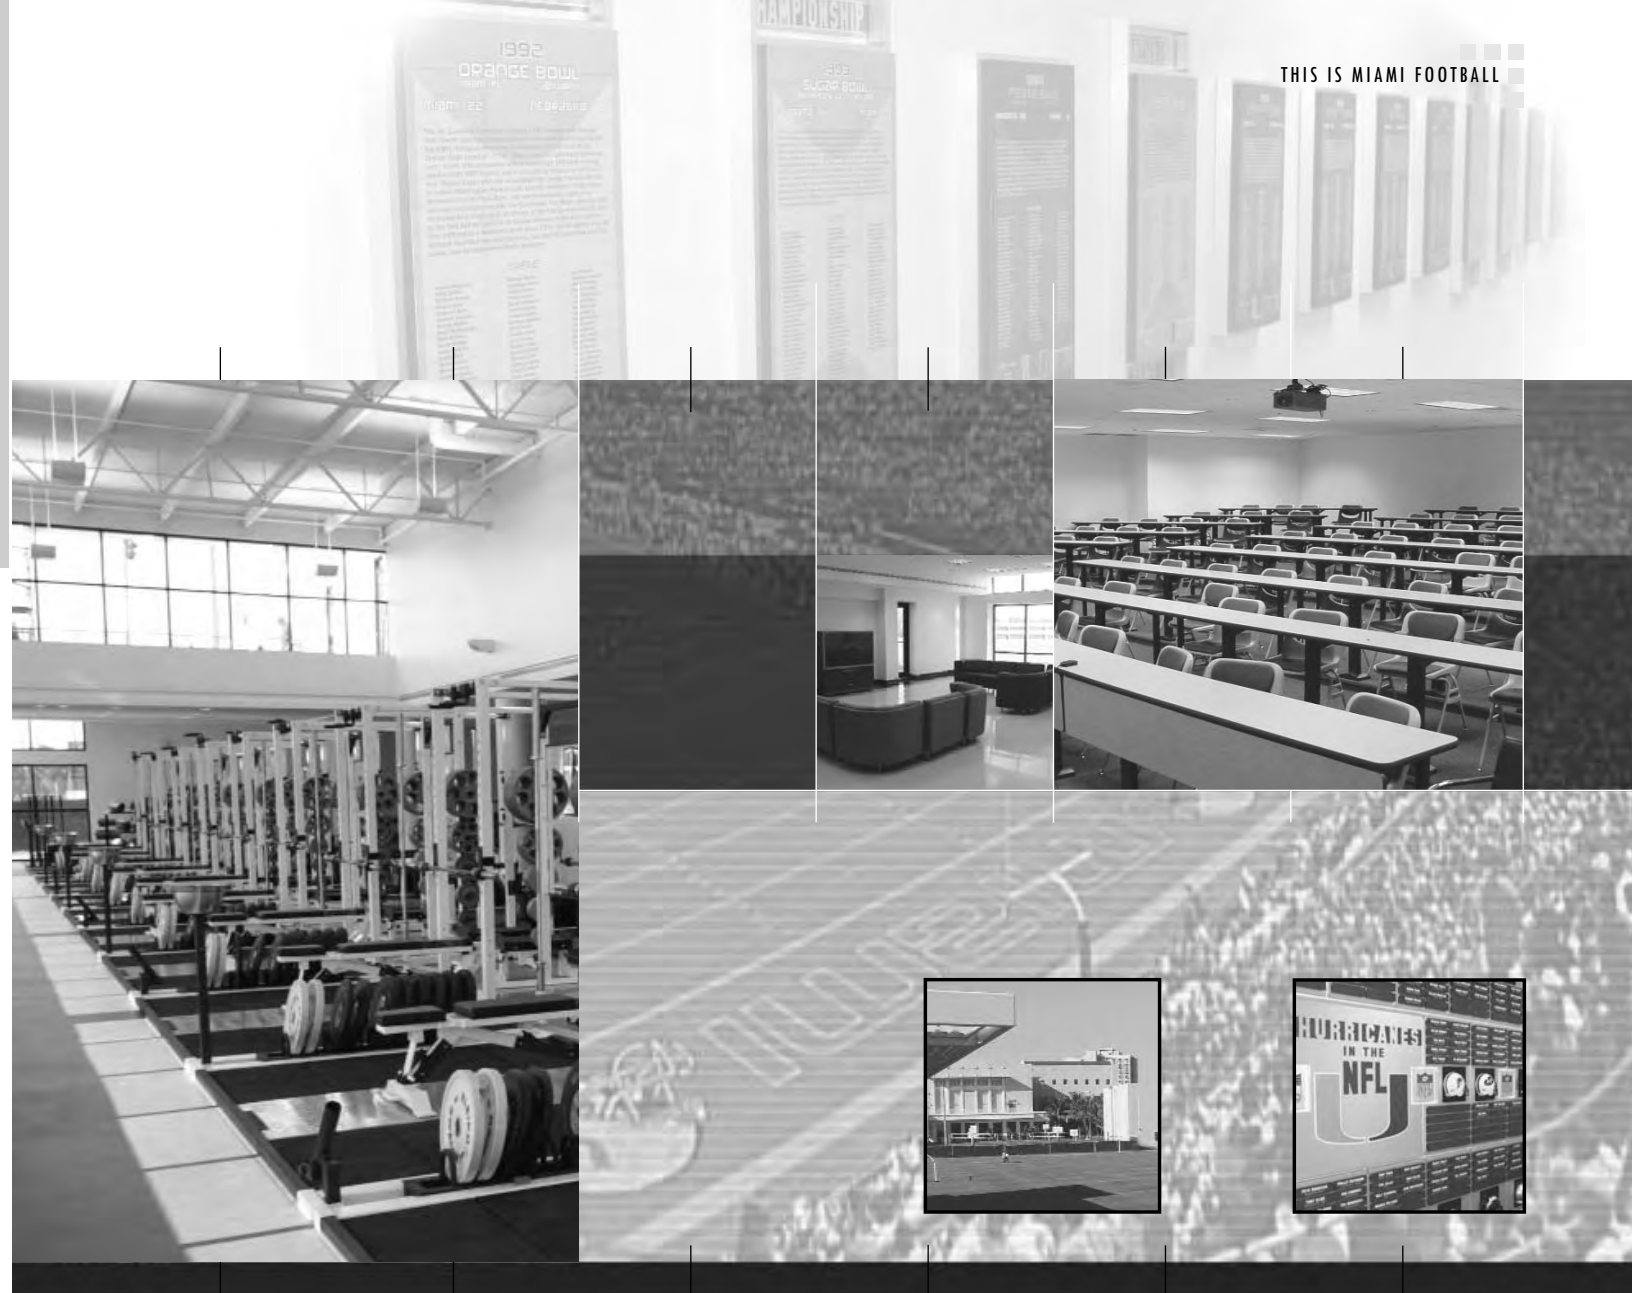

The nation's best student-athletes meet, practice and train in the Hecht Athletic Center. The Miami football complex completed a renovation that has developed the Hecht into one of the nation's best facilities for developing the complete student-athlete.

Renovated in 2001, the Miami football complex features state-of-the-art meeting and planning rooms, including three large team meeting rooms and eight position group meeting rooms. These rooms are fully equipped with the latest video scouting technology, enabling Hurricane football players to prepare in the best setting available.

The football practice fields are part of the Hecht Athletic Center. Miami players can walk directly from the study hall to the locker room to the practice field without leaving the confines of the building. The Greentree Practice Fields consist of three full length Prescription Athletic Turf fields and are lighted to allow for evening practices. Greentree underwent a $2 million renovation in 1998.

The crown jewel of the Hecht Athletic Complex is the Hurricane Strength and Conditioning Complex. Completed in 2001, the 11,500-square foot facility is more than double the size of the old weightroom and features the latest in strength and conditioning equipment. It provides the focal point of Miami's annual NFL Pro Timing Day each spring, and it is also used by dozens of NFL players who return to Coral Gables for their offseason workouts.

The Hecht Athletic Center underwent an $8 million expansion in 2001, a project that also added a players lounge and an outdoor terrace overlooking Greentree Practice Field; an expansion to the football equipment room; a new office suite for head football coach Larry Coker; locker rooms for women's track, soccer and men's track; and an Olympic sports equipment room.

BOWL GAMES

LOUISIANA STATE 40, MIAMI 3

ATLANTA – Making his first career start, Matt Flynn threw for two touchdowns as No. 10 Louisiana State defeated No. 9 Miami, 40-3 in the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl.

Flynn spearheaded a 17-point outburst in the second quarter with touchdown passes of 51 yards to Craig Davis and four yards to running back Joseph Addai that gave the Tigers (11-2) an 20-3 advantage at the break. He completed 13-of-22 passes for 196 yards without a turnover. With Flynn directing the offense, LSU rolled up 301 yards in the first half.

The Hurricanes suffered their worst bowl loss in their illustrious history, surpassing a 29-0 defeat to Arizona in the Fiesta Bowl in 1994. They finished the 2005 season with a 9-3 record.

On Miami's first possession, Devon Hester lined up at tailback and receiver and also took a direct snap at quarterback. Hester had two catches for 40 yards and six carries for 24 yards. Hester had a 24-yard run on the possession to set up a field goal. But overall, the junior and the Hurricanes were contained.

Miami's Kyle Wright completed 10-of-21 passes for 100 yards.

Jon Peattie kicked a 21-yard field goal to open the scoring in the first quarter for Miami, which lost just its second bowl in its last nine contests.

2004 CHICK-FIL-A PEACH BOWL, DECEMBER 31, 2004
MIAMI 27, FLORIDA 10

ATLANTA – The Miami Hurricanes were eliminated from the national championship early in the season and missed out on the conference championship late. They settled for the state title in the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl. Devin Hester returned a blocked field goal 78 yards for a touchdown, Roscoe Parrish returned a punt 72 yards for a score and the 14th-ranked Hurricanes beat No. 20 Florida 27-10 at the Georgia Dome.

UM earned a third consecutive "state title" by beating Florida and Florida State in the same season and extended its winning streak against the Gators to six games. Brock Berlin finished 13 of 23 for 171 yards. He had a 20-yard touchdown pass to Ryan Moore in the third quarter that made it 24-3 and ended his career 5-0 as a starter against Miami's two biggest rivals - Florida and Florida State.

Although Berlin stayed perfect against in-state competition, Miami's special teams and defense did the most damage on New Year's Eve. Just four plays after a blocked punt gave the Gators great field position, defensive lineman Thomas Carroll blocked Matt Leach's 32-yard field goal attempt. Hester picked up the loose ball and sprinted the other way for a score. The momentum swing set the tone for the Hurricanes, who sacked Chris Leak on the next two plays and intercepted a pass late in the second quarter. Miami put constant pressure on Leak and finished with five sacks.

Leak overthrew O.J. Small one play after Frank Gore fumbled in Florida territory. Hester picked off the pass and snaked his way 28 yards across the field to put Miami back in field goal range. Jon Peattie nailed a 47-yarder to give the Canes a 10-3 lead. Miami forced Florida to punt on the ensuing possession, and Parrish caught the line-drive kick and ran untouched up the seam for a 72-yard score.

The Florida Cup trophy would remain in Coker's office, where it has been the last two years.

MIAMI 16, FLORIDA STATE 14

MIAMI – Ninth-ranked Miami used all its energy to take a tense 16-14 victory over eighth-ranked Florida State in the FedEx Orange Bowl Classic at Pro Player Stadium, riding big performances by Jarrett Payton and Jon Peattie and a big play by D.J. Williams.

The Hurricanes (11-2) defeated the Seminoles (10-3) for the fifth straight time, benefiting from a crucial missed field goal for the fifth time in the scintillating series since 1991. Xavier Beitia, who was wide left on a potential game-winning 43-yard field goal in last year's loss at Miami, was wide right on a 39-yarder with 5 1/2 minutes to go. Florida State's defense held, but in punt formation on 4th-and-1 from its 31, Miami snapped the ball to blocker Williams, who rumbled 31 yards for a key first down that helped take two more minutes off the clock.

Peattie, who kicked three field goals and replaced Brian Monroe as punter, had a 45-yarder blocked with 2:18 left. Florida State moved into Miami territory before a succession of penalties and incompletions sealed its fate.

Payton, the son of the late Walter Payton, victimized FSU for 97 yards and a touchdown catch in a win in October and ran for 131 on 22 carries in his final college game and to earn Most Valuable Player honors.

Peattie's career-best 51-yard field goal early in the third quarter was the only scoring in a grueling second half. Beitia's miss came after FSU's seventh straight three-and-out possession. Miami's Brock Berlin had fumbled trying to sneak for a first down on 3rd-and-1.

2003 TOSTITOS FIESTA BOWL, JANUARY 3, 2003
OHIO STATE 31, MIAMI 24 (2 OT)

TEMPE, Ariz. – Miami's incredible 34-game winning streak came to an end in dramatic fashion as Ohio State defeated the Hurricanes 31-24 in double overtime to win the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl and the National Championship.

Maurice Clarett scored his second touchdown on a five-yard run in the second overtime and Ohio State forced an incomplete pass by a rushed Ken Dorsey on the final play. Quarterback Craig Krenzel had a pair of touchdown runs for the Buckeyes (14-0), who ended Miami's winning streak - the sixth-longest in college football history - in a game of high drama that was prolonged by a controversial pass interference call. It was the first-ever overtime in a BCS title game, and Miami somehow managed to get to an extra session despite turning the ball over five times and losing star running back Willis McGahee to a knee injury in the fourth quarter.

Miami (12-1) sent the game into overtime on the final play of regulation when Todd Sievers kicked a 40-yard field goal to tie it at 17-17. The Hurricanes had the ball first in overtime and Kellen Winslow Jr. caught a seven-yard TD pass from Dorsey. A controversial pass interference penalty allowed Ohio State to tie the game at 24-24. On 4th-and-goal from the 5, Glenn Sharpe batted away a pass intended for Chris Gamble. The Miami fans began their celebration and the bench began to empty, but Sharpe was flagged and then Krenzel scored on a one-yard run.

The Buckeyes had the ball first in the second overtime and scored on a five-yard touchdown run by Clarett, who carried 23 times for just 47 yards. Miami had one last chance and kept its season alive on a seven-yard pass from Dorsey to Winslow on 4th-and-3. A pass interference gave the Hurricanes a first down inside the 5, but that was as far as they would get.

2002 ROSE BOWL, JANUARY 3, 2002
MIAMI 37, NEBRASKA 14

PASADENA, Calif. – The Miami Hurricanes lowered the boom on the Nebraska Cornhuskers in a decisive 37-14 victory in the 88th Rose Bowl game for the National Championship. Just four years removed from a losing season, Miami claimed its fifth national title in football and returned to the top of the college football world with an impressive performance worthy of the Hurricanes' championship heritage that placed this 2001 team as perhaps the school's best ever.

Miami's 12-0 season was capped by a performance indicative of much of the Hurricanes' season, as UM piled up a huge halftime lead and cruised to the victory. The top-ranked Hurricanes used three touchdown passes by Ken Dorsey to build a big early lead. Andre Johnson caught seven passes for 199 yards and two scores for the Hurricanes, who laid claim to their first national title since 1991 in Larry Coker's first season as head coach.

Dorsey and Johnson shared Most Valuable Player honors and were helped by Clinton Portis, who carried 20 times for 104 yards and a score. Miami forced an NCAA-high 45 turnovers this season and three in the first half alone, including a pivotal interception by James Lewis, to roar to a 34-0 halftime lead and hand Nebraska a second straight humiliating defeat. Dorsey completed 22-of-35 passes for 362 yards, including 258 in the first half.

2001 SUGAR BOWL, JANUARY 2, 2001
MIAMI 37, FLORIDA 20

NEW ORLEANS, La. – Second-ranked Miami defeated No. 7 Florida, 37-20, in the Nokia Sugar Bowl to wrap up the Hurricanes' best season since 1994 at 11-1 and second in the national rankings.

The Hurricanes led, 27-20, with 12:50 remaining when UM turned to running back Clinton Portis who sparked a 10-play march that culminated in a 29-yard field goal by Todd Sievers. Portis carried six times for 49 yards on the drive, including a 35-yard scamper to the 11-yard line. Portis finished with 97 yards on 18 carries.

On the first play of the ensuing possession, cornerback Phillip Buchanon picked off Rex Grossman to set up a three-yard touchdown run by Najeh Davenport that gave Miami control. Quarterback Ken Dorsey was named the game's Most Valuable Player, completing 22-of-40 passes for 270 yards and three TDs. His two-yard scoring toss to Davenport gave the Hurricanes a 27-17 lead late in the third quarter.

2000 GATOR BOWL, JANUARY 1, 2000
MIAMI 28, GEORGIA TECH 13

JACKSONVILLE – The 23rd-ranked Hurricanes routed No. 15 Georgia Tech, 28-13, behind a dominating defensive performance that held the Yellow Jackets offense (ranked No. 1 nationally and second in scoring with an average of 40.7 points a game) to a season-low 13 points. The Hurricanes struck on their opening possession with an eight-yard James Jackson touchdown run. Miami then took a 14-point lead early in the second quarter when sophomore quarterback Kenny Kelly capped a 73-yard drive with a 15-yard touchdown strike to Andre King. Following a Tech score, freshman All-America tailback Clinton Portis set a UM bowl record with a 73-yard touchdown run to give the 'Canes a 21-7 halftime lead. Georgia Tech could only muster a pair of second half field goals as the UM defense, behind the play of Gator Bowl MVP Nate Webster, shut down the Tech attack.

MIAMI – The Hurricanes won the 1996 Carquest Bowl in entertaining fashion with a 31-21 triumph over the University of Virginia. Defensive standout Tremain Mack provided the fireworks with a pair of Miami touchdowns. Mack, who was a unanimous choice for game MVP, returned a UVA fumble 79 yards for a touchdown to give UM a 14-0 first quarter lead. Mack then gave the 'Canes an insurmountable 24-7 lead when he picked off Cavalier quarterback Tim Sherman in the second quarter and raced 42 yards to paydirt. Mack continued his heroics in the third quarter by blocking a Rafeal Garcia 29-yard field goal attempt, the first of two blocked FGs by the 'Canes. 1995 ORANGE BOWL, JANUARY 1, 1995
NEBRASKA 24, MIAMI 17

MIAMI – The third-ranked Hurricanes' dream of a fifth national title was dashed in front of a record crowd of 81,753 as the top-ranked Nebraska Cornhuskers overcame a 17-9 deficit with two fourth quarter touchdowns to propel them to a 24-17 victory and the 1994 national championship. Nebraska's defense took control after halftime by putting relentless pressure on UM quarterback Frank Costa and sacking him four times in the half (five times in the game), including one for a safety early in the third quarter. Miami's defense came up big, forcing two Nebraska turnovers. But Nebraska and its bruising offensive line controlled the final quarter of play. Nebraska starting quarterback, Tommie Frazier, returned from injury in the fourth quarter to lead the Huskers' punishing rushing attack to two late touchdowns and the victory.

1992 ORANGE BOWL, JANUARY 1, 1992
MIAMI 22, NEBRASKA 0

MIAMI – The No. 1-ranked Hurricanes capped a 12-0 season and claimed their fourth national championship in nine years by dominating the Big Eight Champion Nebraska Cornhuskers, 22-0, in front of an Orange Bowl crowd of 77,747 and a national television audience. Miami used the running of freshman Larry Jones, who responded with a career-high 144 yards rushing (earning him MVP honors) and a dominating defense to roll to victory. Miami played with the knowledge that earlier that day the No. 2-ranked Washington Huskies had soundly defeated the Michigan Wolverines in the Rose Bowl, and would ultimately claim a co-national championship with the Hurricanes. The Miami defense held Nebraska to a single yard of offense in the first quarter and 62 total in the first half en route to its second shutout of the year, and the first suffered by a Nebraska team since 1973. For the game, the UM defense recorded two interceptions, two fumble recoveries and five sacks, four by sophomore Rusty Medearis.

TEMPE, Ariz. – The No. 10-ranked Hurricanes fell victim to the 16th-ranked Arizona Wildcats, 29-0, in the 23rd annual IBM OS/2 Fiesta Bowl before a sellout crowd of 72,260 and a national television audience. The Wildcats used a strong ground attack and stifling defense to hand the 'Canes their first shutout since 1979, a span of 168 games. It was also the first time that Miami had been shutout in a bowl game since a 26-0 loss to Bucknell in the 1935 Orange Bowl. The only bright spot for the 'Canes was receiver Chris T. Jones, who had six receptions for 98 yards. The loss dropped Miami out of the Associated Press top 10 for the first time since September of 1985, as the 'Canes finished 15th in both the AP and CNN/USA Today polls.

MIAMI 23, NEBRASKA 3

MIAMI – For the first time in four years, Miami was not playing for the national title in its New Year's bowl game. Moments before kickoff of the 55th annual Orange Bowl Classic vs. Nebraska, the 'Canes learned that the No. 1 ranked team, Notre Dame, had defeated West Virginia in the Fiesta Bowl. As the nation tuned in to the Orange Bowl, many felt the University of Miami would come out flat, knowing that all possibility of a repeat national title had been lost. The Hurricanes showed their true mettle, dominating the Big Eight Champions on offense, defense, and special teams from the opening kickoff. The statistics backed up the scoreboard as the 'Canes held a 212-29 advantage in total yards and an 11-2 edge in first downs.

1985 FIESTA BOWL, JANUARY 1, 1985
UCLA 39, MIAMI 37

TEMPE, Ariz. – The Hurricanes were dealt a narrow 39-37 defeat by the UCLA Bruins in the Fiesta Bowl to cap the 1984 season. The lead changed hands seven times before the Bruins' John Lee kicked the deciding field goal with 51 seconds remaining. Melvin Bratton had put Miami ahead on a 3-yard TD pass from Bernie Kosar with 2:58 left, giving UM a 37-36 advantage. The Bruins used eight plays to move 61 yards to the Hurricane seven, setting up Lee's heroics.

1988 ORANGE BOWL, JANUARY 1, 1988
MIAMI 20, OKLAHOMA 14

MIAMI – For the second time in five years, the University of Miami Hurricanes were champions of the college football world. Just as they had done in 1983, the '87 'Canes knocked off the nation's No.1-ranked team in the New Year's Day Orange Bowl Classic. The second-ranked Hurricanes capped the school's second straight undefeated regular season with a 20-14 victory over Oklahoma. Sophomore quarterback Steve Walsh hit on 18 of 30 passing attempts for 209 yards and two touchdowns. Senior fullback Melvin Bratton nearly broke a UM single game receiving mark by hauling in nine catches for 102 yards before leaving the game with a knee injury. Bernard Clark stepped into the spotlight at middle linebacker and walked away with the game's MVP award after recording 12 unassisted tackles and 14 overall stops, while the entire defensive unit limited the Sooners to just 255 yards in total offense.

MIAMI 31, NEBRASKA 30

MIAMI – In what many called the most exciting college football game ever played, UM ended a storied climb to the national title by dealing Nebraska a 31-30 defeat. UM quarterback Bernie Kosar earned MVP honors by throwing for a Orange Bowl-record 300 yards. Linebacker Jack Fernandez was named Defensive MVP as the Hurricanes contained a Nebraska offense that had set numerous NCAA records. Late in the game, Jeff Smith set Nebraska up to claim the national championship with a 24-yard touchdown run to pull the Huskers to within one. Then, Nebraska lined up for a two-point conversion attempt. Turner Gill rolled right under pressure and lofted a pass toward Smith. But UM strong safety Ken Calhoun batted the pass away to seal the Miami win.

1987 FIESTA BOWL, JANUARY 2, 1987
PENN STATE 14, MIAMI 10

TEMPE, Ariz. – A national television audience watched the "Battle For No. 1" one day following the completion of all other bowl games. While the nation nervously watched, the Hurricanes found themselves 77-yards from the national championship with just over three minutes remaining to play. Vinny Testaverde went to work and engineered a thrilling drive that included a 31-yard strike to Brian Blades on a fourth-and-six play from Miami's own 27. The pass to Blades was the first of six consecutive completions by Testaverde that brought Miami to Penn State's 6-yard line. However, with 18 seconds remaining, Pete Gifopoulos ended UM's drive for the national title by intercepting a Testaverde pass at the goal line. The Hurricanes finished with 445 total yards and 22 first downs while holding Penn State to Fiesta Bowl records of 162 yards and just eight first downs. But seven turnovers tripped the 'Canes on the road to the national title and Miami settled for a final ranking of second in both AP and UPI polls.

1981 PEACH BOWL, JANUARY 2, 1981
MIAMI 20, VIRGINIA TECH 10

ATLANTA, Ga. – The Hurricanes embarked on their first post-season bowl appearance since 1967, squaring off against Virginia Tech on a clear Georgia day at Fulton County Stadium. Howard Schnellenberger's troops set the pace early with two long scoring drives that proved to be the winning margin. UM took the opening kickoff 68 yards to paydirt, with QB Jim Kelly hitting Larry Brodsky on a 15-yard strike to culminate the nine-play drive. On Miami's third possession, Kelly connected through the air three times to spark a 10-play, 99-yard drive. Chris Hobbs did the honors with a 12-yard scamper up the middle to cap the drive. The Hokies closed the gap to 14-10 early in the second half, but two field goals by Danny Miller assured Miami of its first bowl victory since 1966. Kelly was selected the game's outstanding player on offense, while UM middle guard Jim Burt was named defensive MVP.

1986 SUGAR BOWL, JANUARY 1, 1986
TENNESSEE 35, MIAMI 7

NEW ORLEANS, La. – Amid the revelry of New Orleans' Bourbon Street, the 1986 Sugar Bowl had it all. Miami, with one of the most dominant offenses in college football, was shooting for the national championship. The Volunteers, an underrated team who rolled into New Orleans with a hard-fought Southeastern Conference title, were looking for the national respect they felt had eluded them. The week prior to the game, UM coach Jimmy Johnson constantly stressed that the Volunteers were better than their No. 8 national ranking. Much to his chagrin, Johnson proved to be a prophet, as Tennessee used a solid offense and an opportunistic defense to down the second-ranked Hurricanes. Despite constant pressure, Vinny Testaverde threw for 217 yards on 20 of 36 passing. Tennessee QB Daryl Dickey, who earned MVP honors, finished with 131 yards on 15 of 25 passes.

1967 BLUEBONNET BOWL, DECEMBER 23, 1967
COLORADO 31, MIAMI 21

HOUSTON – In a wild scoring spectacle, Colorado won 31-21 after the lead had changed hands five times at Rice Stadium. In the first quarter, CU's Larry Plantz scored from seven yards out, then Miami came back to deadlock the count on Joe Mira's score from the two. UM moved ahead moments later as Jimmy Dye stole a pass from Dan Kelly and ran 77 yards. A 31-yard field goal by John Farler just before halftime, followed by an 80-yard TD march with the second half kickoff, put the Buffs ahead 17-14. Miami regained the lead 21-17 in the final period on an 85-yard drive sparked by Bill Miller's four pass completions to Jerry Daanen, the last one for nine yards and the score. With six minutes left, CU surged ahead for the third time on a 38-yard run by Bob Anderson.

BOWL GAMES

MIAMI 14, VIRGINIA TECH 7

MEMPHIS, Tenn. – Playing in frigid 36-degree weather in Memphis, Miami found itself on the trailing end of a 7-0 score at half-time, but in the end proved to be too powerful for Virginia Tech. Tech's only score of the game came early in the opening quarter after Jim Richard blocked Bobby Stokes' punt deep in UM territory. It took the Virginians five plays to go 21 yards for the TD. Miami tied the game in the third period on a 53-yard drive, highlighted by Bill Miller's passing and the running of Joe Mira. Miller threw seven yards to Mira and Ray Harris made good on his conversion try. A 7-yard march in the final quarter brought UM its winning TD. On the drive, Miller completed three passes to end Jimmy Cox (12,11, and 38 yards), and Doug McGee barreled over from the one on fourth down with 8:05 left in the game. Miami's potent defense was led by All-American Ted Hendricks.

CLEMSON 15, MIAMI 14

MIAMI – After being run over in the first half, Miami caught fire in the third period and moved ahead 14-13. Harry Mallios took a pitchout from Bob Schneidenbach five yards for Miami's first TD. Frank Smith tallied the other on a 14-yard pass from Jack Hackett. Gordon Watson kicked both extra points. Heading for another score, UM drew three successive 15-yard penalties. One nullified a score, the others negated good runs. Another penalty sent UM back to its one, then a safety gave Clemson a 15-14 victory.

NEBRASKA 36, MIAMI 34

NEW YORK – Played in freezing 17-degree weather in icy, snow-banked Yankee Stadium, the lead changed hands six times before Nebraska won 36-34. The Hurricanes rolled up 502 yards to Nebraska's 296 and had a 34-12 edge in first downs. UM quarterback George Mira shattered his UM passing record with 24 completions for 321 yards and two touchdowns, earning him MVP honors.

1946 ORANGE BOWL, JANUARY 1, 1946
MIAMI 13, HOLY CROSS 6

MIAMI – This was a tense, thrilling struggle with each club scoring once in the opening half and missing the extra point. Joe Krull tallied for UM on a reverse and Walter Brennan scored for Holy Cross on a pass from Stan Kozlowski. Seconds before the end of the game, the Crusaders tried a long, desperation pass attempt thrown by halfback Gene DeFilippo. Holy Cross end Frank Parker, open downfield, reached for it but the ball bounced off his hands into the waiting left hand of Hurricane halfback Al Hudson. Hudson juggled the ball momentarily, and then the former Miami Edison High track star was on his way down the sideline on an 89-yard sprint to fame. The game ended as galloping Hudson shot past the 35-yard line, but he kept on going. Harry Ghaul's extra point was anticlimactic, but the final count read UM 13, Holy Cross 6.

BUCKNELL 26, MIAMI 0

MIAMI – This New Year's game was moved to a wooden stadium on the site of the present Orange Bowl, and the Miami-Bucknell battle inaugurated what is today known as the Orange Bowl Classic. Bucknell, the champion of the smaller eastern colleges, had a sensational back-field and Miami never had a chance. UM failed to complete a single pass in 10 tries. Bucknell won 26-0. MIAMI 14, CLEMSON 0

JACKSONVILLE – When injuries cost Miami its backfield ace Frank Smith and several linemen prior to the game, Clemson became a heavy favorite. UM coach Andy Gustafson even had to start freshmen. One of them, end Frank McDonald, caught a pass to set up a touchdown. Ed Lutes caught a 46-yard aerial to set up another. Harry Mallios made both TDs, the first on a pitchout from Jack Hackett in the first quarter, the other on a short leap in the second period. Elmer Tremont converted after both scores and contributed much towards frustrating Clemson's scoring ambitions with his punting. He booted nine times for an average of 44.5 yards per kick. Miami's defensive standout was Jim Dooley, the MVP. He intercepted four passes to set a Gator Bowl record.

DUQUESNE 33, MIAMI 7

MIAMI – The Hurricanes met a Duquesne 11 ranked among the nation's best and coached by Elmer Layden, one of the famed Four Horsemen of Notre Dame. Duquesne used three units, and Miami, which scarcely had any reserve talent, was worn down as DU ran wild in the fourth quarter to win big. UM was down 12-7 when DU started its surge. George Reichgott scored UM's lone TD on a pass from Johnny Ott, and Pete Petrowski booted the extra point. The game was played at Moore Park.

MIAMI 7, MANHATTAN 0

MIAMI – In the first Festival of the Palms Classic (forerunner to the Orange Bowl Classic), Miami was matched against Coach Chick Meehan's colorful military stepping Manhattan College, which was rated best of the eastern small colleges and was favored to win by a wide margin. Illinois coach Bob Zuppke helped his ex-pupil Tom McCann prep the Hurricanes and did a masterful job. A fired-up defense stopped the New Yorkers, once holding them three inches from a goal, while the Hurricanes cut loose on a series of wild spread formations to earn a thrilling victory. A crowd 3,500 observed the upset.

LARGEST ROAD CROWDS

A crowd of 109,313, the largest crowd ever to witness a University of Miami football game watched the Hurricanes defeat Penn State, 33-7, at Beaver Stadium in State College, Penn., on September 1, 2001. That gathering is one of four crowds of more than 100,000 fans to have attended a game involving the Hurricanes. Miami played at Tennessee on Nov. 9, 2002, before a crowd of 107,745 at Neyland Stadium in Knoxville. The other two contests were played at the University of Michigan in 1984 and 1988. A crowd of 105,834 watched the Hurricanes play Michigan at Michigan Stadium in Ann Arbor, Mich., on September 17, 1988. The Hurricanes won, 31-30, following a dramatic fourth-quarter rally. In 1984, 105,403 watched Michigan defeat Miami, 22-14. Miami is 3-1 all-time before crowds of more than 100,000.

THE HISTORY OF HURRICANES FOOTBALL

Miami Hurricanes football has flourished through five national championships, two Heisman Trophy winners and a period spanning more than seven decades, which began with a freshman squad in 1926. Through the years, events surrounding the University, the city and the area have had a tremendous impact on the program.

THE BEGINNING (1926-36)

Before competition even took place on a freshman level, plans for a 50,000-seat on-campus stadium were proposed in 1926 by the school's first president, Dr. Bowman Ashe. Work began on a temporary, 8,000-seat structure on campus, but one day later, on September 17, 1926, a hurricane leveled much of South Florida, killing more than 130 people, damaging over 10,000 homes and shelving plans for the stadium.

Due to the storm, classes started late and it wasn't until October 23 that UM played its first game: a 7-0 win over Rollins in front of 304 spectators. The season included two wins over the University of Havana, with a Thanksgiving Day game in Miami and a Christmas Day meeting in Cuba.

The first varsity competition came in 1927 and coach Howard Buck guided the Hurricanes to a 3-6-1 record with a 39-3 win over Rollins in the first game.

But a 4-4-1 record the next year and lopsided losses prompted a group of local businessmen to offer financial backing to bring in a well-known coach.

J. Burton Rix, who had coached at Texas and Southern Methodist, arrived in time for the 1929 season and Miami's first varsity road games. The team traveled via the city's private car, The Spirit of Miami on the Eastern Seaboard Railroad. But the stock market crash doomed the off-campus financing and extended the financial woes of the area caused by the hurricane. Rix quit after one season and was replaced by Ernie Brett, who inherited an ambitious schedule in 1930.

Included in the season was a hectic road trip with three games in eight days, beginning with an indoor contest against Temple University in Atlantic City, New Jersey. It was Miami's first intersectional game and the UM players presented their opponents with coconuts prior to the contest; in return Temple handed Miami a 34-0 defeat. The following Tuesday, UM lost to Howard in Dothan, Alabama, then salvaged a 6-0 win over Southwestern Louisiana in Lafayette on Saturday.

Also that season, the Hurricanes played one of the nation's first night games. The October 31 game vs. Bowden College in Miami took place under high watt, unprotected bulbs that could be heard exploding when it rained, causing the field to grow darker as the game progressed.

Several seasons later UM entered the bowl business, upsetting Manhattan in the Palm Festival on January 1, 1933, at Moore Park in Miami. The next year, UM went 5-0-2 but lost in the Palm Festival to a Duquesne team coached by Elmer Layden (one of the famed Four Horsemen of Notre Dame).

UM played Bucknell on New Year's Day following the 1934 season in the Wooden Bowl, which seated 4,000. The stadium was built by the American Legion in conjunction with the post-depression WPA and was purchased by Earnest Seiler, recreation director for the city of Miami. A halftime parade that included an orange-colored bowl was the humble beginning of the famed Orange Bowl extravaganza produced by Seiler.

The following two years under Irl Tubbs (1935-36), UM posted winning records but bowed out as hosts of the New Year's Day games in Miami.

THE JACK HARDING ERA (1937-42; 1945-47)

When Tubbs resigned to take the job at Iowa, Jack Harding came in to serve as both head coach and athletic director.

Two-time All-America quarterback
George Mira - "The Matador"

In nine seasons as head coach (with a two-year break for service in World War II), Harding moved the Hurricanes from the ranks of the small time into major college status. In 1937 they moved into the Roddy Burdine Municipal Stadium (later renamed the Orange Bowl). In 1938, they won the first meeting against Florida and that same year captured the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association championship for the first time.

Eddie Dunn, a fabulous running back out of Pittsburgh, starred for the Hurricanes in the late '30s and took over as head coach for two years (1943-44) during World War II. When Harding returned just prior to the 1945 season, it appeared that UM would suffer through another miserable season after going 1-7-1 in 1944.

But enrollment began to swell as hundreds returned from the service, and although Harding did not even know the names of all of his players prior to the first game, by midseason many were household names in South Florida. The Canes forged a 9-1-1 record that included one of the most memorable Orange Bowl games in history.

On January 1, 1946, UM and Holy Cross had battled to a 6-6 tie with just a few seconds remaining. Crusader quarterback Gene DeFilippo threw a desperation pass that went in and out of the arms of an open receiver and wound up in the hands of the Hurricanes' Al Hudson. A former Miami Edison High track star, Hudson juggled the ball and sprinted 89 yards for the winning score as time ran out.

Harding resigned as coach in 1948 and brought in his running mate from Pitt, Andy Gustafson, who would lead the Hurricanes into the glory years of University of Miami football.

THE ANDY GUSTAFSON ERA (1948-63)

In 16 seasons, Gustafson's teams went to four bowls and appeared on national television nine times. He developed the "Miami Drive Series", a form of the belly option generally considered the forerunner of the wishbone, and coached Al Carapella as UM's first major college All-American (1950). Gustafson's 1950 squad went 9-1-1, defeated Purdue one week after the Boilermakers had broken Notre Dame's unbeaten streak at 39 games and earned an Orange Bowl bid against Clemson.

While NCAA probation kept UM out of possible bowls for three years (1954-56), it did not diminish interest in the program. A No. 9 ranking by both UP and INS in 1954 marked UM's first Top 10 ranking at the end of the season. In 1956, on the strength of an 8-1-1 mark, the Hurricanes finished sixth in all three wire service polls. Continued good attendance and a pair of 6-4 records ushered UM out of the 1950s and into the new decade.

INTEGRATION

But the major concerns facing the University and the community heading into the '60s were the expected arrival of the pros and the integration of college football in the South.

History shows that UM had cancelled a game with UCLA in 1940 because of two African-American Bruin players, Jackie Robinson and Kenny Washington. And in 1946, a game with Penn State was cancelled because of the presence of African-American players. But in 1950, UM broke a Southern tradition by playing against African-American players in a 14-6 defeat of Iowa in the Orange Bowl.

In the late 1950s, UM had won a battle with the city to open seating to African-Americans in the entire Orange Bowl, and on January 31, 1961, the UM trustees voted unanimously to open the door to all students.

It wasn't until December 1966 that the University of Miami signed an African-American athlete, Ray Bellamy, a 6-5, 210-pound wide receiver from Palmetto, Florida, who chose Miami over Florida State, Florida A&M and a number of major colleges in the Midwest. Miami became the second major college in the South with an African-American football player on scholarship, and Bellamy became a standout both on and off the football field. Tom Sullivan, a tailback from Jacksonville, became the second African-American signee in 1968 and was followed one year later by future pro stars Burgess Owens and Chuck Foreman.

The early 1960s at Miami became known as The Age of MIRAcles, as Key West native George Mira led Miami to a pair of bowl games while twice earning All-America honors. Nicknamed "The Matador," Mira set nearly every passing record in the school's history, finished fifth in the Heisman Trophy voting as a senior and tied a national completion record (368) despite UM's 3-7 record. Mira would be the first of many great UM quarterbacks.

THE CHARLIE TATE ERA (1964-69)

The death of Jack Harding in March 1963 prompted Gustafson to step down as football coach and take over athletic director duties after the 1963 season. After a national search, UM tabbed Georgia Tech assistant and former Miami prep coach Charlie Tate as head man in early 1964. And after two years at .500 under Tate, another star emerged to lead UM to back-to-back bowl games.

Born in Guatemala and raised in South Florida, Ted Hendricks, nicknamed "The Mad Stork," became one of the most feared pass rushers in college football. He became the school's first and only three-time All-American (1966, 1967 and 1968), and the late George Gallet, UM's sports publicist for more than four decades, rated Hendricks the greatest player in the University's history.

Following a Liberty Bowl berth in 1966 and a 1967 trip to the Bluebonnet Bowl, Tate's program fell on hard times. Lackluster seasons in 1968 and 1969 prompted Tate's resignation as coach and athletic director two games into the 1970 season. Tate cited the pressures of winning, harassment of his family and the creeping tide of pro football as major problems.

That year the AFL and NFL merged; Don Shula arrived as head coach of the Dolphins, and Dolphins hysteria gripped South Florida.

Walt Kichefski, a long-time Hurricane football legend as an assistant coach, took over on an interim basis in 1970. UM struggled through a 3-8 season. The bad times were eased some when Miami pulled a stunning 14-13 upset of Florida in Gainesville.

UM spent the next two seasons under "The Little General," former Hurricane All-America quarterback Fran Curci. His teams suffered through a pair of losing campaigns, the second of which was topped off by one of the school's most infamous gridiron incidents.

After three games in 1972, the Hurricanes were winless and playing at home against Tulane when a fifth down play gave Miami a 24-21 win. The Hurricanes had started with a first-and-10 from Tulane's 12-yard line late in the game. After four plays (plus a nullified penalty down), Miami was exiting the field, still trailing 21-17. But the officials called the UM offense back onto the field for another down, which resulted in a 32-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Ed Carney to split end Witt Beckman.

After that season, Curci left the University and, less than 24 hours later, he was replaced by Pete Elliott, a man who had led both California and Illinois to the Rose Bowl.

But Elliott continued UM's merry-go-round of coaches, staying two years and compiling a combined mark of 11-11. Both seasons started off with big wins over ranked foes, but each time disaster struck in the form of losses to lesser opponents. Besides declining attendance, another factor haunting the program was the loss of area blue-chip players to recruiters around the country.

When Ernie McCoy retired as athletic director in 1975, Elliott resigned as head coach to replace McCoy. Offensive coordinator Carl Selmer immediately signed a five-year contract, becoming UM's fifth head coach in a span of only six years.

Selmer lasted two seasons, compiling dismal 2-8 and 3-8 records against some of the nation's stiffest competition. Attendance continued to drop despite a 1975 home schedule that featured Oklahoma, Colorado, Houston, Navy, Notre Dame and Florida. Only 24,944 showed for the Notre Dame game, the smallest crowd to see an Irish contest since World War II.

Near the end of the 1976 season, Dr. John L. Green, UM executive vice president who oversaw athletics, decided to make a coaching change. It still marks the only time a UM football coach has been fired.

SABAN LAUNCHES THE TURNAROUND (1977-78)

On December 27, 1976, journeyman Lou Saban began his two-year tenure as head coach, and in that span laid the foundation for the program's rise to national prominence in the 1980s.

Despite several major setbacks before he even coached his first game (including coronary by-pass surgery), Saban was in Miami for the final week of 1977 pre-season practice. His team performed well in the opener, a 10-0 loss at Ohio State. But UM lost the last six games of the year for a 3-8 record.

Realizing that quality players were the key to success at Miami, Saban and his coaching staff went on a recruiting blitz of the East Coast, Midwest and the state of Florida in the winter of 1977-78. UM signed the maximum 30 players that year, including 19 from Florida, in what was perhaps the school's first great recruiting class. A total of six first-team Class AAAA All-State Floridians were in that group, and 11 players went on to play professional football.

In 1978, Miami closed out Saban's UM career with a win over rival Florida and fashioned a 6-5 record, only the second winning season in more than a decade. Out of the turmoil of the mid-1970s emerged the most prolific running back in the school's history, Ottis (O.J.) Anderson. The West Palm Beach native led UM in rushing three consecutive years (1977, 1978 and 1979). Anderson still stands as the career rushing leader and was the first back at Miami to rush for more than 1,000 yards in a season.

THE HOWARD SCHNELLENBERGER ERA (1979-83)

In January 1979, Saban left for West Point to take the job as football coach at Army and UM hired Dolphins offensive coordinator Howard Schnellenberger as its eighth head coach since 1963.

Schnellenberger installed a pro-style passing attack, and in his first year at the helm UM became known as the "Jet-Lag Kids." The team traveled more than 28,000 miles in 1979, an NCAA record, including trips to the Japan Bowl, San Diego State, Penn State and Syracuse, posting a 5-6 record. A year later, Schnellenberger's Hurricanes went 8-3 and were invited to the Peach Bowl. They posted a 20-10 victory over Virginia Tech to finish 9-3 for the season. That game is cited by many as the turning point in the UM football program.

UM went 9-2 in 1981 and 7-4 in 1982, both respectable seasons. Still, nobody knew what was coming next.

By Schnellenberger's fifth and last season of 1983, UM had traveled even further - to the national championship of college football. Behind the passing wizardry of freshman quarterback Bernie Kosar, the Hurricanes upset Nebraska 31-30 in the 50th Orange Bowl Classic to cap a storybook 11-1 season and a No. 1 spot in both wire-service polls. It was the beginning of Miami Hurricanes as a national power.

THE JIMMY JOHNSON ERA (1984-88)

In May 1984, Schnellenberger resigned to pursue a position with an expansion franchise in the USFL (a team which never materialized). UM athletic director Sam Jankovich acted quickly and two weeks later plucked Jimmy Johnson away from Oklahoma State.

Johnson's first campaign resulted in an 8-5 record, including the "Hail Flutie" loss to Boston College and an appearance in the Fiesta Bowl. The 1985 squad was led by quarterback Vinny Testaverde, who led a high-powered offense to a matchup with Tennessee in the Sugar Bowl for a claim of the national championship. A 35-7 loss dashed any hopes of a second title.

In 1986, the 60th year of UM's varsity football history, the Hurricanes fielded what many consider to be one of the best college football teams ever. Led by Miami's first Heisman Trophy winner, Testaverde, the Hurricanes swept through the regular season with a perfect 11-0 mark. Miami held down the No. 1 national ranking for 15 weeks in the fall of '86 on the strength of a record-breaking offense and the nation's No. 5 ranked defense, a unit that featured first-team All-Americans Jerome Brown and Bennie Blades.

The dream of a second national crown in four years ended with a 14-10 loss at the Fiesta Bowl. But the Hurricanes of 1986 will long be remembered as one of the nation's most talented and televised teams of all time. In all, Miami appeared on network TV in eight of its 12 games, and in the spring of 1987, three Hurricanes (Testaverde, Alonzo Highsmith and Eddie Brown) were selected in the first nine picks of the National Football League draft.

The Hurricanes firmly established themselves as the Team of the 1980s in 1987 by winning the school's second national championship in five years. The season was highlighted by "The Game of the Year," as it was later called, on October 3 in Tallahassee, as No. 3 Miami faced No. 4 Florida State on national television (CBS). Miami overcame a 19-3 deficit behind three Steve Walsh touchdown passes and Bubba McDowell knocked down an FSU two-point conversion attempt to preserve a 26-25 Hurricanes victory.

The win set up the No. 2 ranked Hurricanes' showdown against the top-ranked Oklahoma Sooners in the 1988 Orange Bowl. For the third consecutive season, Miami dealt the powerful Sooners their only defeat of the year, 20-14, completing a 12-0 season, the first undefeated record by a UM varsity team.

At season's end safety Bennie Blades, Miami's all-time interceptions leader, was named consensus All-American for the second straight year and in January 1988 he was named co-recipient of the Jim Thorpe Award, which honors the nation's finest defensive back. Defensive end Daniel Stubbs, Miami's all-time sack leader, also closed out his memorable career as a consensus All-American and finished as a finalist for the Outland Trophy.

On January 29, 1988, the Hurricane players and coaches were honored guests of President Ronald Reagan at the White House, a first for any collegiate athletic team in the state of Florida.

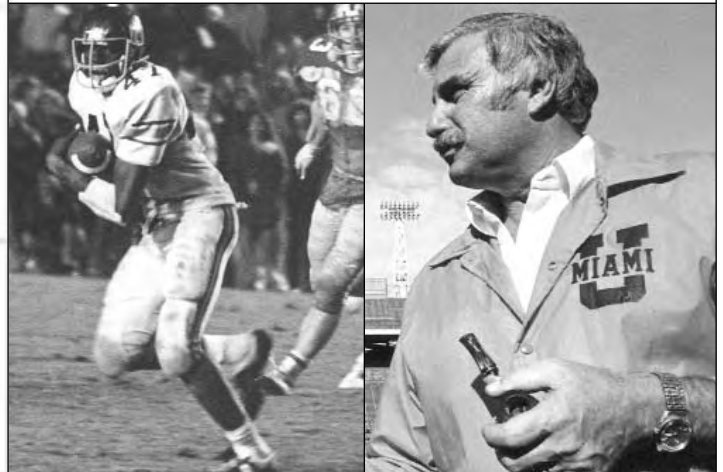

The Hurricanes opened the 1988 season with a nationally televised 31-0 win over preseason No. 1 Florida State. Miami went on to extend its regular season win streak to 36 games before finally falling to eventual champion Notre Dame 31-30 in South Bend, Ind.

First-team All-Americans Bill Hawkins (defensive end) and Steve Walsh (quarterback) led the 1988 Hurricanes to a remarkable season against what is perhaps the school's most difficult schedule ever. Miami finished the year with a No. 2 national ranking after playing in its sixth straight New Year's Day Bowl game.

THE DENNIS ERICKSON ERA (1989-94)

On February 25, 1989, Jimmy Johnson resigned to become the head football coach of the NFL's Dallas Cowboys. Following a national search for Johnson's successor, athletic director Sam Jankovich named 41-year old Dennis Erickson of Washington State as UM's 18th head coach on March 5.

It was a great choice. Erickson earned the distinction of being only the second Division I head coach to win a national title in his first season at a school, leading the Hurricanes to an 11-1 record and the school's third national championship in seven seasons. Truly the "Team of the '80s", Miami stormed to the crown with a 33-25 win over Alabama in the Sugar Bowl. Quarterback Craig Erickson won Sugar Bowl MVP honors.

THE HISTORY OF HURRICANES FOOTBALL

With All-American defensive linemen Greg Mark and Cortez Kennedy, Miami boasted the nation's No. 1 defense, leading the country in fewest yards permitted per game (216.5) and fewest points allowed per game (9.3). Additionally, UM established an NCAA record for fewest yards allowed on punt returns, surrendering just two yards on 12 returns for the season.

The 1990 edition of the Hurricanes went on to set school records in total offense (482.9 yards per game) and in passing yardage (324.8 ypg). A powerful defensive unit anchored by All-Americans Russell Maryland (who went on to become the Hurricanes' first Outland Trophy winner and was the first overall pick in the NFL draft) and Maurice Crum (a Butkus Award finalist) allowed just 79.7 yards per game rushing.

Miami finished the season with a 10-2 record and a 46-3 victory over Texas in the Mobil Cotton Bowl (in UM's eighth straight New Year's Day Bowl). With its No. 3 final ranking, it became only the second team in college football history to finish No. 1, 2 or 3 for five straight seasons.

Following the season Miami officially became a charter member of the Big East Football Conference, joining Boston College, Syracuse, Pittsburgh, Rutgers, Temple, Virginia Tech and West Virginia.

In 1991, Miami went 12-0 for only the second time in its history, winning the Associated Press (media) National Championship, while Washington, which also finished 12-0, was voted National Champion by CNN/USA Today (coaches). It was the second title in Dennis Erickson's three years (a feat matched by only one other coach), the third for the school in five years, and fourth in nine.

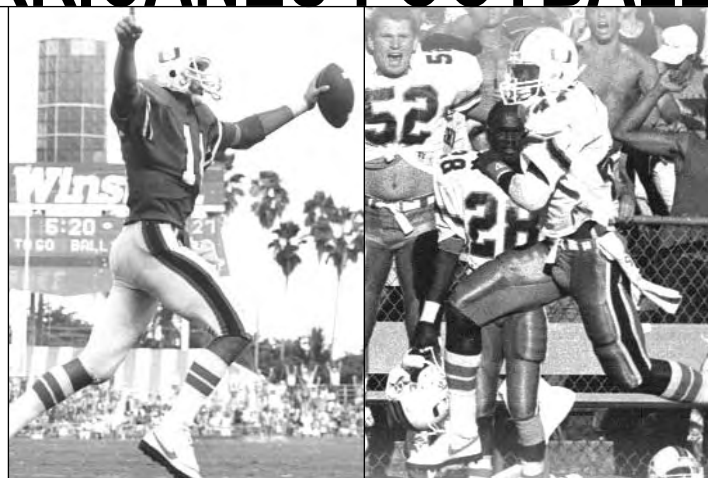

Kicker Carlos Huerta set an NCAA record with 157 consecutive extra points and set or tied 13 Miami records. He finished with 397 career points, third on the NCAA career list, and was one of five UM first-team All-Americans, joining defensive back Darryl Williams, offensive lineman Leon Searcy, linebacker Darrin Smith and receiver/kick returner Kevin Williams.

The season ended with a third visit to the White House in five years, this time to see President George H.W. Bush, following a convincing 22-0 win over Nebraska in the Federal Express Orange Bowl.

The 1992 season saw the Hurricanes face a level of adversity previously unimagined. Just prior to the season, on August 24, South Florida was devastated by Hurricane Andrew causing Erickson, five other coaches and several staff and players' families to move out of their severely damaged homes. The Miami football team was forced to move nearly 200 miles north to Dodgertown in Vero Beach to complete preseason drills before playing the season opener.

Defensive lineman Rubin Carter (1972-74) earned All-America honors in 1974 and is a member of the UM Sports Hall of Fame

The 24-7 road victory at Iowa was the first positive symbol for a ravaged Miami community. However, the reality of the rebuilding effort which was needed in South Florida vastly overshadowed the difficulty of the opponents which awaited the UM football team.

There was no fairness in the second-toughest schedule in the nation that produced what may perhaps be the three most rigorous weeks a college football team has ever faced. Just one month after Hurricane Andrew struck, Miami triumphed through a three-week blitz of two home games and a treacherous road contest: defeating Arizona 8-7, which would later defeat top-ranked Washington; topping third-ranked Florida State (Wide Right II) 19-16; and knocking off seventh-ranked Penn State 17-14 on the road. Three victories by a total of just seven points left the Hurricanes battling Washington in the polls for the No. 1 spot in the nation.

The hardship of what could easily be considered the most arduous campaign in the history of collegiate sports finally caught up to the Hurricanes in the Sugar Bowl, as an undefeated Alabama squad upset Miami's hopes of a second straight national title 34-13.

Head coach Dennis Erickson was named the Big East Coach of the Year, while quarterback Gino Torretta earned college football's highest individual honor, becoming Miami's second Heisman Trophy winner. Torretta became the most honored college player in history and was joined by linebackers Micheal Barrow and Darrin Smith and cornerback Ryan McNeil as first-team All-Americans.

A 41-17 defeat of Memphis State in the 1993 season finale gave the Canes their 57th consecutive home victory, tying the NCAA record set by Alabama, and sent a senior class to graduation without a loss in the Orange Bowl during their careers. Miami's new year opened on a down note, as the Arizona Wildcats handed the Hurricanes a 29-0 defeat in the Fiesta Bowl to leave UM with a 9-3 final record.

Miami dropped to No. 15 in the polls, ending an amazing streak of 137 consecutive polls in the Top 10. Defensive lineman Kevin Patrick was named Big East Defensive Player of the Year and a first-team All-American.

Miami opened the 1994 campaign by etching its name atop an NCAA record that may never fall. With a 56-0 victory over Georgia Southern, the Hurricanes recorded their 58th consecutive victory in the Orange Bowl, a streak that began in 1985. After posting a road victory at Arizona State, the Canes returned home to face another Pac-10 foe, Washington. The Huskies capitalized on a series of UM miscues early in the third quarter to produce 22 points, and the Miami home win streak ended with a 38-20 defeat.

Miami earned a trip to its 12th straight New Year's Day Bowl by staying home to host No. 1-ranked Nebraska in the Orange Bowl. The Canes led Nebraska 10-0 in the first quarter and 17-9 in the final stanza before eventually falling, 24-17. The Cornhuskers' win gave them their first national title since 1971 and dropped Miami to a final ranking of sixth in both polls.

Defensive tackle Warren Sapp etched his name among the great defensive linemen in UM history as he was named a consensus All-American and Miami's first Lombardi Award winner while safety C.J. Richardson was named to the Associated Press (AP) All-America Team.

THE BUTCH DAVIS ERA (1995-2000)

January of 1995 began a busy off-season for the Hurricane football program as head coach Dennis Erickson departed for the NFL's Seattle Seahawks and former UM assistant Butch Davis returned to Coral Gables following six seasons as an assistant coach with the Dallas Cowboys.

By mid-October, Miami found itself with a 1-3 record, including a 0-1 mark in conference play, and seven consecutive weeks of games remaining in the regular season, six of which were Big East contests. Undaunted, the Hurricanes regrouped and reeled off seven straight wins to finish the season with an 8-3 record.

Junior middle linebacker Ray Lewis finished second in the balloting for the 1995 Butkus Award and was honored as a first-team All-American by the Associated Press.

The 1996 season began with four consecutive wins and a return to the AP top 10 rankings. The Hurricanes became the first team in Big East history to record back-to-back shutouts with wins over Rutgers (33-0) and Pitt (45-0). UM put an exclamation point on its season with its first bowl win in five seasons, a 31-21 Carquest Bowl triumph over Virginia. Center K.C. Jones proved to be among the best players in the country by garnering AP All-American honors. Tremain Mack was a unanimous choice as the Big East Special Teams Player of the Year.

The 1997 Hurricanes became the first team in the history of the program to put together three consecutive games of rushing for more than 300 yards. Miami accomplished the feat in wins over Boston College, Temple and Arkansas State. In the thrilling, double overtime victory over BC, running back Edgerrin James set what was then a Big East and University of Miami single-game rushing record with 271 yards in the 45-44 win.

A young Hurricanes squad also received individual recognition, as wide receiver Reggie Wayne and tight end Daniel Franks were named Freshman All-Americans and linebacker Dan Morgan received second-team honors. Wayne established a UM freshman receiving record with 48 catches and was also named Big East Rookie of the Year.

In 1998 the Hurricanes began their ascent back to the top of college football. A team that featured 71 sophomores and freshmen battled to a Big East Conference title showdown with Syracuse in the conference finale. Miami rebounded from a bitter defeat at Syracuse to ruin UCLA's national title hopes in the regular-season finale.

In a game that was originally scheduled to be played in the Orange Bowl on September 26 but was rescheduled for December 5 as Hurricane Georges set its sights on South Florida, Miami hosted the third-ranked Bruins and their 20-game winning streak. When Cade McNown's "Hail Mary" pass fell through the back of the end zone as time expired, fans stormed the Orange Bowl field to celebrate UM's dramatic 49-45 victory. The Hurricanes had sent notice to the college football world that the program was headed back in the right direction.

Miami finished 1998 with a 9-3 mark and a No. 20 final ranking following a 46-23 dismantling of North Carolina State in the Micron PC Bowl at nearby Pro Player Stadium. Offensive lineman Joaquin Gonzalez became the first lineman in Big East history to be named conference Rookie of the Year, as Miami placed eight players on the All-Big East squad and three earned Freshman All-American honors.

The 1999 season marked another major step forward for Miami. The Hurricanes opened with a 23-12 win over Ohio State in the Kickoff Classic. Two games later, Miami lost to then-No. 2 Penn State, 27-23, as the Hurricanes pushed the Nittany Lions to the threshold in the game's waning minutes. Then, Miami traveled to No. 1 Florida State and played FSU even for a half before falling 31-21.

The Hurricanes produced the largest comeback in UM history at Boston College, erasing a 28-0 third quarter deficit to win, 31-28. That win provided UM with momentum as the Canes would win seven of their final eight games, the only loss coming to No. 2 Virginia Tech. The successful season was capped by a 28-13 win over Georgia Tech in the Gator Bowl, providing a springboard toward 2000.

The 2000 Hurricanes set their sights on returning Miami football to the national elite. For 17 seniors who had weathered the tough times, nothing short of a run for the national title would suffice. Despite an early loss road loss to eventual Rose Bowl champion Washington (29-34), the Hurricanes met their main goal and many others in a memorable season that was both exhilarating and excruciating.

Exhilarating because of Miami's big victories over top-ranked Florida State and No. 2-ranked Virginia Tech. Excruciating because the Hurricanes, acknowledged nationally as college football's hottest team at season's end, were not given a chance to play for the national championship. Still, Miami ripped through its schedule and laid an impressive 37-20 win on Florida in the Nokia Sugar Bowl to make a case for a fifth championship and setting the stage for another title run in 2001.

The architect of Miami's turnaround, Davis wasn't around to see the program regain its place atop college football. He resigned on Jan. 29, 2001, to accept the head coaching job with the NFL's Cleveland Browns. Just nine days away from recruiting's signing day, UM athletic director Paul Dee was faced with a monumental decision that would directly affect the future of the program. Should he look for a "name" coach from around the nation, or hire from within the current staff?

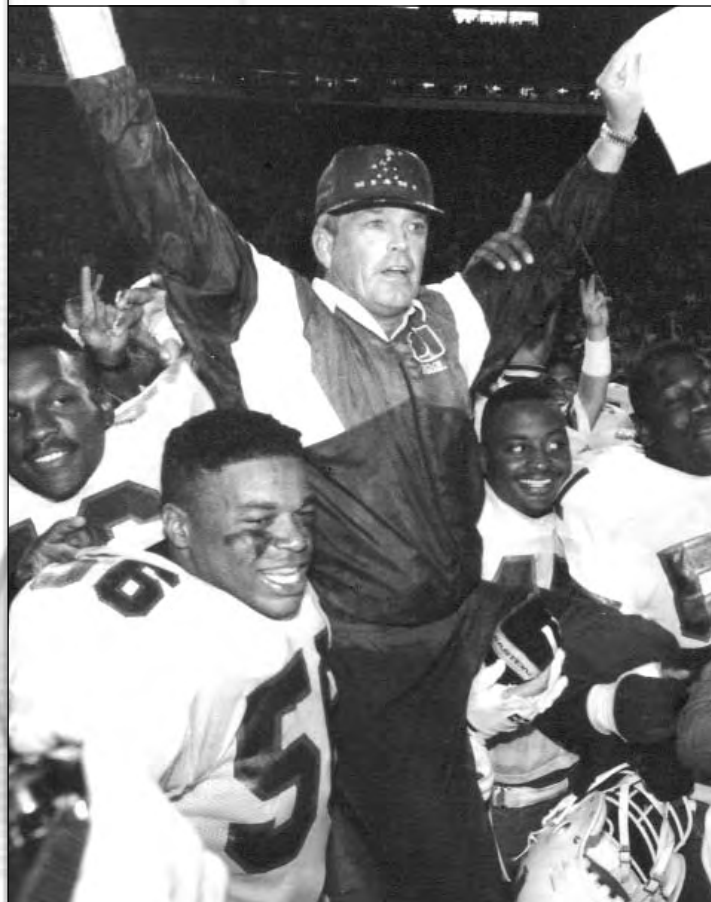

THE LARRY COKER ERA (2001-PRESENT)

Paul Dee chose to break with Miami's recent history, naming long-time assistant coach Larry Coker as UM's 19th head football coach on February 3, 2001. The impact of that hire was immediate. Miami's top-notch recruiting class held together, as did much of the coaching staff. And Coker's ascension kept the returning players focused on the stated goal of winning Miami's fifth national title.

The 2001 season started with Coker facing coaching legend Joe Paterno and the Penn State Nittany Lions. A crowd of 109,313 – the largest ever for a Miami game – watched the Hurricanes open the season with a resounding statement. Miami raced to a 30-0 halftime lead on the way to a 33-7 victory before a national television audience. Quarterback Ken Dorsey orchestrated a 344-yard passing performance and the Hurricanes were stifling on defense in the victory.

Victories over Rutgers (61-0), Pittsburgh (43-21) and Troy State (38-7) followed before the annual clash with Florida State. The Seminoles were riding a 54-game home unbeaten streak (37 straight wins), and had not lost on their home turf since a UM victory in 1991.

Miami's mission to "Break History and Make History" was accomplished in spectacular fashion with a 49-27 defeat of the Seminoles. Another national television audience watched the Hurricanes' defense cause six FSU turnovers.

THE HISTORY OF HURRICANES FOOTBALL

Miami scored via offense, defense and special teams en route to its largest points total ever against the Seminoles, a victory that returned UM to the top of the rankings.

Resounding wins over West Virginia (45-3) and Temple (38-0) followed before a heart-stopping finish at Boston College. Miami weathered five turnovers and was clinging to a 12-7 lead late in the game on the strength of four Todd Sievers field goals when BC marched to the shadow of the UM end zone. With less than 20 seconds remaining, cornerback Mike Rumph deflected a BC pass into the arms of defensive tackle Matt Walters at the UM nine-yard line. Walters cradled the ball tightly as he returned it to the 20-yard line before All-America free safety Edward Reed took the ball from Walters and set sail on an 80-yard interception for a touchdown to clinch an 18-7 victory.

The Hurricanes were hitting on all cylinders in their next two home games, laying shocking defeats on nationally ranked Syracuse (59-0) and Washington (65-7). Those victories were the largest consecutive blowouts over ranked opponents in modern NCAA history. But just when it seemed this Miami team was invincible, and a lock for a Rose Bowl berth, a final test remained.

Miami already had clinched the Big East title and was looking to reserved its place in the national championship game in Pasadena, but the Virginia Tech Hokies would not go down quietly as UM's 11th victim. Miami built a 24-7 lead in the fourth quarter as tailback Clinton Portis, who rushed for 1,200 yards in the regular season, scored one touchdown and Dorsey connected with tight end Jeremy Shockey for another score. Three Todd Sievers field goals also contributed to the lead and, when he added a fourth midway through the period to give UM a 26-14 lead, it appeared only a miracle finish could deprive the Hurricanes of their goal. Tech's miracle would have been Miami's nightmare – and it almost happened. A blocked punt was returned for a touchdown, drawing Tech to within two points at 26-24. Tech then went for two points on a pass play, but the pass fell incomplete. The UM defense held off Tech on two late possessions and Miami survived its closest call of the season, setting up Miami's Rose Bowl berth for the right to play Nebraska for the national championship.

The Rose Bowl game hosted the Bowl Championship Series (BCS) title game for the first time, the first time in 56 years that teams from conferences other than the Pacific Ten Conference and the Big Ten Conference were competing in the game. Miami left little doubt about which team was college football's best, racing to a 34-0 halftime lead behind a huge first half performance by game co-MVPs Dorsey and Andre Johnson. Dorsey and Johnson connected for two touchdowns and 199 yards in the game with Dorsey throwing for a career-best 362 yards. Portis added another score on a brilliant 39-yard touchdown run and the Hurricanes were able to enjoy the second half of their national title victory.

Miami's fifth national title team in 19 years ranked among its most dominating, setting a school and Big East record with 475 points in the regular season. Miami's 37-point outburst in the Rose Bowl gave the team 512 points overall. In BIG EAST games, the 2001 Hurricanes scored 290 points, second to 2000's 310. During the 2001 regular season, UM outscored its opponents by an average margin of 43.2 to 9.4. The total included a 239-33 (21.7-3.0) advantage in the first half and 236-70 (21.5-6.36) mark in the second half.

That consistent domination not only solidified the team's place among the best in recent college history, but made history for Coker who became the first rookie head coach to lead his team to a national title since 1948. Coker earned two national Coach of the Year honors, winning the "Bear" Bryant Award from the National Sportswriters and Sportscasters Association, and sharing the American Football Coaches' Association honor with Maryland's Ralph Friedgen.

With a large nucleus of players returning from the 2001 national champs, the Hurricanes embarked on a quest for another national title in 2002 as Miami attempted to win titles in successive seasons for the first time in the program's storied history. A daunting schedule loomed, including road games at traditional national powers Florida and Tennessee and games with seven 2001 bowl teams overall.

Many predicted Miami would struggle against the harsh schedule, but the Hurricanes came incredibly close to another unbeaten national title season while running their winning streak to a school-record 34 games (the longest in college football in 32 years). The season opening 63-17 spanking of Florida A&M in the Orange Bowl served as a precursor to one of Miami's most anticipated regular season games in recent history, a road trip to Gainesville to take on the Florida Gators.

The first regular season meeting between UM and UF in 16 years was a matchup of a pair of teams ranked in the nation's top 10. The top-ranked Hurricanes, slight underdogs entering the game, dominated the sixth-ranked Gators with an impressive show of offensive versatility and defensive force in a stunningly east 41-16 victory. The outcome was the most lopsided UF home loss in more than 20 years.

Quarterback Ken Dorsey threw for four touchdowns, tailback Willis McGahee rushed for 204 yards, the Miami defense created three turnovers and harried UF quarterback Rex Grossman into the worst passing day of his career. Miami's dominant victory solidified the Hurricanes as college football's best team as the meat of the 2002 season began.

McGahee and Dorsey emerged as a duo of leading Heisman Trophy candidates as the Hurricanes raced to easy wins over Temple (44-21), Boston College (38-6) and Connecticut (48-14). But the Hurricanes were put to their greatest test on October 12 when the Florida State Seminoles shut down Miami's running game and built a 27-14 lead in the fourth period of this annual showdown. Dorsey rallied the offense late in the game, leading a lightning fast touchdown march to pull Miami within 27-21 on a two-yard pass to Kevin Beard with 8:10 remaining.

Miami forced an FSU punt and raced to another touchdown as Dorsey passed to McGahee, who took a screen pass 68 yards to the FSU 11. Jason Geathers took a delayed handoff the distance on the next play to put Miami up by a point, 28-27, with 5:17 left. FSU took the ensuing possession to within field goal range, but Xavier Beitia's 43-yard attempt was wide left as time expired to preserve another dramatic Miami victory over the Seminoles.

Road victories at West Virginia (40-23 as Dorsey passed for 422 yards), Rutgers (42-17) and Tennessee (26-3 before 107,745 fans) followed before another close call in a 28-21 win over Pittsburgh at home. After a 49-7 rout at Syracuse and a wild 56-45 home win over Virginia Tech, the Hurricanes had earned a shot at their sixth national title with a berth in the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl.

The Hurricanes took on the Ohio State Buckeyes in Tempe, Ariz., and the matchup provided one of college football's most dramatic games. Miami overcame a 17-7 second-half deficit to tie the game when Todd Sievers nailed a 40-yard field goal as time expired. Miami took the lead 24-17 in the first overtime when Dorsey connected with tight end Kellen Winslow for a score. Ohio State responded with a touchdown to send it to a second overtime, a score made possible by a controversial pass interference call in the end zone on a fourth-down play that kept the Buckeyes' drive alive. OSU took a 31-24 lead, a lead they held when Miami's final possession ended on an incompleteness from the two-yard line on fourth down. Miami's 34-game winning streak had ended, and its hopes for back-to-back national championships did, too.

Miami's 2003 season was a new beginning in many ways. The leadership core of the program's great run had largely departed, but the high expectations remained the same. Miami entered the season still riding a win streak of 32 straight in regular-season games, but there were plenty of new faces in key positions on a team that was loaded with talent.

The Hurricanes raced to a 7-0 start, but faced several tough obstacles along the way. The first came in the home opener against Florida. Mistakes on offense and uncharacteristic letdowns on defense led to a stunning collapse as Miami fell behind the Gators, 33-10, midway through the third quarter. A packed house at the Orange Bowl was in disbelief but the Hurricanes rallied behind the hot hand of quarterback Brock Berlin who compiled one of the most amazing performances in Miami history in the second half. Berlin led Miami to a 38-33 comeback win by completing 19 of his final 21 passes over the game's final 21 minutes, leading four touchdown drives and taking the Hurricanes to the winning score with just over a minute remaining.

A few weeks later, Miami's offense bogged down again in a close game with West Virginia on a Thursday night before an ESPN audience. Miami led the entire game before WVU shockingly took a 20-19 lead with two minutes remaining. Berlin and the Hurricanes faced a fourth-and-13 situation with just more than a minute left, but Kellen Winslow made an acrobatic catch for an 18-yard gain to get the offense rolling. Berlin completed six of seven passes on the game-winning drive that was capped by a 22-yard Jon Peattie field goal (his UM-record fifth of the game) for a 22-20 victory. Berlin set UM records for pass completions (37) and pass attempts (54) in the game.

Miami's early struggles against Florida and West Virginia put the second-ranked Hurricanes in the strange position of being decided underdogs for their annual clash with fifth-ranked Florida State in Tallahassee. But the Hurricanes physically dominated the game on both sides of the football to take a 22-14 win in a driving rainstorm. The Miami defense set the tone for the game by harassing FSU quarterback Chris Rix into two interceptions and sacking him three times. Safety Sean Taylor had a school-record eight pass breakups and returned an intercepted pass 50 yards for a score as Miami opened up a 19-0 halftime lead and coasted to its fourth consecutive win in the heated rivalry.

Miami moved to 7-0 with a win over Temple before a crucial road trip to Virginia Tech. Miami's 39-game regular season win streak and its 27-game Big East Conference win streak both ended as the Hokies took advantage of Miami miscues and turnovers for a 31-7 defeat of the Hurricanes. Miami lost decisively despite outgaining Tech 377 to 219 and limited Tech to just 11 first downs and 44 passing yards. Tech returned a fumble and an interception for touchdowns to take a 17-0 lead and never was challenged. The loss was Miami's first road loss since Sept. 9, 2000, a span of 18 road games.

Miami's woes continued as its confidence waned. Tennessee came to the Orange Bowl and capitalized on Miami's problems by taking a 10-6 verdict in front of a stunned crowd. Miami outgained UT 321 to 170 but committed four turnovers to none by the Volunteers. Twice in the fourth quarter Miami drove within scoring range but turnovers ended both possessions.

The Hurricanes righted their ship over the ensuing weeks, taking a 17-10 win over Syracuse in which freshman tailback Tyrone Moss sparked the running game; using big plays by the special teams and the defense, along with a revived rushing game to beat Rutgers by a 34-10 count; and clinching their fourth consecutive BIG EAST title and BCS bowl berth with a bruising rushing performance in a dominant 28-14 win at Pittsburgh.

Miami closed its season in the FedEx Orange Bowl Classic against rival Florida State. The unusual rematch played out much like the first meeting after Miami fell behind early. After trailing 14-3 early in the second quarter, Miami physically took over the game with its running game to mount a comeback. Jarrett Payton rushed for 131 yards on 22 carries to earn game Most Valuable Player honors. His 46-yard run set up Miami's first touchdown. Jon Peattie nailed three field goals and Miami's defense held FSU to 206 total yards while limiting Chris Rix to 6-of-19 passing for only 96 yards. A missed FSU field goal attempt in the fourth period continued Miami's roll in the series as the Hurricanes ended 2003 with a five-game win streak over their rivals from Tallahassee.

Eight Hurricanes earned first-team All-Big East honors in 2003, led by Conference Defensive Player of the Year Sean Taylor. Taylor and tight end Kellen Winslow were consensus first-team All-Americans while linebacker Jonathan Vilma was mentioned on several All-America squads and was a finalist for the Butkus Award. Winslow continued Miami's string of award winners as he was named winner of the John Mackey Award as college football's top tight end.

The 2004 season was to be somewhat of a rebuilding season for Miami, which saw six players selected in the first round of the NFL draft in April, the most ever of any college. It would also be the Hurricanes' first season as members of the Atlantic Coast Conference. The season was to start on Labor Day night against Florida State in the Orange Bowl in front of a nationally televised ABC audience. However, the arrival of another Hurricane – this one called Hurricane Francis – closed down the campus and delayed the game four days. On September 10, a Friday night, the Hurricanes hosted the Seminoles and were trailing 10-3 in the fourth quarter. With 4:09 remaining, the Seminoles attempted a 34-yard field goal that would have iced the victory. But Devin Hester blocked the kick, giving the Hurricanes a chance. Not long after, Brock Berlin led Miami on an 80-yard drive, throwing a 30-yard touchdown pass to Sinorice Moss with 30 seconds remaining. The game went into overtime and Miami's momentum held. The Hurricanes forced a fumble on Florida State's first possession, and two plays later Frank Gore scored on an 18-yard run for a 16-10 victory.

The Hurricanes rolled through several more victories (48-0 over Louisiana Tech, 38-13 over Houston and 27-3 over Georgia Tech). Then came another nationally televised game, this time against 18th-ranked Louisville at the Orange Bowl on a Thursday night. The Cardinals jumped out to a 31-14 lead before Miami stormed back for a 41-38 victory. Once again, Berlin and Hester were the keys, as the quarterback passed for 308 yards and Hester returned his third kick of the year for a touchdown. The Hurricanes were at No. 2 in the first BCS rankings of the season, and a run at another national championship was in the making. The remaining six games of the year were all against ACC schools. Miami defeated North Carolina State 45-31, but by then the defense was showing some vulnerabilities. The national title hopes were dashed a week later, when North Carolina upset the Hurricanes 31-28 on a last-second field goal. Miami returned home to face Clemson at the Orange Bowl and lost again, this time 24-17 in overtime after leading 17-3 at halftime. The Hurricanes headed to Virginia with All-American cornerback Antrel Rolle out of the lineup and not one senior starting on defense. Things looked grim, but Miami played strong, led by Frank Gore's 195 yards rushing. UM won 31-21. The next game, the Hurricanes clobbered Wake Forest 52-7, setting up a showdown in the Orange Bowl two weeks later against Virginia Tech. The winner would win the ACC and go to the Sugar Bowl; the loser would be out of the BCS bowl series. The Hurricanes had numerous opportunities but lost 16-10, finishing in a tie for third place in their inaugural season in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Miami was invited to the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl, to play state-rival Florida. Although not playing in a BCS game for the first time in five years, the Hurricanes struggled early on offense but saw the return of a ferocious defense that sacked Gators quarterback Chris Leak five times. Devin Hester returned a blocked field goal 78 yards for a touchdown and Roscoe Parrish took a punt back 72 yards for another score. In the second half, Berlin connected with Ryan Moore on a TD pass and Jon Peattie kicked two field goals for the decisive 27-10 victory that gave the Hurricanes a 9-3 record.

The 2005 season opened on Labor Day night against Florida State, this time in Tallahassee. Sophomore Kyle Wright started his first game at quarterback, but the offense struggled and the Hurricanes trailed 10-7 in the fourth quarter. Wright led the team on a 19-play drive in the final minutes, hitting tight end Greg Olsen with four consecutive third-down passes to keep the ball. However, a botched snap and hold on a 28-yard field goal attempt killed the Hurricanes' chances of winning, and they opened the season 0-1 for the first time in eight years.

In the next game, Miami came back to defeat Clemson in three overtimes, as Tyrone Moss scored three touchdowns. The Hurricanes went on a eight-game winning streak, adding victories over Colorado, South Florida, Duke, Temple, North Carolina, Virginia Tech and Wake Forest. By midseason, the defense was ranked No. 1 in the country, and the offense was slowly picking up steam. In the North Carolina game, Moss scored four touchdowns and rushed for 195 yards. The Virginia Tech showdown put Miami back in the national spotlight. The Hurricanes forced six turnovers of Hokies quarterback Marcus Vick and won 27-7, moving up to third in the polls after the game. Then came a game against Georgia Tech that had been delayed four weeks because of Hurricane Wilma. Miami came out flat, losing 14-10 when another fourth-quarter comeback fell short. A win over Virginia closed out the regular season, and the Hurricanes were invited back to the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl, where they lost 40-3 to Louisiana State.

MIAMI ENDS MAJOR STREAKS

The University of Miami has made a habit of snapping opponent win streaks. Since 1983 the Hurricanes have ended opponent win streaks of 10 or more games 10 times. Each win-streak ending victory has come against a team ranked in the top 3, with eight of the triumphs coming against the nation's top-ranked squad. Over the last 20 years, UM has ended four win streaks of 20 or more games, the most of any school in the nation. Miami is one of two schools in college football history (Princeton) to snap win streaks of 20 or more games on four occasions.

Miami as No. 1 in the AP Poll

The Hurricanes have played in 49 games all-time while holding the AP's No. 1 ranking and have forged a 43-6 record in those contests. Prior to the loss to Ohio State (24-31) in the 2003 Fiesta Bowl, UM had won 22 straight games when it held the top spot in the polls dating back to the 2001 season. In the regular season, UM has been ranked No. 1 by the AP in 44 games and has recorded a 41-3 mark. UM last lost a regular season game while holding the No. 1 ranking in the 1990 season opener at BYU, 28-21 on Sept. 8. SENSATIONAL SEASONS

National Championships

Until the BCS Championship came along, the national championship team in college football generally was considered to be the top-rated team in the final rankings issued by the poll of sportswriters and broadcasters (Associated Press) and the poll of coaches (USA Today).

Since the AP began certifying the winner of its national title in 1936, Miami has won five national championships (1983, 1987, 1989, 1991 and 2001), a total that ranks among the national leaders (Notre Dame has eight, Oklahoma has seven, and Alabama has six).

The coaches' poll has voted a national champion since 1950. Miami has won four national titles via the coaches' rankings since then (1983, 1987, 1989 and 2001) with Oklahoma leading the nation with six coaches' poll national championships, just ahead of the five won by Southern California.

A variety of other systems have been recognized over the years in determining college football's finest team. Among them, the Football Writers Association of America has presented the Grantland Rice Award since 1954 and the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame has presented the MacArthur Bowl to its national champion since 1959.

Seven other titles went to different schools:

TCU (AP – 1938), Texas A&M (AP – 1939), UCLA (UPI – 1954), Auburn (AP – 1957), Colorado (AP – 1990), Georgia Tech (UPI – 1990), Washington (UPI – 1991)

Summary:

- 101 of the 134 titles have gone to 12 teams
- There have been disputed titles in 1954, 1957, 1965, 1970, 1973, 1974, 1978, 1990, 1991, 1997 and 2003.

National Championship Selectors

College football's national champion normally is considered the top-ranked team in the final rankings issued each year by the poll of sportswriters and broadcasters (Associated Press) and the poll of college football head coaches (United Press International through 1990, USA Today/CNN from 1991-96, USA Today/ESPN 1997-2004 and USA Today starting in 2005). Since AP began certifying the winner of its title in 1936, Miami has won five national championships (1983, 1987, 1989, 1991 and 2001). Only three other schools – Notre Dame (8), Oklahoma (7) and Alabama (6) – have won more AP titles.

The coaches' poll has selected a national champion since 1950. Miami won two UPI titles (1983 and 1987). The UPI poll was taken following the end of the regular season from 1950-73. UPI began taking a final ranking following bowl games beginning with the 1974 season.

The Football Writers Association of America has presented the Grantland Rice Award since 1954, with Miami earning the trophy five times (1983, 1987, 1989, 1991 and 2001). The National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame has presented the MacArthur Bowl to its national champion since 1959. Miami has won the MacArthur Bowl four times (1983, 1987, 1989 and 2001).

Several other ratings systems have been recognized over the years in attempting to determine college football's top team each season.

Miami is generally considered to have won four consensus national championships (1983, 1987, 1989 and 2001). However, there have been eight seasons in which Miami has qualified as a national champion from at least one legitimate poll.

Sensational Seasons

In 80 seasons of college football beginning in 1926, Miami has had 54 winning seasons, 22 losing seasons, and four others with a .500 record. The Hurricanes have had four unbeaten, untied seasons (1926, 1987, 1991, 2001) and nine seasons in which one loss marred an otherwise unbeaten record (1943, 1954, 1983, 1986, 1988, 1989, 1992, 2000, 2002). Three times Miami has had one loss and a tie marling an otherwise perfect season (1945, 1950, 1956).

1983 NATIONAL CHAMPIONS

The Miracle in Miami

Less than a decade removed from a period of uncertainty in which there was open talk of dropping the football program, the University of Miami Hurricanes stunned the college football world by defeating the top-ranked Nebraska Cornhuskers, 31-30, in the 1984 Orange Bowl Classic on January 1, 1984.

The victory was monumental – for UM football and for college football in general. Monumental not only because the Cornhuskers were widely considered to be among the most powerful teams in college football history, but it also heralded the dawn of a new dynasty in the sport from a program that had been all but dead just a few short years earlier. That victory - combined with losses by second-ranked Texas in the Cotton Bowl and Illinois in the Rose Bowl - vaulted the Hurricanes into the top spot in the final national rankings.

"It's unlikely that any team in the history of college football ever got higher for a game than Miami did for Nebraska," wrote John Underwood of Sports Illustrated. "And if you missed Monday night's game, you missed an emergence ... Down went Nebraska's 22-game winning streak, and up went the burgee of a team that may well be the next great name in the game."

This was the first national title team without a single player making an All-America first team voted by AP, UPI, the Football Writers Association or the College Football Coaches Association.

One of the keys was a melting pot offensive line – a Canadian (center Ian Sinclair), a Cuban-American (guard Juan Comendeiro), an African-American (guard Alvin Ward), an Italian-American (tackle Paul Bertucelli) and an Irish-American (tackle Dave Heffernan).

Miami was only the second national title team to gain more passing yards than rushing yards.

"It's a tribute to a lot of gutsy players and a real team effort," head coach Howard Schnellenberger said. "We've got a lot of overachievers on our team – or else there has been a poor job of selection done by the All-American selectors."

1984 Orange Bowl Classic
No.5 Miami 31, No.1 Nebraska 30

Dominance From Start to Finish

The Hurricanes were supposed to be rebuilding. Reloading was more accurate. This Miami team was supposed to be the lull before the storm of 1988 and 1989. After all, the Hurricanes had lost five starters on offense from a team that had come within a whisper of a national title in 1985 and a 1986 squad that was considered among the best ever, only to lose its title shot in the Fiesta Bowl.

But this team was more offensively balanced than the previous season's juggernaut and, with nine starters returning to an underrated defense, the Hurricanes were a more well-rounded team altogether. Ranked 10th in the preseason Associated Press rankings, this team quickly showed it would be better than advertised.

Miami ripped rival Florida in the season opener, then embarrassed Arkansas on the Razorbacks' home field. The season's third game was a classic. Being dominated by fourth-ranked Florida State, 19-3, late in the third quarter, Miami launched one of its greatest comebacks. The Hurricanes scored three lightning-quick touchdowns: a 49-yard bomb from Steve Walsh to Melvin Bratton, a 26-yarder from Walsh to Michael Irvin (plus a two-point conversion to tie it at 19), then a 73-yard strike from Walsh to Irvin for the lead with 2:22 remaining. Miami would have to stop an FSU two-pointer to hold for a 26-25 victory.

There seemed to be no stopping these Hurricanes after that. Miami rolled through the remainder of the regular season, ripping 10th-ranked Notre Dame (24-0) and surviving a scare from eighth-ranked South Carolina (20-16) to set up a matchup with top-ranked Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl Classic on New Year's Day.

The Hurricanes bottled up OU's wishbone attack, holding the Sooners to just 179 yards on the ground (OU came in averaging 428.8). Elation for Miami was frustration for OU – the Sooners only three losses over the last three seasons had come to the Hurricanes.

"If we stick together, we can climb mountains. Any mountain, anywhere."

- Bennie Blades, safety

"We played our way to this championship. We have the best record versus anybody in the country . . . We beat Oklahoma three in a row, Florida State and Notre Dame three in a row, Florida a couple . . . What is sweetest is that we did it as a team. We lost starters and had other guys come in and played magnificently."

1989 NATIONAL CHAMPIONS

Two Ericksons and a Tenacious "D"

By the time head coach Dennis Erickson arrived in Coral Gables to take over the UM football program prior to the 1989 season, Miami football had established itself as the "Team of the '80s". But the "Team of the Decade" faced a new challenge as that decade closed.

The departure of head coach Jimmy Johnson to the NFL's Dallas Cowboys in February had also cost the UM program the services of six assistant coaches and several support staff. Miami's switch to a one-back offense caused much off-season debate, but the Hurricanes remained in their trademark 4-3 defense and had the talent on both sides of the ball to maintain their level of excellence.

Twelve starters returned, but the loss of quarterback Steve Walsh, running back Cleveland Gary, linebacker Randy Shannon and cornerback Bubba McDowell would be felt. Nonetheless, the Hurricanes reloaded and ran off six victories to start the season. Quarterback Craig Erickson was lost for three games in the middle of the season – including a 24-10 loss at Florida State – before returning and leading the Hurricanes on an impressive stretch run.

How good was Miami's defense? The Hurricanes didn't allow a touchdown for one 10-quarter stretch during the regular season, held six opponents without a touchdown and allowed just 9.3 points per game.

Miami rebounded from the FSU loss to whip their remaining opponents by an average margin of 18 points, including a 27-10 trouncing of defending national champion and top-ranked Notre Dame (27-10), ending the Irish's 23-game win streak (the seventh season in a row in which UM had defeated a No. 1-ranked team). That victory clinched a Sugar Bowl berth against seventh-ranked Alabama.

Miami dispatched Alabama by a deceptively close 33-25 score in New Orleans and moved into the top spot of the rankings when Notre Dame knocked off top-ranked Colorado in the Orange Bowl, giving the Hurricanes their third national title in seven seasons.

"Miami is in a different class. They would give the (NFL's Chicago) Bears a problem."

- Tim Grunhard, Notre Dame offensive guard

"We never had control of the game. Miami's got to be No. 1."

- Bill Curry, Alabama head coach

Gino, The Ruthless Posse and Wide Right I

A combustible offense, a rock-solid defense and the nation's best special teams – by 1991 all these traits had become synonymous with Miami football and this team represented the zenith of its era. Quarterback Gino Torretta, a group of skill players nicknamed "The Ruthless Posse," and a linebacker corps that ranks among the greatest ever assembled, led these Hurricanes.

Miami was seldom challenged. When they were, the Hurricanes passed every test. They started the season by ripping Arkansas on the road and dominating a Houston offense that had terrorized opponents for four seasons up to that game. Their first stiff challenge came against Penn State on October 12 and the Hurricanes, behind staunch defense and big plays by Horace Copeland (80-yard scoring catch) and Kevin Williams (91-yard punt return for a TD) held off the Nittany Lions.

Two challenges in November punctuated the season. First was the annual grudge match in Tallahassee against Florida State. In what became known as "Wide Right I" the Hurricanes erased a 16-7 deficit in the final period on a 45-yard field goal by Carlos Huerta and a one-yard run by Larry Jones with 3:01 left to take a 17-16 lead. FSU marched down for a potential game-winning field goal in the closing seconds, but Gerry Thomas' 34-yard attempt was wide right.

Miami escaped another close call a week later, slipping by Boston College on the road. The Hurricanes defense held off a late BC drive in the final seconds to preserve the 19-14 victory. A blowout of San Diego State clinched an Orange Bowl berth.

With their fourth national title in their sights, there was no stopping the Hurricanes against Nebraska. Miami stymied the Huskers' offense as few have, limiting the famed Nebraska ground game to just 82 rushing yards and throwing a shutout of the Big Eight Conference champions.

The victory gave Miami the national title in the Associated Press rankings. The Hurricanes shared overall national honors with Rose Bowl champ Washington, which nudged ahead in the coaches' poll.

"To win one national championship is amazing. For guys to win their second in three years, that hasn't been accomplished by many. That's what makes this championship special. And it came in a situation where we had not been picked to be that good. Some people said we'd be No. 3 in the state of Florida."

Character, Class and Poise = Championship

The Hurricanes' fifth national championship may have been the program's most rewarding. No longer was Miami looked at as the bad boys of college football. A veteran senior class that had endured the shame of a losing season in 1997 and had rebuilt the program – inside and out – led this team. Miami returned to the top in 2001 by showing character, class and poise.

How good was this team? Many argue it may have been the school's best ever. A strong statement, but one that has some factual backing. This team beat opponents by the largest average margin in UM history (33.2 points per game), produced the biggest two-game whippings of any pair of ranked teams in history by defeating Syracuse and Washington by a combined 124-7, set a new UM record for scoring and featured a defense that scored eight touchdowns and led the nation in pass defense, scoring defense and turnover margin.

Throw in a kicking game that featured one of the nation's finest punters and a placekicker that led the nation in field goals and it's hard to argue against the 2001 edition. An astounding seven Hurricanes were named to at least one All-America team's first unit. Six players were finalists for national awards, led by Outland Trophy winner Bryant McKinnie in offensive tackle and Maxwell Award winning quarterback Ken Dorsey.

The 2001 Hurricanes could be a scary bunch when clicking on all cylinders. And they were for much of the season. They started with a stunning rout of Penn State on the road before the largest crowd (109,313) ever to see a Miami game. They ended Florida State's 54-game unbeaten streak in Tallahassee with a resounding 49-27 whipping. Then Miami fought off challenges from Boston College and Virginia Tech on the road, holding it together in situations that would have broken most teams.

The stars were numerous. On offense: quarterback Ken Dorsey, tailback Clinton Portis (1,200 yards rushing), tight end Jeremy Shockey, an offensive line that allowed an incredibly low two sacks by the starting unit, a receivers corps led by Andre Johnson, a defensive line in which nine players could play without losing a step and led by William Joseph, a linebacker corps that developed into a force and a secondary that was the nation's best, led by safety Edward Reed and cornerbacks Mike Rumph and Phillip Buchanon.

The power of this team was evident for all to see in its Rose Bowl rout of Nebraska for the national title. Miami roared to a 34-0 halftime lead, erasing any doubts about what team was college football's best in 2001.

"Offense, defense, special teams -- this team is loaded. It's the best one I've ever seen, and I think we could line up and play with any college team that's ever been."

VINNY TESTAVERDE

1986 HEISMAN TROPHY WINNER

In 1986, Vinny Testaverde became the first Hurricane to capture the Heisman Trophy. The senior quarterback outdistanced his nearest competitor by the second-highest margin of victory in the award's history. Testaverde finished first in each of the six geographic regions, receiving 678 of the 790 first-place votes cast.

A senior, Testaverde threw for 2,557 yards and 26 touchdowns with only nine interceptions while leading Miami to an undefeated regular season and the nation's No. 1 ranking entering the Fiesta Bowl. Testaverde's 1986 season ranks among the best of any player in history. In addition to winning the Heisman, Testaverde also was named winner of the Maxwell Award Winner (College Player of the Year), the Davey O'Brien Award (nation's best quarterback) and was named a consensus first-team All-American.

Statistics and awards only tell part of the Testaverde story. A native of Elmont, N.Y., he came to Miami to compete with what could arguably be called the deepest quarterbacking crew ever assembled on a college team. At one point in the fall of 1982, the Miami roster at quarterback included Testaverde, future NFL Hall of Famer Jim Kelly, and future NFL star Bernie Kosar, along with prep All-American Kyle Vanderwende and future Georgia head coach Mark Richt. When Kelly left Miami after the '82 season, Kosar beat out Testaverde for the starting job and Vinny bided his time as a reserve awaiting his chance to shine.

When Kosar left for the NFL following the 1984 season, Testaverde took the Miami offense to another level in 1985. He led the Hurricanes to a No. 2 national ranking and a Sugar Bowl berth in his first season as the starter, passing for 3,238 yards and completing 61.4 percent of his passes, as the Hurricanes posted a 10-2 record. His spectacular debut earned him a fifth-place Heisman finish in 1985 and set up a run at the Heisman in 1986. Testaverde responded with one of the best seasons in Miami's rich quarterbacking history.

Testaverde was a model of efficiency, producing the nation's best passer rating of 165.80. He perfectly guided Miami's balanced attack and came up big in the big games. Testaverde shined brightest when the spotlight was on the Hurricanes, as he led Miami to a 28-16 win over defending national champion Oklahoma by completing 21-of-28 passes for 261 yards and four touchdowns. His unforgettable scramble in the second quarter of the Oklahoma game was his hallmark moment. It came to be known around Miami as "The Play", even though it didn't put points on the board. Midway through the second period, Miami was driving in a scoreless game. On second-and-nine from the OU 34-yard line, Testaverde dropped back to pass. He was forced from the pocket and ran to his right, then reversed direction as a defender grabbed his jersey, leaving his left shoulder pad flapping out from under his jersey. With no receivers open, Testaverde ran to his left and stiff-armed another OU defender before being forced out of bounds after a 10-yard gain for a first down. The run set up the game's first score, a six-yard pass from Testaverde to tight end Alfredo Roberts for a 7-0 lead.

Only a motor scooter accident two days before the season finale against East Carolina slowed Testaverde down, but it wasn't enough to dampen a standout season in which the Miami senior stood out from the rest of college football's best players.

GINO TORRETTA

Miami quarterback Gino Torretta capped an illustrious career by bringing the Heisman Trophy back to Coral Gables in 1992. Torretta's story has many parallels to the saga of Miami's first Heisman winner, Vinny Testaverde. Like Testaverde, Torretta was a superior athlete who had to wait his turn as the Miami quarterback rotation worked itself out. Like Testaverde, Torretta made the most of his opportunity to star during his junior season and set up a Heisman run with a spectacular junior campaign. But Torretta took Testaverde's model for success to another level by racking up 11 school records. Torretta still ranks as Miami's all-time leader with 7,690 passing yards, 555 completions and 7,722 yards in total offense.

A strong-armed passer from California, Torretta accepted the challenge to add to the legacy of Quarterback U. at Miami by turning down offers from several West Coast schools. He signed with Miami in 1988, then waited his turn behind fellow Hurricanes quarterbacks Steve Walsh and Craig Erickson. After redshirting in '88, Torretta toiled in obscurity for three years. He had a brief flirtation with the starting job during his red-shirt freshman season of 1989, starting four games while Erickson was injured. Torretta responded with three solid outings, including a spectacular 486-yard performance against San Jose State, before getting a baptism by fire against Florida State in Miami's only loss of the '89 season. He returned to a reserve role when Erickson came back to complete Miami's 11-1 national championship season.

Torretta played sparingly in 1990 as a sophomore, and with Erickson moving on to the NFL, Torretta was ready to take over the starting job in 1991. He did so with spectacular results, debuting with a 297-yard outing against Arkansas on the road that featured a NCAA-record 99-yard touchdown pass to Horace Copeland. He went on to throw for 3,095 yards and 20 touchdowns (with just eight interceptions) while completing 55.3 percent of his passes during that junior season and led Miami to the national championship. Playing on a Miami offense that ran the ball 48.4 percent of the time, he still racked up the highest passing yardage in a season by a UM quarterback.

The 1992 season was to be Torretta's coronation as the Heisman favorite. But the season started amidst disaster as Hurricane Andrew ripped through South Florida just 12 days before the season opener at Iowa. Dealing with the emotional aftermath, Torretta led the Hurricanes to a 24-7 win over the Hawkeyes on national television by passing for 433 yards and two touchdowns. That performance established him as the leader for the Heisman. While most Heisman campaigns are marked by some "signature" moment, consistency was Torretta's hallmark. If there was a game that typified Torretta's career it was the win against Florida State. Miami trailed 16-10 with 9:05 left in the fourth period when Torretta led the Hurricanes on a 58-yard scoring drive to take the lead. He keyed the march with a 14-yard scramble on a third-and-12 play, then ended it with a 33-yard scoring strike to Copeland. The 19-16 victory that became known as "Wide Right II" was testament to Torretta's leadership under pressure. That win sent Miami on to a 12-0 regular season and a No. 1 ranking entering the Sugar Bowl against Alabama.

Torretta dominated the Heisman voting and became the most decorated football player in Miami history. Torretta took every award available to him in '92: the Maxwell Award (best overall player), Davey O'Brien Award (top quarterback), Unitas Award (top senior quarterback), consensus All-American, and every Player of the Year Award.

KELLEN WINSLOW

2003 MACKEY AWARD WINNER

The Nassau County Sports Commission presents the prestigious John Mackey Award annually to the most outstanding Tight End in Division I-A College Football. Established in 2000, the John Mackey Award, named for John Mackey, an NFL Hall of Famer, who was regarded as one of the best athletes to ever play tight end, recognizes the recipient's outstanding athletic prowess on the field while demonstrating positive sportsmanship and embodies the leadership abilities examples set by John Mackey. In 2003, Kellen Winslow became the first player in Miami history to win the John Mackey Award.

Following a sophomore campaign in 2002 that saw Winslow compile the most productive receiving year ever by a Miami tight end, he met raised expectations the following year on his way to being named recipient of the 2003 John Mackey Award.

Winslow finished ahead of Ben Troupe of Florida and Kris Wilson of Pittsburgh in the voting for the 2003 Mackey Award, as voted on by a selection committee composed of national sportswriters, commentators and outstanding NFL players.

A purely gifted physical specimen at 6-foot-5, 245-pounds, Winslow had perhaps the greatest hands of any tight end in Miami history, paired with an uncanny ability to separate from defenders.

During his award-winning junior season, Winslow led the team with 60 catches and was second on the team with 605 receiving yards, averaging 10.1 yards per catch and 46.5 yards per game. He led or tied for the team lead in receptions in nine games in 2003 and broke the UM record for career receptions by a tight end with 119.

In his biggest game of the season and the second biggest of his career, Winslow pulled in 10 catches for 104 yards against West Virginia, including a leaping catch over the middle on a critical fourth and 13 that led to Miami's game-winning field goal in the final seconds against the Mountaineers. A week later, he made seven catches for 106 yards in the Hurricanes' 22-14 win at Florida State, despite playing in a torrential downpour on a rain-soaked field.

Winslow's exceptional talent as a total football player was also exemplified by his outstanding blocking ability, a skill he showed on offense and special teams. He also had the ability to stand out as a big-play performer on special teams, blocking a punt against Syracuse. He also impressed a national television audience with his blocking ability on offense and special teams in a UM win over Pittsburgh, throwing a key block to spring tailback Jason Geathers for a 78-yard gain on a screen pass that set up a Miami touchdown.

Following his junior season, Winslow was drafted by the Cleveland Browns in the first round as the sixth overall pick in the 2004 NFL Draft.

BRETT ROMBERG

2002 RIMINGTON TROPHY WINNER

The Dave Rimington Trophy is one of college football's newest annual awards, given each year since 1999 to college football's outstanding center. It is hosted by the Boomer Esiason Foundation for research and treatment of cystic fibrosis.

Brett Romberg became the first University of Miami player to win the coveted award in 2002. The trophy is named for former Nebraska center Dave Rimington, who was a first-team All-America center in 1981 and 1982 and was the only player to win the John Outland Trophy in both seasons as college football's outstanding interior lineman. The winner of the Rimington Trophy is determined by voting for the Associated Press first-team All-America Team.

From the beginning of his Miami career, Romberg always earned attention for being different. He was never shy to share an opinion and became a media favorite because of his quick wit and his willingness to talk about anything.

Romberg had many distinguishing characteristics as a Hurricane: his Canadian heritage (he's a native of Windsor, Ontario), his budding musical career (he formed two rock bands while at UM), and his outrageous personality.

But Romberg was more than just a good quote. He was an outstanding football player with above average intelligence (he earned his undergraduate degree in business in less than four years and a graduate degree in sports administration as his UM career was coming to a close), a desire to excel and a willingness to do whatever it took to get the job done. It was no coincidence that Miami's 34-game winning streak from 2000 to 2002 took place with Romberg at center.

Romberg had the versatility to play effectively at guard or tackle, but settled in as the center for his sophomore season in 2000. Considered by pro scouts "too squat" to fit anyone's mold, either on the field, or off it. An accomplished singer and musician, Romberg always loved being the center of attention. His reputation always preceded his arrival.

"If I walk into a room, people are waiting for me to say something or do something funny," Romberg said. "Or something stupid or to defy something or cause a scene. People are always looking for me to do that."

He rarely let his audience down - either in a room or on the field.

Strength, dependability, leadership and intelligence. All were trademarks of Romberg throughout his Miami career. But toughness may have been the most vital asset he displayed. He sustained a compound fracture on the thumb of his right snapping hand during the 2000 game against Louisiana Tech. The injury caused the bone to break through the skin. Romberg had the injury taped up and continued playing. He did not miss a single snap the rest of the season.

"You couldn't hurt Romberg with an ax," said head coach Larry Coker. "I don't know that I've coached a tougher player."

With Romberg at center, the Hurricanes won 35 of 37 games, one National Championship, three BIG EAST Conference championships, a Sugar Bowl and a Rose Bowl. All with Romberg calling the blocking signals for the offensive line.

Romberg never allowed a quarterback sack at center and led an offensive line that helped produce three 1,000-yard rushers (James Jackson, Clinton Portis and Willis McGahee), a quarterback (Ken Dorsey) who set every major UM career passing record and an offense that averaged more than 465 yards per game for the balance of his three years as the starting center.

KEN DORSEY 2001 MAXWELL AWARD WINNER

Hurricanes quarterback Ken Dorsey joined a list of college football's greatest names when he received the 2001 Maxwell Award, given annually to the outstanding college football player of the year. The Maxwell Award was begun in 1937 by the Robert W. Maxwell Memorial Football Club in Philadelphia to honor excellence in college football. Dorsey was the third Miami Hurricane to win the Maxwell Award as he edged fellow finalists Eric Crouch of Nebraska and Rex Grossman of Florida in the closest vote in the 65-year history of the award. Dorsey led the Hurricanes to a perfect (12-0) record and the 2001 National Championship.

Quarterback Gino Torretta was honored as the 1992 recipient. Quarterback Vinny Testaverde captured the award in the 50th anniversary year, 1986 season. Bernie Kosar was a finalist for the award in 1984 and Steve Walsh was a finalist in 1988. Dorsey, who led No. 1 Miami (11-0) to a perfect season and a spot in a national title game in the Rose Bowl, was chosen over Grossman and Crouch.

"With all the talented guys here, I'm just happy to be here with those guys," Dorsey said. "I'm most proud of being 25-1 in my career. As a Californian I cannot wait for the Rose Bowl. I just can't imagine this. I mean, the other guys are so good. I'm excited that people think about me that way."

The Maxwell, voted on by Division I-A coaches, the Football Writers Association of America and members of the Philadelphia-based Maxwell Football Club, goes to the best all-around player in college football. Dorsey completed 184 of 318 passes for 2,652 yards with 23 touchdowns and nine interceptions during the 2001 regular season.

GINO TORRETTA 1992 MAXWELL AWARD WINNER

Quarterback Gino Torretta earned all the hardware he could in 1992 as he led the Hurricanes to a perfect 12-0 record in the regular season on the way to a No. 1 ranking and a Sugar Bowl berth. Torretta earned the Maxwell Award by passing for 3,060 yards and 19 touchdowns while completing 56.7 percent of his passes. The Pinole, California, product rewrote the Miami record books during a spectacular senior season. He left UM with 11 records to his name, including career marks for passing yards (7,690), pass completions (555) and total offense (7,722 yards).

He also set a record for consecutive passes thrown without an interception (123).

VINNY TESTAVERDE 1986 MAXWELL AWARD WINNER

Senior quarterback Vinny Testaverde was the resounding choice as College Football's Player of the Year in 1986 and he earned the Maxwell Award to add to his trophy case with his outstanding performance. The Elmira, New York, native led the Miami Hurricanes to a perfect 11-0 record during the regular season and a No. 1 national ranking entering the Fiesta Bowl. Along the way, Testaverde set new UM standards for passing greatness as he set school single-season records for completion percentage (63.4%) and passing efficiency (165.80 – the nation's best).

Testaverde led Miami past defending national champion Oklahoma early in the season and was at the helm of a Miami offense that is remembered among college football's most explosive.

DAN MORGAN 2000 BUTKUS AWARD WINNER

Named after the former Chicago Bears Hall of Fame linebacker, Dick Butkus, the Butkus Award is the most prestigious award a linebacker in collegiate football can receive. The award was established in 1985 by the Downtown Athletic Club of Orlando and is annually presented to the nation's best linebacker. Middle linebacker Dan Morgan won the award in 2000, the first Miami player to win the award after three predecessors were finalists. Ray Lewis was a finalist in 1995, Michael Barrow reached the final round in 1992 and Maurice Crum was a finalist in 1990.

As a junior in 1999, linebacker Dan Morgan produced one of the greatest seasons any defensive player has had at the University of Miami as he made 139 tackles. But his buddy, middle linebacker Nate Webster, constantly overshadowed him. Morgan and Webster seriously pondered turning pro after the '99 season. Webster was so conflicted about the decision that he tried to withdraw his paperwork announcing his intention to make himself eligible for the 2000 NFL Draft, but discovered there was no turning back. Meanwhile, Morgan constantly questioned himself during the offseason about whether he was making the correct decision to stay one more season at UM.

Less than a year later, Morgan probably questioned why he ever thought of leaving. A starter since his true freshman season, Morgan had constantly been ignored or dismissed as Miami's "other linebacker" behind the ballyhooed Webster. Morgan came to Miami as a fullback, but it became clear during freshman two-a-days in 1997 that he was born to play linebacker. He flourished in the role and became one of the program's mainstays through its most trying times as the Hurricanes rebuilt.

By 2000, Morgan had moved from outside linebacker to the middle. Now the man in the middle, Morgan took his game – and the Miami defense – to a higher level. It's no coincidence that the resurgence of Miami football in 2000 coincided with Morgan's emergence as America's finest defensive player. Miami had produced strong Butkus Award candidates before, but no Hurricanes linebacker had won the honor. Morgan, a two-time semifinalist for the coveted award, had such a dominant season in 2000 that there was no questioning his selection as the 2000 Butkus Award winner. Morgan received more votes than fellow finalists Rocky Calmus of Oklahoma and Keith Adams of Clemson.

The team's leading tackler in 2000 (his third time to lead UM in tackles) with 138, Morgan was a model of consistency throughout the season. He was at his finest in Miami's critical games. Morgan was valiant in defeat at Washington, making 20 tackles (13 solos) and recovering a fumble. He was spectacular in the win over top-ranked Florida State, making 17 stops (13 solos), forcing a fumble and intercepting a pass at the goal line that ended an FSU scoring threat in the final seconds of the first half. He added 11 stops against Virginia Tech as the Hurricanes ended Tech's 19-game win streak and assumed control of the BIG EAST race, and he was dominant in the Sugar Bowl win over Florida with 12 tackles and an interception.

Morgan became the all-time career tackles leader at Miami with 512, breaking the BIG EAST record along the way. For his efforts, he was named a consensus first-team All-American and became the first player in college football history to win the Butkus, Nagurski and Bednarik awards in the same season. Football News named him its National Defensive Player of the Year, an honor he also won on the conference level as voted on by the league's head coaches.

Most satisfying of all for Morgan, he led Miami back to the national elite and the cusp of a national title. From the depths of humiliation as a true freshman in 1997 to a No. 2 ranking and an 11-1 record as a senior in 2000 it was clear that perseverance had paid off – for Morgan and Miami.

BRYANT McKINNIE

2001 OUTLAND TROPHY WINNER

The Outland Trophy is one of college football's oldest annual awards, given each year since 1946. The Outland has been presented since 1946 by the Football Writers Association of America in honor of the outstanding interior lineman in the country. Defensive tackle Russell Maryland became the first University of Miami player to win the coveted award in 1990. Miami offensive tackle Bryant McKinnie joined Maryland on the impressive list of honorees by winning the award in 2001. The Outland Trophy is presented annually by the Greater Omaha Sports Committee.

Bryant McKinnie's rise from obscure talent to dominant force was as swift and steady as the rising fortunes of Miami football during the 2000 and 2001 seasons. McKinnie, a physical curiosity when he began his Miami career, capped an impressive career when he beat out Nebraska offensive guard Tonia Fonoti and 2000 Outland Trophy winner John Henderson of Tennessee for the award.

McKinnie, a 6-foot-9, 336-pound senior from Woodbury, N.J., never allowed a sack during his college career and anchored a line which averaged 5.5 yards per rushing attempt on the way to an undefeated season and the national championship. In his hallmark performance, McKinnie dominated Syracuse All-America defensive end Dwight Freeney in Miami's 59-0 victory, holding Freeney without a quarterback sack in 52 plays. McKinnie's performance set the pace for an offense that rushed for a season-best 331 yards and accumulated 566 yards against the Orangemen.

That outing was typical of McKinnie's entire career at Miami, where he played two seasons after transferring from Lackawanna Junior College prior to sitting out the 1999 season as a redshirt. A virtual unknown starting the 2000 season, McKinnie made a name for himself in Miami's 27-24 victory over Florida State at the Orange Bowl. FSU's Jamal Reynolds managed just one assisted tackle in the game. McKinnie shut down Reynolds, a first-team All-American, the Lombardi winner and a first-round NFL draft pick.

Once McKinnie made a name for himself, opponents tried to make a name for themselves against him. They failed – every time.

RUSSELL MARYLAND

1990 OUTLAND TROPHY WINNER

He was a graduate student in psychology whose friends referred to him as "The Conscience." "I hate to give people wrong advice," Russell Maryland said one day in 1990. "I hate to make bad decisions. That's what I probably fear the most, the fear of making a bad decision."

Clearly, Maryland's decision to return to play for Miami in 1990 and turn down what would surely have been a large pro contract was not a bad decision. The then-21-year old Maryland's decision to return as a fifth-year senior and pass up the big money for another year was typically mature. Maryland's mature outlook allowed him to keep personal goals in the proper perspective. When asked during his senior season at UM what his proudest achievement would be, he answered: "To be able to come back to the Orange Bowl someday and say, 'I used to play here – we never lost a game. This is our house!'"

As a defensive tackle, Maryland didn't need to brag. His performance spoke volumes about his worth. In 1990, Maryland made 96 tackles (54 solos), had 10.5 quarterback sacks, seven tackles for losses, had 19 quarterback pressures, forced five fumbles and broke up two passes. He was college football's dominant lineman in 1990. Maryland went on to be the first pick in the 1991 NFL Draft.

WARREN SAPP

1994 LOMBARDI AWARD WINNER

The Rotary Club of Houston presents the Lombardi Award annually to the offensive or defensive lineman or linebacker who best combines athletic performance with the characteristics of discipline of the late Vince Lombardi, the former coach of the Green Bay Packers and Washington Redskins. The first Lombardi Award was given in 1970. The legendary coach of the Green Bay Packers, Lombardi first made a name for himself as the smallest but toughest member of Fordham's "Seven Blocks of Granite," renowned in their day (1934-37) as the best line in college football.

Warren Sapp was so dominant in 1994 there was talk in college football circles that he may break the long drought of defensive players winning the Heisman Trophy.

While Sapp finished sixth in the Heisman voting, he was clearly the finest defensive player in college football in 1994 and may have been the most dominant player in the game that season.

For his performance, the consensus All-American became the first Miami Hurricane to win the Rotary Lombardi Award, given annually to the nation's top lineman.

Sapp was named Defensive Player of the Year by ABC Sports, Sports Illustrated, Football Writers Association of America, The Football News, Touchdown Club of Atlanta, Touchdown Club of Columbus and The BIG EAST Football Conference. He led a Miami defense that led the NCAA in total defense, scoring defense and pass defense.

Sapp earned Player of the Game honors from ABC vs. Washington, the BIG EAST Network vs. Rutgers and ESPN vs. Florida State. He had 84 tackles and led the Hurricanes in sacks, tackles for loss, fumbles caused, fumble recoveries, and quarterback pressures.

Sapp was a first-round draft pick of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers (12th choice overall) in the 1995 NFL Draft.

BENNIE BLADES

1987 JIM THORPE AWARD WINNER

The Jim Thorpe Award for the best defensive back in college football was created in 1986. It was conceived by former Oklahoma City talk show host Ed Sossen and W. Lynne Draper, the Jim Thorpe Association executive director. The award was immediately accepted as one of the nation's top college football honors. Winners are judged on their performance on the field, athletic ability, and character. A watch list of outstanding defensive backs is determined at the beginning of the season and a Jim Thorpe Association screening committee composed of former players, coaches, journalists and representatives of major conferences determines the winner.

A toaster kept Bennie Blades humble. His role as a leader made him grow up. At the dawn of the 1987 season, the Miami Hurricanes needed leadership. There was no questioning the enormous potential of the team. But, just days prior to the season opener against Florida, the eventual national champions were in trouble. The departure of Vinny Testaverde, Alonzo Highsmith and Jerome Brown - three players whose larger than life personalities shaped the Hurricanes in 1985 and 1986 - had left the Hurricanes without a personality.

Bennie Blades could tell selfishness was about to engulf his team and he was compelled to do something. A self-described "soft-spoken type", Blades went to team chaplain Rev. Leo Armbrust and requested he remind the team what its proper priorities should be: to put the team goals ahead of individual goals. To remind them that individual honors only came via team achievement. Before playing a down in 1987, Blades had already made his biggest play of the season. Just in case he would begin to become part of the problem, a friend purchased a special birthday present for Blades. A toaster with an inscription reading, "Bennie and the Toastettes", a mockery of Blades' nickname for the Miami secondary, "Bennie and the Jets". "Whenever your head gets too big," Blades's friend said. "Just make toast and it will bring you back to reality."

Blades led the '87 Hurricanes to the national championship and a 12-0 record. He made 124 tackles, intercepted five passes, was named a consensus First-Team All-America and ended his career as UM's all-time leader for interceptions (19) and interception return yards (305). He also set UM records for consecutive games with an interception (5); total tackles by a safety (286) and unassisted tackles by a safety (155). He had led the nation in interceptions in 1986 (.91 per game) and became a first-round draftee of the Detroit Lions (the 3rd pick overall) in the 1988 NFL Draft.

Blades shared the Thorpe Award with Oklahoma's Rickey Dixon. Both finished with 144 points in balloting by a 15-member committee. Florida State's Deion Sanders was third in the voting with 125 points.

DAN MORGAN

2000 BEDNARIK AWARD WINNER

The last of the 60-minute men, Chuck Bednarik starred at both linebacker and center for the NFL's Philadelphia Eagles and was a three-year All-American at the University of Pennsylvania playing on both sides of the ball. The Maxwell Football Club of Philadelphia annually presents an award for College Defensive Player of the Year in his name. Voters for the award are NCAA head football coaches, members of the Maxwell Football Club and sports journalists from across the country.

A native of the Philadelphia area, Dan Morgan grew up learning from his father, Dan Sr., the legend of "Concrete Charlie" Bednarik. So it was only appropriate that the heart and soul of Miami's 2000 defense coveted the award bearing Bednarik's name almost as much as he did the Butkus Award.

When you consider all the great defensive players who attended Miami, from Jerome Brown to Warren Sapp, from Ray Lewis to Jessie Armstead, it speaks volumes that Dan Morgan finished his career as the school's all-time leader in tackles with 532.

"I don't think one individual could do much more for a program than Danny has done," Miami coach Butch Davis said. "He is a great player on game day and he has been a terrific role model for our younger players. He's as physically gifted as anyone, he has great instincts and he is as tough a competitor as I've ever seen."

The Maxwell Football Club's voters recognized that, selecting Morgan as the Collegiate Defensive Player of the Year. Morgan set a school record with 42 consecutive starts and he became the first player in the school's history to have 100 or more tackles in each of his four seasons.

2000 NAGURSKI TROPHY WINNER

The Bronko Nagurski Trophy was created to honor the best defensive college football player in the country and is voted on by the more than 1,000 members of the Football Writers Association of America (FWAA). The Nagurski Trophy honors the memory of former University of Minnesota All-American Bronko Nagurski. Created in 1993 by the FWAA, the Nagurski Trophy is presented by the Charlotte Touchdown Club. The award was established to complement the Heisman Trophy, which is rarely presented to a defensive player.

Nagurski was a consensus all-American defensive tackle for Minnesota in 1929, and also made all-America teams that year as a fullback, the only man ever picked at two positions. Nagurski played at the University of Minnesota from 1927-1929, then joined the NFL's Chicago Bears. He was a charter member of the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame and the NFL Hall of Fame, and in 1969 was elected to the FWAA's all-time team. In 1995, the FWAA named their College Football Defensive Player of the Year award in his honor. Nagurski died at the age of 81 in January of 1980.

Bronko Nagurski would have liked Dan Morgan. Few winners of the Bronko Nagurski Trophy probably resembled its namesake more than Morgan. The team's leading tackler in 2000 (his third time to lead UM in tackles) with 138, Morgan was a model of consistency throughout the season. Morgan became the all-time career tackles leader at Miami with 532, breaking the Big East record along the way. For his efforts, he was named a consensus first-team All-American and became the first player in college football history to win the Butkus, Nagurski and Bednarik awards in the same season. Football News named him its National Defensive Player of the Year, an honor he also won on the conference level as voted on by the league's head coaches.

1994 NAGURSKI TROPHY WINNER

Outspoken. Challenging. Tenacious. Dominating. Just a few of the words used by teammates and coaches to describe the player many say is the greatest defensive lineman ever to wear a University of Miami Hurricanes uniform. How good was Warren Sapp at Miami? Good enough for people to argue he was better than Ted Hendricks, better than Jerome Brown, better than Rubin Carter, better than Jim Burt, better than Russell Maryland, better than Cortez Kennedy. That's a pretty impressive list. And it takes a pretty impressive player to earn that kind of comparison. Sapp was dominant on a 1994 defense that was outstanding. Due largely to his disruptive play, Miami's defense led the nation in total defense, pass efficiency defense and scoring defense. A junior in 1994, Sapp made 84 tackles (37 solos), 10.5 quarterback sacks, 25 quarterback pressures, nine tackles for losses, caused four fumbles, recovered three fumbles, and broke up five passes. Sapp's 1994 season earned him the Nagurski Trophy, the Lombardi Award, a spot as an Outland Trophy finalist, Football News Defensive Player of the Year, BIG EAST Conference Defensive Player of the Year and a sixth-place finish in Heisman Trophy voting.

GINO TORRETTA

1992 DAVEY O'BRIEN AWARD WINNER

The Davey O'Brien National College Quarterback Award is presented each year by the Fort Worth Club in Texas. The honor, begun in 1981, is reserved for the nation's most outstanding player at the quarterback position, and carries with it a $10,000 grant to the scholarship program of the honoree's university. Hurricane Gino Torretta was honored as the recipient of the 1992 Davey O'Brien Award. Torretta joined former Hurricane Vinny Testaverde, who won the award in 1986. Both Steve Walsh (1988) and Craig Erickson (1990) were runners-up in their respective years.

University of Miami quarterback Gino Torretta was a senior in 1992 and he almost led the Hurricanes to their second consecutive national title. Torretta threw for 3,060 yards while completing almost 57 percent of his pass attempts. Five times Torretta exceeded 300 yards passing, including a 433-yard effort against Iowa in the season opener. Efficiency was his trademark as he threw only seven interceptions in 402 pass attempts while throwing 19 touchdown passes in an 11-1 season for Miami.

VINNY TESTAVERDE

1986 DAVEY O'BRIEN AWARD WINNER

A senior in 1986, Vinny Testaverde threw for 2,557 yards and 26 touchdowns with only nine interceptions while leading Miami to an undefeated regular season and the nation's number one ranking entering the Fiesta Bowl. Testaverde's 1986 season ranks among the best of any player in history as he was named a consensus First-Team All-American and earned the O'Brien, Heisman and Maxwell Awards. Testaverde guided the Hurricanes to the brink of the national title in an 11-1 season.

GINO TORRETTA1992 UNITAS GOLDEN ARM AWARD WINNER

University of Miami quarterback Gino Torretta was the second Hurricanes quarterback to earn the Johnny Unitas Award, capping a brilliant 1992 season with the honor. A senior, Torretta threw for 3,060 yards while completing almost 57 percent of his pass attempts. That season's Heisman Trophy winner, Torretta's victory in the Unitas voting capped a season unparalleled in Miami history as he became the most decorated football player in Miami annals. Torretta took every award available to him in '92: the Maxwell Award (best overall player), Davey O'Brien Award (top quarterback), Unitas Award (top senior quarterback), consensus All-American, and every Player of the Year award.

CRAIG ERICKSON1990 UNITAS GOLDEN ARM AWARD WINNER

He's often overlooked in all the talk about Miami's rich quarterbacking history, but Craig Erickson built a record of accomplishment at the University of Miami that few have matched. The starting signal caller in 1989 and 1990, Erickson led the Hurricanes to the 1989 National Championship and a 21-3 record over the 1989-90 seasons. His 3,363 yards is only surpassed once in Miami annals. Six times he surpassed 300 yards passing in a game, twice throwing for more than 400. Three times he tied the school record with four touchdown passes. In addition to winning the Unitas Award, Erickson placed eighth in balloting for the Heisman Trophy.

JOAQUIN GONZALEZ2001 ACADEMIC HEISMAN WINNER

University of Miami offensive tackle Joaquin Gonzalez was named winner of the "Academic Heisman," the HealthSouth Draddy Award, in a ceremony honoring 16 national scholar-athletes at the National Football Foundation's 44th Annual Awards dinner in New York City.

The HealthSouth Draddy Award, known as the "Academic Heisman," is the ultimate honor a college football scholar-athlete can achieve. With the honor, Gonzalez joined an elite list of previous winners including Peyton Manning of Tennessee (1997), Danny Wuerffel of Florida (1996), and Kyle Vanden Bosch of Nebraska (2000). The Vincent dePaul Draddy Trophy provides the winner with a $25,000 scholarship towards postgraduate study. Since 1990, 11 scholar-athletes have been fortunate to walk away from the Awards Dinner with this much-acclaimed trophy.

One of the nation's top offensive tackles and a major factor in an offensive line that yielded only three quarterback sacks in 2000, Joaquin Gonzalez epitomized the term "scholar-athlete." The 6-foot-6, 298-pound Dean's List member was a three-time Arthur Ashe Jr. Sports Scholar Team member, being named to the First Team in 2000, was a four-time BIG EAST Academic All-Conference selection and an Iron Arrow inductee in 2000 (the highest academic honor bestowed to any UM student or staff member). Gonzalez received a Bachelor's Degree in Business Administration in May of 2001 and received a Master's of Business Administration in December of 2001.

Athletically, Gonzalez's accomplishments were equally impressive. The Football Writers Association named him First Team All-America twice, in 2000 and 2001, and he was named a second-team All-America numerous times. Gonzalez was selected to the First Team All-BIG EAST Team in both 2000 and 2001 and was the BIG EAST Rookie of the Year in 1998 - the first recipient of the award to earn All-Conference Academic honors in the same season.

A native of Miami, Gonzalez was extremely active in the community as well, serving as a motivational speaker at local elementary schools and participating in the "Read To Win" program. He was a seventh-round draft pick of the Cleveland Browns in the 2002 NFL Draft.

JACK HARDING MVP AWARD

Each season the players and coaches of the University of Miami football team select a most valuable player, to be awarded the Jack Harding MVP Award at the annual football banquet. In 2005, offensive tackle Eric Winston was presented the honor.

Given since 1964, this honor is the highest performance-based award a Hurricanes player can attain from his teammates. The award is named for former UM head coach and athletic director Jack Harding, who coached the Hurricanes football team from 1937-42 and 1945-47. Harding relinquished his coaching duties after the 1947 season and took over as athletic director, a post he held until his death in 1963.

As football coach, Harding oversaw the program's rise into a major program. His 1938 team was his best, traveling to Gainesville and handing Florida an upset loss in the first meeting between the schools. His teams posted major intersecational wins over Michigan State, Auburn, North Carolina State, Clemson and Florida that put Miami football "on the map."

A graduate of the University of Pittsburgh, Harding was an accomplished athlete in his own right, lettering in football for legendary coaches Glenn "Pop" Warner and Jock Sutherland, in addition to earning varsity letters in baseball and basketball.

NCAA RECORD HOME WINNING STREAK

58 in a Row

It spanned almost a decade. 58 straight times Miami took the field at the Orange Bowl from 1985 to 1994 and 58 straight times the Hurricanes came off the field victorious. It's an NCAA-record streak that will not be challenged for years to come. "The Streak" lasted through three U.S. Presidents, two different head football coaches and even Hurricane Andrew — it was a streak for the ages.

Streak Stuff

- Seventeen of the 58 victories were against ranked teams, including 12 games with teams ranked in the top 10 and six in the top five
- Four times UM downed the nation's top ranked team (Oklahoma 28-16 in 1986; Oklahoma 20-14 in the 1988 Orange Bowl Classic; Florida State 31-0 in 1988; and Notre Dame 27-10 in 1989)
- There were 29 single-game and 13 multiple-game victims
- The most common opponent during the streak was Florida State. FSU was 0-4 at the OB during the streak with losses in 1986 (41-23), 1988 (31-0, FSU ranked #1), 1990 (31-22, FSU ranked #2) and 1992 (19-16)
- Notre Dame (outscored 109-17) and Cincinnati (outscored 151-3) were defeated three times during the streak. Notre Dame entered the Nov. 25, 1989, contest ranked No.1 and was defeated 27-10.
- Miami was ranked No.1 25 times during the streak, including three final polls when the Hurricanes captured the national championship after the 1987, 1989, and 1991 seasons
- Network television was present for 26 of the 58 games

RING OF HONOR / RETIRED NUMBERS

1997 INDUCTEES

The first four inductees into the University of Miami Football Ring of Honor – quarterback George Mira (1961-63), halfback Jim Dooley (1949-51), defensive end Ted Hendricks (1966-68) and quarterback Vinny Testaverde (1982-86) – were recognized on November 1, 1997, during halftime of the Miami vs. Arkansas State game. In addition to their names adorning the facade of the Orange Bowl, these four former Hurricanes had their jerseys retired at the ceremony. They are the only football jersey numbers retired by the University of Miami.

RING OF HONOR

The Ring of Honor was established during the 1997 season as a way to recognize the outstanding players that have passed through the Hurricanes football program. Names will be added to the Ring of Honor on a regular basis by either decade or position played. Those names and their jersey numbers will be permanently affixed for display on the facing of the Orange Bowl's northside upper deck. The names of the Ring of Honor members have become a distinctive characteristic of the Orange Bowl stadium, one of the world's most recognizable sports venues.

1999 INDUCTEES

Four former Hurricanes football stars were inducted into the University of Miami Football Ring of Honor on November 20, 1999, during halftime of the Miami vs. Rutgers game. Recognized were running back Ottis Anderson (1975-78), fullback Don Bosseler (1953-56), quarterback Bernie Kosar (1982-84) and defensive back Burgess Owens (1970-72).

UM ATHLETIC HALL OF FAME

The University of Miami Athletics Hall of Fame was officially created on April 13, 1966. Several judges of the Circuit Court of Dade County, all of whom were UM Alumni, spearheaded the Hall's creation as a method of recognizing "those who have contributed most to Hurricane athletics over the years."

The 2006 inductees were: Joey Cora (baseball), Amy Deem (women's track coach), Leonard Hamilton (basketball), Ray Lewis (football), Ryan McNeil (football), Darrin Smith (football), Ron Thorne (track).

Lewis, who won a Super Bowl with the Baltimore Ravens said of his induction, "This honor for me, right now today is the happiest day of my life. Words can't adequately explain. This is it. I've been to the top of a lot of things, even the Super Bowl, but this is legendary."

With the 2006 class, there have been 328 inductees into the Hall. The Hall of Fame is housed on the UM campus adjacent to the Hecht Athletic Center.

Inductees:

COLLEGE AND PRO FOOTBALL HALL OF FAMERS

Jim Otto
Pro Football Hall of Fame Inductee (1980)
Center (1957-59)

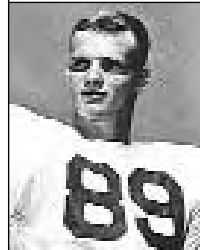

The Wausau, Wisc., native was awarded the NFL's most prestigious honor his first year of eligibility in 1980 and was the first Hurricanes player so honored...a two-year starter for the Hurricanes (1958-59), Otto went on to one of the most prolific careers in the history of pro football...made his jersey number 00 famous through 210 consecutive starts and 308 total games (both team records) for the AFL and NFL Oakland Raiders...earned All-Pro all 10 seasons of the AFL's existence (1960-69) and was chosen All-AFC...played in the NFL Pro Bowl the first three seasons after the leagues merged.

Jack Harding
College Football Hall of Fame Inductee (1980)
Head Coach (1937-42, 1945-47)

Came to Miami as athletic director and head coach in 1937 and became UM's first football legend...compiled a record of 54-32-3 in nine seasons, surrounding a two-year stint in the Navy during World War II...moved the Hurricanes to major college status and gained a reputation as a nationally respected coach and administrator...served 26 years as athletic director at Miami until his death in 1963...inducted in the Hall of Fame in 1980.

Ted Hendricks
Pro Football Hall of Fame Inductee (1990)
and College Football Hall of Fame Inductee (1987)
Defensive End (1966-68)

The only Hurricane to have his number retired at UM and be inducted into both the Pro and College Football Halls of Fame...was the first UM player selected to the College Football Hall of Fame, entering the Hall in 1986...Miami's only three-time All-American (1966, 1967, 1968)...placed fifth in Heisman Trophy voting in 1968...the "Mad Stork" came out of the University of Miami and immediately became a force in the NFL...switched from defensive end to linebacker and spent five years with the Baltimore Colts, one with the Green Bay Packers and nine with the Oakland/Los Angeles Raiders...Hendricks played on four Super Bowl championship teams: the 1970 Colts, 1976 and 1980 Oakland Raiders and 1983 Los Angeles Raiders...the second Hurricanes player to receive Pro Football's highest honor, Hendricks was inducted into the Hall in 1990.

Andy Gustafson
Head Coach (1948-63)

Led UM to a 93-65 record in 16 seasons as head coach in what became known as "The Glory Years" of Hurricane football...developed the "Drive Series" belly option, considered the forerunner of the veer and wishbone offenses...his teams went to four bowl games and nine players earned first team All-America status...inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1985.

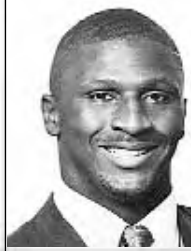

Jim Kelly
Pro Football Hall of Fame Inductee (2002)
Quarterback (1979-82)

East Brady, Pa., native was one of the key players in the rejuvenation of the University of Miami football program...engineered milestone victories over Penn State (1979, 1981) and Notre Dame (1981), along with UM's 1980 Peach Bowl win over Virginia Tech...played in the NFL from 1986 to 1996 with the Buffalo Bills after three seasons with the USFL's Houston Gamblers (1983-85)...selected by the Bills in the first round (14th player overall) of the 1983 NFL draft...joined the Bills in 1986...became the fourth-fastest quarterback in NFL history to reach 30,000 yards passing...passed for more than 3,000 yards in a season eight times...mastered the no-huddle offense that became a Bills' trademark...led Buffalo to an unprecedented four straight Super Bowl appearances...at the time of his retirement, his 84.4 passer rating ranked sixth all-time, his 35,467 career passing yards ranked 10th, his 2,874 completions ranked eighth, and his 237 touchdowns ranked 13th...led the NFL in passing in 1990, posting a 101.2 passer rating, only the fifth quarterback to maintain a rating over 100...led the AFC in passing in 1991...named to five Pro Bowls...All-Pro in 1991, All-Pro second team in 1990 and 1992...Inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 2002.

Don Bosseler
College Football Hall of Fame Inductee (1990)
Running Back (1953-56)

Former Hurricane All-American (1956), Bosseler joined his old Miami coach, Andy Gustafson in the Hall...Bosseler led his team to an 8-1-1 record and No. 6 ranking in 1956, UM's highest ranking until the 1983 National Championship...he was not only an All-American, but he was the team captain, voted the outstanding player in Florida, the Senior Bowl MVP and picked for the College All-Star game...the Washington Redskins drafted him in the first round in 1957 and he gained 3,112 yards over an eight-year career...gained 1,642 yards rushing in his UM career...inducted into the Hall of Fame in 1990.

Bennie Blades
College Football Hall of Fame Inductee (2006)
Safety (1985-87)

Named first-team All-America in both 1986 and 1987 by both Associated Press and United Press International, adding honors as a senior in 1987 from Kodak, The Sporting News, the Walter Camp Foundation and the Football Writers Association of America...received the Jim Thorpe Award as college football's best defensive back in 1987, when he led UM to the national championship and a 12-0 record...as a senior, made 124 tackles, intercepted five passes and was named a consensus All-American...ended his UM career as the school's all-time leader with 19 interceptions and 305 interception return yards (both since broken)...also set school records for most consecutive games with an interception (five), total tackles by a safety (286), and unassisted tackles by a safety (155)...led the nation in interceptions in 1986 (0.91 per game)...was a first-round draft choice of the Detroit Lions (the third pick overall) in the 1988 NFL draft...played for the Lions for nine seasons, appearing in 136 games and finished his career in 1997 with the Seattle Seahawks...inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 2006

MIAMI IS NO. 1 ONE IN THE FIRST ROUND

Since 1984, Miami has produced more NFL first-round draft picks than any other college. In fact, Miami has had at least one player drafted in the first round in the last 12 NFL drafts, the longest streak in NFL history. Also, in 2004, the Hurricanes set another NFL record for draft picks when six Miami players were selected in the first round (Sean Taylor, Kellen Winslow, Jonathan Vilma, D.J. Williams, Vernon Carey and Vince Wilfork). In 2003, Miami had four players (Andre Johnson, Jerome McDougle, Willis McGahee and William Joseph) drafted in the first round. In 2002, UM had five players selected in the first round. Miami had four first-round picks in 2001, and three first-round picks in 1987 and 1991, with UM defensive lineman Russell Maryland being selected as the No. 1 overall pick in 1991 and UM quarterback Vinny Testaverde taken as the No. 1 pick in 1987.

The following chart illustrates colleges that have turned out the most first-round draft picks since 1984:

Miami (Florida)	44
Ohio State	30
Florida State	29

*Indicates AFL draft choice.

#In 1960, AFL selected by position, not round.

Total:

282 University of Miami players drafted since 1938

"When it comes to seeding the NFL, the Arena League and NFL Europe have nothing on the talented folks from Coral Gables. ... The Hurricanes' draft dominance is a trend that has shown up for 15 years now. ... Since 1987, Miami has been the NFL's most fertile farm system. And it's not even close."

- Don Banks,
Sports Illustrated, April 16, 2002

2005 Media Guide

Tuesday Press Conference

A preview and comments on each week's upcoming game from head coach Larry Coker, assistant coaches and players can be gathered via the University of Miami's Weekly Press Conference, which is held at 11:30 a.m. each Tuesday preceding an upcoming game. When possible, audio from the press conference will be posted on hurricanesports.com no later than 4:00 p.m. ET each Tuesday preceding a game. The press conference is not held in weeks when Miami will not be playing a game. News media may access audio of the weekly UM football press conference at hurricanesports.fansonly.com/multimedia/mifl-multimedia.html

Daily Practice Reports

A brief practice report will be posted to the website following University of Miami football practices at hurricanesports.fansonly.com/sports/m-footbl/mifl-m-footbl-body.html

Game Day Coverage

Every Saturday during the season, hurricanesports.com is the place to go for fans and news media for the latest on the Hurricanes. In addition to live audio broadcasts of each game, live statistics are provided via hurricane-sports.com. Also, extensive post-game coverage will appear, including a game recap, photos, post-game notes and quotes, and audio.

Bios, Stats, Etc.

Almost any information a media member could want regarding University of Miami football is available via the hurricanesports.com website. Media members can access biographical data on the entire coaching staff and current roster, along with updated statistics for the team and individual players, game recaps, and several special historical features.

Hurricanesports.com is the official website for up-to-the-minute news and information, including audio/video clips, photo galleries, live statistics and wireless updates on University of Miami football. Hurricanesports.com is a member of CSTV Online (CSTVO).

CSTV Online is the largest aggregation of online content, commerce and consumers focused on college athletics. CSTVO is a subsidiary of CBS. Through its Official Athletic Sites, CSTVO provides online brand management, content delivery, consumer marketing, and business/commerce solutions to more than 200 university athletic departments, conferences and associations throughout the country.

Now in its 10th year of providing services to the top brands in college sports, the CSTVO business has continued to show dramatic growth in both the quality and quantity of properties. Currently, 65 percent of all Division 1A schools are members of CSTVO.

Comprehensive Football Information

All news releases are posted to the hurricanesports.com website. Media can access the latest news of University of Miami football by checking in regularly to hurricanesports.com's front page or the main football page.

Football Weekly Release

A complete informational packet is produced each Monday preceding an upcoming game during the regular season. The Miami Hurricanes football weekly game release will be posted to the website no later than 5:00 p.m. ET each Monday of a game week. Media may access the game release via a posting on the website or can download a pdf file of the release via Adobe Acrobat software. The weekly game release is not produced in weeks when Miami will not be playing a game.

News media may access the weekly game notes at hurricanesports.fansonly.com/sports/m-footbl/mifl-m-footbl-body.html

RADIO NETWORK

Hurricane Sports Network

The University of Miami will team with Learfield Communications and ISP Sports this fall to form the Hurricane Sports Network. A collection of 16 radio stations across the state of Florida will carry all of the Hurricanes' football action during the 2006 season.

The Hurricane Sports Network has compiled an impressive list of state affiliates, allowing Miami football games to be heard throughout the state of Florida. WQAM (560 AM) will anchor the Hurricane Sports Network. Miami football games can also be heard over the internet on www.hurricanesports.com.

The Broadcast Team

Joe Zagacki enters his fifth year as the "Voice of the Hurricanes". Zagacki brings a wealth of experience to the Hurricanes broadcasts after being a part of the South Florida market for 24 years and at WQAM for the past 13 years. This season will mark his 18th season on the University of Miami broadcast team. Zagacki also handles play-by-play duties for Miami basketball and baseball.

Former Hurricane Don Bailey is the color analyst for football broadcasts again in 2006. Bailey is in his 13th year of broadcasting Hurricanes' football games. He played for UM from 1979-82 and was a captain on the 1982 squad. Bailey was an 11th-round draft pick of the Denver Broncos in 1983 and spent three years as a center in the National Football League. He also hosts Hurricane Hotline.

Brian "The Beast" London is in his fifth year serving as the Hurricanes' sideline reporter. London has been with WQAM since joining the station as an intern in 1997. He graduated from the University of Miami with a B.S. in broadcasting in 1998. London also serves as the studio host for Hurricanes' basketball games and does play-by-play for Miami baseball games.

Josh Darrow will again serve as the studio host for Miami football games, anchoring pre-game, halftime and post-game coverage, which he has done since 1999. He is also the color analyst on UM basketball games. A 1995 graduate of the University of Pennsylvania with a B.A. in history, Darrow has been with WQAM since 1995 and currently serves as the program director.

Curtis Stephenson is entering his second year as part of the Hurricanes' broadcast team. Stephenson attended Webber College, where he played basketball. He has been with WQAM since 2000 and you can hear him Monday through Friday as part of the Jim Mandich Show and in other on-air roles.

Roly Martin

Joe Martinez

Spanish Radio

Once again in 2006 every Hurricane football game will be broadcast in Spanish. Listeners can catch every play on WWFE (670 AM). Roly Martin will handle the play-by-play duties and Joe Martinez will provide color analysis.

Student Radio

WVUM (90.5 FM), the University of Miami's student radio station which can be heard throughout Miami-Dade County, will carry every football game.

U.M. Radio Network

The Hurricane Sports Network has compiled an impressive list of state affiliates, allowing Miami football games to be heard throughout the state of Florida. WQAM (560 AM) will anchor the Hurricane Sports Network affiliates. (As of June 30, 2006)

Hurricane Hotline

Hurricanes fans can catch up with all the latest information on

University of Miami athletics while talking with coaches and student-athletes on Hurricane Hotline, a weekly two-hour call-in radio show.

Hurricane Hotline, featuring head coach Larry Coker and other guests, will air every week from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. on 560 WQAM.

MEDIA POLICIES

Interviews

- All interviews should be scheduled at least 24 hours in advance through the Sports Media Relations Office (305/284-3244).
- The best time to interview Coach Larry Coker is after practice or during the weekly press conference held each Tuesday prior to games.
- Coach Coker will be available on Sundays following games at 11:00 a.m. in the Edgerrin James Team Meeting Room to review the previous day's game.
- The best time to interview players is on Monday from 11:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Players are also available either before or after practice on Tuesdays and Wednesdays and during Tuesday's press conference.
- Due to scheduling, post-practice interviews will be limited in number and time.
- Please call at least one day in advance for all phone interviews. The Sports Media Relations Office will not distribute home phone numbers for players or coaches. All phone interviews should be conducted during those times reserved for general media interview sessions.
- The Miami Sports Media Relations Office may conduct a tele-conference with selected players on occasional Wednesdays during certain game weeks.
- There are no player interviews on Friday or Saturday.
- The UM dormitories, lockerroom, weightroom and training room are off limits to the media at all times.

Press Conferences

Larry Coker's weekly press conference is held each Tuesday at 11:30 a.m. ET in the Edgerrin James Room at the Hecht Center. Out-of-town media can access audio of the press conference via www.hurricanesports.com by 4:00 p.m. ET Tuesday afternoon.

Practice

Working media may attend the first 30 and last 15 minutes of practice Tuesday through Thursday. All other practices are closed to the media. Media who plan to attend should first check in at the UM Sports Media Relations Office. Writers and photographers are limited to specific areas of the practice fields.

Credentials

Credentials for home games are for working media only. Accredited media should make their requests in writing on letterhead at least two weeks in advance to Mark Pray or Rick Korch at the UM Sports Media Relations Office. Requests from media covering UM opponents are confirmed with the visiting SID.

Parking

The city of Miami charges for parking at the Orange Bowl. Paid parking is limited but normally available to media who cover UM regularly and request passes well in advance. Media requesting season parking should contact the UM Sports Media Relations Office. Individual game parking is limited but can also be requested through the UM Sports Media Relations Office.

Telephones

A limited number of courtesy phones are available at the Orange Bowl. However, to insure your filing needs at evening games, it is recommended that media on deadline order phone lines by calling Bell South at 1-800-753-0115. The Orange Bowl's address is: 1501 N.W. 3rd Street, Miami, FL 33125. Media who order lines are reminded to bring a phone as Bell South only installs the lines. Orders must be placed at least 10 days prior to a game.

Orange Bowl Pressbox

The phone number has been changed. Please check with Miami SID Office for the new phone number.

Statistics/Services

Complete game statistics, play-by-play and post-game quotes will be available at all UM home games. Running play-by-play sheets and stats will be distributed throughout the game.

Media Releases Available Via E-Mail

Media members interested in receiving the Miami football releases via e-mail should send a request to Football SID Rick Korch at rkorch@miami.edu.

Photographers

NCAA rules limit shooting to outside the restraining line enclosing the playing field and outside the 25-yard line. In order to provide adequate working space for those shooting, there are two photo restraining lines surrounding the Orange Bowl playing field. The front line is for photographers and television camera operators actually shooting the contest.

Broadcasts

Those entities requiring live or taped radio or television broadcasts must notify and receive approval at least one week in advance from Mark Pray at 305/284-3231.

Video/Highlights

Requests for videotaped highlights for publicity purposes can be made through Mark Pray at the UM Sports Media Relations Office (305/284-3249). Accord Productions is available to provide interview footage and any special requests for out-of-town media. A search and edit fee may be charged for this service.

Press Policies

Only working press will be admitted to the Orange Bowl pressbox. The 100 seats will be issued according to the following criteria:

- State newspapers by circulation, wire services, national publications, newspapers from opponent's area, and student newspapers from UM and opponent's schools.
- Other daily newspapers, with preference to those that regularly cover UM.
- Radio and television personnel not broadcasting, but considered reporting.
- Non-daily newspapers, with preference to those which regularly cover UM.
- Scouts

Freelance and/or non-daily writers may be asked to produce copies of actual publications in which their work has appeared. In some cases, these materials will be required as verification of the writers' status.

ACC Teleconference

Each Wednesday during the 2006 football season, Larry Coker will be available to the media on the ACC Football teleconference call. Coker will be on the call for 10 minutes beginning at 11:20 a.m. every Wednesday from August 30 through November 22.

Road Game Credentials

Writers covering UM on a regular basis may make requests for road credentials with the UM Sports Media Relations Office. Credential requests are faxed to the opponent school by Monday two weeks prior to the contest.

Web Site

The latest information on the Hurricanes can be found on the UM Athletic Department web site: <http://www.hurricanesports.com>

Post-Game Interviews

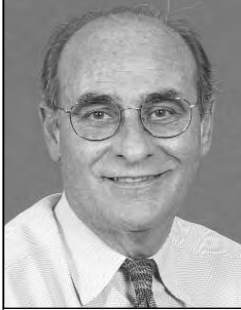

The athletic staff at the University of Miami is aware of the importance of media coverage and places great importance on the role of the media insofar as it interacts with their respective duties. To ensure the most workable situation for members of both entities, the following procedures must be observed.

- The University of Miami football program will observe the customary cooling-off period as granted by the NCAA. Following the game's conclusion and after the team has left the field, media members may assemble outside the lockerroom area. Upon conclusion of the cooling off period, a UM Sports Media Relations representative will guide media into the lockerroom.
- Miami head coach Larry Coker will be brought directly to the interview room upstairs from the UM lockerroom shortly after he talks to the team. The lockerroom will be open to media as soon as possible after Coach Coker departs for the interview room.
- Post-game quotes will be provided for Hurricanes home games.
- Post-game interviews are not allowed on the field.

Each visiting team will set its own post-game interview policy, which will be announced on the pressbox public address system during the fourth quarter. Check with the opposing team's sports information staff if you have further questions.

The Miami Athletic Department is not responsible for problems incurred by any member of the media not following the above procedures. Security personnel will facilitate only those following the proper guidelines. If you encounter a problem while following this procedure, please inform a member of the UM Sports Media Relations staff immediately.

MEDIA RELATIONS

Mark Pray
Assistant Athletic Director for Communications

Mark Pray is in his sixth year as Assistant Athletic Director for Communications at the University of Miami. Pray oversees the athletic department's sports media relations efforts, as well as serving as the primary liaison with the department's broadcast partners.

Pray came to Miami in 2001, after serving four years as Director of Media Relations for the WNBA (Women's National Basketball Association) and most recently as Director of Communications Projects for the NBA. In 1988, Pray was named as the first Director of Media Relations for the Miami Heat, a position he held until being promoted to Vice President for Communications in 1995. In his capacity as V.P. for Communications, Pray oversaw the Heat's media & community relations and broadcast departments. Pray received an undergraduate degree in journalism from Kansas State and a master's degree in sports administration from Ohio University.
